Credit Purchasing To Be Restricted

World War II Laws To Be Revived Ordering Increased Down Payments

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will have to shell out bigger down payments on instalment purchases of such items as passenger cars, refrigerators, electric stoves and other consumer goods as a result of government legislation to be introduced during the current session of Parliament.

Notice of the government's proposal to bring down legislation affecting the regulation of consumer credit was given today by Finance Minister Abbott on the Commons order paper.

A government source later disclosed the government does not intend to increase the down payment required on the construction of new homes or the purchase of new trucks or farm machinery.

The government's edict will mainly be directed at items which Canadians can obtain in department stores, but will include passenger cars. Main purpose of the regulations will be to fight inflationary trends in consumer prices.

The source said the consumer-credit control program will be similar to the one carried out during the Second World War, but will not be so tough on the purchaser's pocketbook. Details of the government's program still have ot be worked out.

During World War Two the government ordered that purchasers on the instalment plan provide a down payment of one-third. On purchases of less than $500, the time limit of payment was 12 months. On more than $500, it was 15 months.

200 'Peace' Group Members Visit Commons

OTTAWA (BUP) — More than 200 members of the Communist-dominated Canadian Peace Congress invaded Parliament today carrying demands that Canada end its participation in the Korean war.

The group marched to the buildings from a meeting in downtown Ottawa half an hour before the morning sitting of Parliament was to open.

Guards prevented them from swarming through the hallways of the Centre Block to speak to members of Parliament in their offices, but a few arranged interviews with members by telephone. Some members of the House of Commons went into the lobby to speak to the leaders of the marchers.

The group dispersed as the bell rang for the opening of the Commons sitting. Many of them went into the Parliamentary galleries, while others continued to seek out members to press their case.

The group was led by Rev. J. G. Endicott, D.D., China-born United Church minister who led a similar group to Parliament last May in an unsuccessful effort to have the Stockholm "peace" proposal endorsed by Parliament. Dr. Endicott and his followers planned to present a brief to members of Parliament and to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

It said:

"The policy of armed intervention in the affairs of other nations, especially in the colonial areas where there are now struggles for national liberation, will lead Canada slowly but surely into world war."

Young Victim Of Crash Still In Critical State

"A slight improvement, but condition still critical," was the Royal Jubilee Hospital report today on 15-year-old accident victim Dennis Irvine, Chemainus.

Dennis was one of seven injured and two killed in a head-on Island Highway crash about 200 yards west of Colwood Corners last Saturday evening. Condition of Roy Gallop, 3332 Aldridge Street, was reported slightly improved.

In good condition at the same hospital are Donna, David and Margaret Irvine, their father, Stuart Irvine, and Gordon S. Field, 1611 Fairfield Road.

Mrs. Stuart Irvine, with her husband and children in one car, was killed, as was Donald James Gordon, Parksville, who was with Gallop and Field in the other.

No Flood Reports

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said today in the Commons he knew of no reports having been filed by the International Joint Commission on the prevention of future floods in Manitoba.

11 Drown In India

GWALIOR, India (Reuter) — Eleven of 20 passengers were drowned when a truck plunged into a swollen river in Gwalior State, reports received here today said. Most of the victims were women and children.

New Taxes May Increase Federal Revenue By 20%

OTTAWA (BUP) — Finance Minister Abbott today dotted the I's of an emergency budget message in which he will tell Canadians at 8 p.m. E.D.T. (5 p.m. P.D.T.) how they will pay their share of the Korean war bill.

He was expected to boost federal income by about 20 per cent by levying higher taxes on luxury items and heavy consumer goods like automobiles.

Abbott needed about $400,000,000 to finance the whole of the special defence program now being debated by Parliament. The figure he will aim at may be less than that, however, since not all of the money being sought in defence appropriations will be spent this year.

Last March, he planned his 1950-51 budget to bring in $2,430,000,000 for a $20,000,000 surplus and a spending program of $2,410,000,000.

That spending program is now being increased by $447,000,000.

The minister lopped $250,000,000 off the tax roll early in the summer of 1949, before the last federal election, when he slashed personal income taxes by raising the exemption level for married and single taxpayers to $2,000 and $1,000.

He now has two courses open to him. He can try to collect the whole of the $400,000,000 needed, or seek only half of it immediately.

The government today was believed unwilling to reimpose the personal income taxes which were eased early last year. That would be the simplest method of finding the $200,000,000 immediately needed, or the bulk of the $400,000,000 required if the administration wants the whole amount required to foot the present bill. At the same time it would be the least pleasant from a political viewpoint.

The administration was expected to turn instead to the indirect field of luxury, sales, commodity and special taxes.

TATOO MARKS DID NO GOOD

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Garry A. Juljev, 20, with a record of five terms in state institutions, was jailed again Wednesday on theft charges.

$1,000 Reward If Missing Girl Of 2 Found

JASPER, Alta. (BUP)—A reward of $1,000 was offered today for information leading to the finding of little Lorraine Smith, missing in the dense woods of Jasper National Park for almost five days.

Hope was rapidly fading in the hunt for the two-year-old twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Smith of Edmonton, when the father's club, the Y's men's, offered the reward.

Search leaders, meanwhile, met and decided to widen the search area surrounding the Lake Edith Y.M.C.A. summer camp, where Lorraine vanished in the woods last Saturday night.

Officials said the main search area had been "covered and combed."

Doctors believe the youngster still has a chance of surviving, but say the time is rapidly running short.

Plane Crash Kills Newsmen

TOKYO (UP)—Eleven persons were killed today when a C-54 transport plane en route to Korea exploded and crashed shortly after taking off from a base in southern Japan. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced.

Among those killed were International News Service war correspondent Frank Emery and two I.N.S. photographers.

The plane had taken off from a base near here and made the intermediate landing in southern Japan before resuming the trip to Korea. The military air transport service plane was barely out of the traffic pattern when it exploded, crashed and burned.

White Bonnets

WINNIPEG (CP)—It will be white weddings for Winnipeg parking meters.

Traffic officers said today meters near downtown churches will be capped with white bonnets when a wedding is in progress.

CANVASSERS' BLITZKREIG

One-Night Campaign For Community Chest

Victoria, long the butt of jibes from the rest of the nation about being behind-the-times—a "cemetery with lights"— is out to show the nation how to stage a Community Chest campaign.

The chest committee, with its back to the wall, so to speak, following failures| to reach its objective in the past few years, has organized a one-night "blitzkreig" of householders in an effort to gather $181,000.

It will be the first time such a scheme has been attempted in Canada, and officials are enthusiastic not only over the expected effectiveness of the abbreviated drive, but also the nation-wide publicity which will accrue.

'STAY WHERE YOU LIVE . . .'

The plan is simple.

This year's slogan tells the story: "Stay Where You Live Until You Give."

That means householders will be asked to remain at home on the night of Monday, Oct. 2, and, when whistles, bells and sirens sound at 7 o'clock, turn on their porch lights as a signal to members of a huge army of canvassers to call for a contribution.

One brief call, that's all.

On-the-job canvassing of individuals is out. The door-step reply that "my husband has given at work" will be a thing of the past, for only businesses themselves will contribute prior to the evening campaign. They will receive letters warning of a visit of a canvasser, and, like the house-to-house set-up, will be called upon only once.

Canada Praised For U.N. Effort

LONDON (Reuter)—Time and Tide, an independent weekly, says today Canada seems to have accomplished what the United Nations long had dreamed of, but never achieved, in setting up a permanent United Nations special force of almost 10,000 men.

The journal says: "Good as it is, the Canadian response to the present emergency does not proportionately greatly outstrip the efforts of Australia and New Zealand.

"All three of these overseas nations of the Commonwealth are now making sacrifices in every way comparable to those of the United Kingdom."

Mayor Goes To War

Official Word On Downing Of Russian Plane

U.S. Acknowledged Action By Corsairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy acknowledged today that two of its fighter planes shot down the Russian bomber off Korea Monday.

This was the first official word that American planes knocked off the twin-engined Soviet craft when, the U.S. charges, it attempted to attack United Nations naval forces.

At the time the incident was first reported the State Department said the bomber "opened fire upon a U.N. fighter patrol, which returned its fire and shot it down."

He said the navy had no information that would support the Moscow claim that two other Russian planes were in the vicinity or that 11 U.S. fighters took part in the brief fight. Moscow also contended the destroyed bomber was on a training flight and was unarmed.

Kaiser-Frazer Gives Workers 12-Cent Boost

DETROIT (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corporation and the United Automobile Workers' Union signed an agreement Wednesday night giving some 16,000 production workers an increase of 12 cents an hour.

Eight cents of that was a cost-of-living wage boost. The other four cents represented an improvement factor increase, due June 1, 1951, but to be paid immediately.

The improvement factor, written into the Kaiser-Frazer-U.A.W. contract along with a cost-of-living escalator clause, also provides four-cent hourly boosts on June 1 of 1952, 1953 and 1954.

In addition the new agreement provided an extra five cents an hour for skilled workers and upped vacation pay and night premium pay.

The adjustable cost-of-living feature was identical to the General Motors and Ford agreements.

The increases in the agreement are contingent upon ratification by the union members of a pension contract signed by the company and the U.A.W. less than a month ago. If that contract is ratified, the new terms will be written in.

Kaiser-Frazer was the sixth major auto company to fall into line with a higher wage level.

Russian Tank Force Virtually Wiped Out

TOKYO (AP)—Fresh Communist attacks north of Taegu were rolled back by United Nations troops today. The western forces were braced for a major Communist blow at the important base city in the centre of the front.

Most of the 84 Russian-made tanks the North Koreans threw into battle Wednesday were destroyed or damaged.

Allied aircraft were credited with destroying 19 enemy tanks and damaging 22 more in a record 625 sorties. Seventeen others had been knocked out Wednesday.

Two Red thrusts against Taegu were stopped. One lunge was halted seven miles north of the rail and supply centre along the Kumhwa highway by United States troops. The other was forced back east of Yongchon, road junction 20 miles east of Taegu.

In the southwest, an attack on the approach to Pusan, prime Allied harbor in the southeast, was beaten back.

Advances were made by American troops toward the Naktong River in their central front offensive west of Yongsan, 32 miles south of Taegu.

The tense challenge of the last two days, when the Reds poured through the broken Allied east wall, was eased at least momentarily.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said the Allies were holding firm on all fronts.

Red casualties were estimated to have reached 20,000 men killed and wounded during the last week's ground fighting. This was out of a total of 150,000 Reds who took part in the all-out drive.

Pohang, the blasted and burned second most important east coast port, remained in Communist hands. But the Allied airfield, six miles southeast of the city, was under American control.

At dawn Thursday the North Korean southwestern force hopped off in an attack on the U.S. 25th Division west of Masan, port city 27 miles west of Pusan on the south coast.

Heaviest Bombardment Yet

The attack was preceded by an intense artillery bombardment, the most severe the oft-tried American division has undergone.

Stan Swinton, Associated Press correspondent at the front, said one slight penetration was made but the American lines generally held fast.

U.S. troops, pushing westward of Yongsan, won Hogback Ridge and its commanding flat ground leading to the Naktong River after bitter hand-to-hand fighting.

British infantrymen of the 27th Brigade fought off probing attacks and infiltrators farther north along the Naktong in their second day of combat.

AP correspondent Ben Price reported from the front that South Korean forces were driving eastward of Yongchon, the traffic centre near Taegu that Red guerrillas held briefly Wednesday.

The road junction was the goal of Red forces plunging through a gap in the lines south of Kigye, near the east coast. American and South Korean troops halted the most serious Taegu threat in that action.

One of MacArthur's intelligence officers said a captured North Korean lieutenant reported a full division was thrown into this thrust when it was learned Yongchon was defended lightly.

The prisoner said the North Korean 15th Division first was ordered to roll down the Kumhwa highway against Taegu. Then, the prisoner said, it was diverted to the end run from the east and ordered to cut through Yongchon.

208 Alien Communists Netted By French Police

PARIS (Reuter and BUP)—Counter-espionage agents in widespread secret raids today detained 208 alien Communists in what the interior ministry described as an effort to "destroy the fifth columns."

Main operations were carried out, and were believed still going on, in Paris, Lyons, Lille, Strasbourg, Mulhouse, Toulouse and Marseille.

About 100 were arrested in the Paris region alone.

Most of the people arrested were veterans of the Spanish Republican Army.

Altogether 300 Communists were expected to be detained and expelled from the country in the biggest anti-Communist drive in France since 1939.

Going into action at dawn, 150 counter-espionage agents swept through the refugee districts of Paris and three hours later returned with the first arrests.

Among them were Yugoslavs, Poles, Czechs and Romanians.

Interior ministry reports said the counter-espionage raiders found radio transmitters and propaganda material.

The operation follows the discovery three months ago of an arms dump in southeastern France and mysterious murders of Spanish refugees in the Toulouse area.

In Paris, police cars and trucks swept through working class districts and suburbs routing out sleeping Communists and carting them off to headquarters for questioning.

In the mining areas of northern France, where 30 were arrested, police went down into several coal pits to pick up Polish miners known to be Communists. Officials said they had been under observation for months.

In the Aude department, near the Spanish frontier, about 30 former Spanish guerrillas were arrested.

WOULD SEIZE 12,000 REDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was reported to have told Senators today his agents are ready to arrest 12,000 dangerous Communists in the United States if war should break out with Russia.

Nanaimo Ship Service Cut

B.C. Coast Steamship Service between Nanaimo and Vancouver has been cut in half now the heavy summer tourist traffic has ended.

Instead of six daily sailings between the two ports, there now will be only three. The change was effective Wednesday and will hold until Sept. 23.

Three ships will operate on the run: The Princess Elaine, the Princess Marguerite and the Princess Patricia.

The Marguerite or Patricia will leave Nanaimo at 7.30 a.m. each day, while the Elaine will sail from that centre at 2.30 p.m. and 9.15 p.m.

The Elaine will leave Vancouver each day at 11.00 a.m. and 6.00 p.m., with the Marguerite or Patricia leaving at 8.15 p.m.

Allies Digging In Nearer To Taegu

Whole 50-Mile Northern Front Breaks Out Into Fierce Action

TOKYO (UP)—U.S. and South Korean defenders, squeezed into an area about half the size of Connecticut, set up new lines only seven miles from Taegu today (Friday) in the face of the greatest sustained Communist drive of the war.

Taegu was within range of enemy artillery fire from both west and north.

British United Press correspondent Robert Bennyhoff reported from Kyongju, 17 miles below fallen Pohang, that the Reds had launched a heavy attack shortly before midnight seven to eight miles north of Kyongju.

Bennyhoff reported intense small arms fire and fighting across the rice paddies and rugged mountains which line both sides of a dry river bed three miles south of Angang. It is at that point on the western end of the northern front that the Americans and South Koreans have set up their new defence lines.

The defenders had been anticipating the new Red drive down the valley as soon as they could regroup after last week-end's successful attack which threw the South Korean capital division out of Kigye and Angang.

Elsewhere on the northern front, the South Korean 6th Division threw back an attack on its right sector, west of Yongchon. Delayed front reports said the attack cost the Reds 1,000 men in dead or wounded.

YONGCHON HELD

The South Korean 8th Division was attacking to the east northeast against the North Korea 15th Division from a point four miles north of Yongchon. Yongchon, about midway between Taegu and Pohang on the Taegu-Pohang highway, still was in allied hands. The enemy took it once but lost it.

American B-26's struck at an enemy tank concentration at dusk Wednesday, just west of Uihung, 20 miles north of Taegu. The air force said that of 21 tanks sighted in the area, three were knockout and many damaged.

In the last two days, U.S. fighters and bombs have claimed 61 Communist tanks destroyed or damaged.

The U.S. 24th Division and South Korean forces chipped away at the Communist positions in the northeast front. An 8th Army communique said they 'continued their fight to re-establish a firm defensive line west of Pohang." But the advance was "slow and difficult against a heavily - resisting enemy" it added.

NEW PATTON TANKS

Led by new 46-ton Patton tanks, the Yanks reported overall gains up to five miles north of Kyongju, the strategic transport centre blocking a wide valley leading straight down to Pusan.

The South Korean Capital Division attacked in the valley southwest of Pohang and regained some high ground it lost to a pre-dawn Communist attack.

The 8th Army reported that on the Taegu front, where the Communists pressed a battle arc within 10 miles both north and southwest, the 1st U.S. Cavalry Division beat off two attacks four miles northwest of Waegan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu.

At the southern end of the Korean line, the U.S. 25th Division wiped out a wedge the Communists had driven into its front line during strong probing thrusts all along that front. Field dispatches reported the penetration and the 8th Army said the G.I.'s counter-attacked after being driven back and reclaimed their positions.

U.N. Forces Soon Will Gain, Says Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman expressed belief today United Nations forces in Korea will make up for temporary setbacks before the week is over.

He told a press conference there had been no material change in the main front line in Korea.

A reporter, mindful of reports of setbacks at the front, asked him "since when." Since the last 10 days, Mr. Truman replied.

Another reporter commented that a lot of people seem to think ground is being lost by U.N. troops under heavy attacks by North Korean forces.

Mr. Truman said the U.N. troops were being pushed back at certain points, that certain points had crashed.

But, he said, the North Koreans are being thrust back toward their former lines and he felt this object would be accomplished before the week is ended.

He said he based his optimism on his daily briefings by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and was not attempting to pose as an armchair strategist.

400 Europeans Come To Help Harvest Crops

GENEVA (AP)—Four hundred refugees were on the Atlantic today, heading for new homes in Canada, because of the urgent need for harvest hands in the Dominion.

The Canadian government advised the International Refugee Organization Aug. 4, that if 400 farm laborers could be sent to Canada by Sept. 15, they would be accepted for immigration. Selection teams from Canada started examining candidates one week later.

The Canadian government has agreed to accept the dependents of the farm hands chosen and approximately 600 women and children will be following the immigrants in other ships.

BUDGET TO BE PUBLISHED IN TIMES EXTRA

Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, will introduce his "baby" budget in the House of Commons this evening.

In order that Victorians may know how the taxation changes will affect their daily life, the Victoria Daily Times will publish an extra edition. It will give all details of the budget.

The extra will be on the streets shortly after 6.

F.B.I. Ready To Round Up 12,000 Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was reported to have told Senators today his agents are ready to arrest 12,000 dangerous Communists in the United States if war should break out with Russia.

A member of the Senate appropriations committee, asking not to be named, quoted Hoover as telling the group in a closed session that he needs more funds for additional agents to keep a close check on these persons.

He said Hoover wants his agents to be able "to put these people to bed at night and get them up in the morning" in watching their activities.

President Truman asked Congress last week for $6,000,000 to finance increased F.B.I. activity due to "the changed international situation."

NEED MORE MEN

The F.B.I. told reporters then the money was needed to permit hiring of 835 new agents and 1,218 new clerical workers.

The Senate committee called Hoover before it to learn just what he proposed to do with the money.

Hoover was reported to have told the committee a special problem is posed by the fact that half of the 12,000 dangerous Communists are U.S. citizens, many of them native-born.

He was quoted as saying it would be up to the justice department to decide whether these persons could be arrested immediately, as well as the aliens.

Senators said the 12,000 have been listed by the F.B.I. as the most potentially "dangerous"—from a national security standpoint—of more than 50,000 known Communists on which the F.B.I. has been keeping tabs.

Truman Blocks Loan To Spain

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman has blocked a $62,500,000 loan to Spain and lectured Congress on handing its budget-cutting job to him.

The loan and the budget cut were parts of a $36,153,600,425 general appropriation bill Mr. Truman signed Wednesday. The funds are the first instalment on federal spending for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Another $16,771,000,000 emergency defence bill is pending.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT?

Walkie-Talkies, Dogs Fail To Find Little Girl

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — With faint hope pinned on the statement of doctors that a child could survive in the open for five nights, searchers today broadened their search of the Jasper Park woods for a missing two-year-old girl.

She is Lorraine Smith of Edmonton, who vanished from a lakeside holiday camp last Saturday afternoon. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eric Smith.

Immediate vicinity of the lake has been criss-crossed by searchers several times without revealing a clue to the whereabouts of the two-year-old. A bear was shot when suspected of killing the child, but analysis of the carcass gave no indication that was the case.

At a meeting of search officials Wednesday night, plans were made to widen the search area after doctors said the child could still be alive although there have been two sharp frosts and a rain storm since her disappearance.

A belief continued among some searchers that the child may not be in the area. Police are investigating the possibilities of abduction or an accidental death where persons responsible may have removed the body.

Police issued a complete description of the child and a new picture to help identify her if she has been taken away.

Walkie-talkie radios, police dogs, small planes, a helicopter and about 1,000 persons, including many golfers here for the annual Totem Pole Tournament have taken part in the search.

The helicopter flew low over all lakes in the area and officials said they are convinced the child did not drown. The lake water is crystal clear and a body would easily be seen.

Taking Totem Pole To Newfoundland

Soft-Voiced Miss B.C. In Victoria To See Premier Before Long Tour

By DAVID STOCK

Miss B.C. is the original Miss Hush. She talks in a whisper, that is.

Whether the soft, breathless way she speaks is natural or just the result of all the excitement that goes with being picked queen of the P.N.E. is something even Delle Calhoun, the girl herself, isn't quite sure of.

But she's not worrying about that. There are too many more important things to think about.

Delle, a poised and decidedly pretty young lady, just turned 17, was in Victoria today to start a cross-country air tour, major prize in the P.N.E. contest.

Miss Calhoun and her two chaperones arrived at 11, called on Premier Byron Johnson, visited Government House, had lunch with Victoria Soroptimists at the Empress, and then embarked for Edmonton at 3.15.

At the Parliament Buildings, Premier Johnson presented the beauty queen with a replica of a Haida totem pole to present to Premier Joseph Smallwood when she gets to Newfoundland.

Miss Calhoun gladly consented to having her picture taken with the Premier and the totem pole but when it was suggested she pose, straightening the Premier's tie, she said no.

"It's an original idea," she conceded in her quietest tone. "But I don't think that would be very nice."

"No, no, none of that," he said, wagging his finger at the photographer.

Delle's tour will take till the end of the month. Then it's back home to Burnaby and her final year at Crofton House School.

Bermudians Alerted As Storm Moves

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The resort island of Bermuda today was given an alert for a great storm moving up the Atlantic while northeast Florida and southeast Georgia felt the last gasps of a Gulf hurricane.

The storm, inching in the general direction of Bermuda, had winds up to 150 miles an hour near the centre and hurricane force winds (75 miles an hour or more) extended outward 100 miles in all directions.

It was due to pass west of the island resort, but gales were forecast there and the weather bureau said a slight change in direction would bring much higher winds.

The hurricane was moving northward at about six miles an hour, which would bring the centre opposite Bermuda tonight.

Breweries' Profits

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Breweries Ltd. today reported sales of $28,329,887 and net profits of $1,706,802, equal to 77 cents a share, for the three months ended July 31. For the corresponding 1949 period sales totaled $27,138,295 and net income was $2,118,406, or 96 cents a share.

On-the-job canvassing of individuals is out. The door-step reply that "my husband has given at work" will be a thing of the past, for only businesses themselves will contribute prior to the evening campaign. They will receive letters warning of a visit of a canvasser, and, like the house-to-house set-up, will be called upon only once.

Commons Bill Calls For Purchasers To Dig

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will have to shell out bigger down payments on instalment purchases of such items as passenger cars, refrigerators, electric stoves and other consumer goods as a result of government legislation to be introduced during the current session of Parliament.

Notice of the government's proposal to bring down legislation affecting the regulation of consumer credit was given today by Finance Minister Abbott on the Commons order paper.

A government source later disclosed the government does not intend to increase the down payment required on the construction of new homes or the purchase of new trucks or farm machinery.

The government's edict will mainly be directed at items which Canadians can obtain in department stores, but will include passenger cars. Main purpose of the regulations will be to fight inflationary trends in consumer prices.

NOT SO WIDE

The source said the consumer-credit control program will be similar to the one carried out during the Second World War, but will not be so tough on the purchaser's pocketbook. Details of the government's program still have ot be worked out.

During World War Two the government ordered that purchasers on the instalment plan provide a down payment of one-third. On purchases of less than $500, the time limit of payment was 12 months. On more than $500, it was 15 months.

Revenue Boost Of 20% Wanted, Ottawa Rumor

OTTAWA (BUP) — Finance Minister Abbott today dotted the i's of an emergency budget message in which he will tell Canadians at 8 p.m. E.D.T. (5 p.m. P.D.T.) how they will pay their share of the Korean war bill.

He was expected to boost federal income by about 20 per cent by levying higher taxes on luxury items and heavy consumer goods like automobiles.

Abbott needed about $400,000,000 to finance the whole of the special defence program now being debated by Parliament. The figure he will aim at may be less than that, however, since not all of the money being sought in defence appropriations will be spent this year.

Last March, he planned his 1950-51 budget to bring in $2,430,000,000 for a $20,000,000 surplus and a spending program of $2,410,000,000.

That spending program is now being increased by $447,000,000.

The minister lopped $250,000,000 off the tax roll early in the summer of 1949, before the last federal election, when he slashed personal income taxes by raising the exemption level for married and single taxpayers to $2,000 and $1,000.

He now has two courses open to him. He can try to collect the whole of the $400,000,000 needed, or seek only half of it immediately.

The government today was believed unwilling to reimpose the personal income taxes which were eased early last year. That would be the simplest method of finding the $200,000,000 immediately needed, or the bulk of the $400,000,000 required if the administration wants the whole amount required to foot the present bill. At the same time it would be the least pleasant from a political viewpoint.

The administration was expected to turn instead to the indirect field of luxury, sales, commodity and special taxes.

No Commons Secret Sitting

Liberals voted almost solidly against the secret session, with the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties joining with the Progressive Conservatives.

The vote developed on the statement made by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. This is statement, "I spy strangers," the traditional form of demanding the galleries be celared of spectators.

Income Tax Staff To Be Cut By 2,500

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's income tax division has caught up with its backlog of work and between 2,500 and 3,000 employees will be released by next spring, the Civil Service Commission announced today. About 1,600 have been released within the last year.

About one-third of them are expected to be absorbed by other government departments. No provision has been made for the others.

The reductions in staff will take place across the country, with Toronto and Montreal getting the biggest cuts—about 500 in each city. Almost 200 in Ottawa already have received notice.

Many will be taken into the defence department and related agencies, gradually expanding to meet new defence commitments.

The layoffs are due to the disappearance of work backlogs and to the introduction of new methods which permit more efficient handling of day-to-day work.

In reappointing discharged employers, veterans and efficient long-term employees will receive preference for vacancies over others.

Hint St. Laurent May Visit India

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson disclosed in the Commons today that Prime Minister St. Laurent is "interested" in the idea of returning the visit to Canada of Prime Minister Nehru of India.

GREENWOOD PUPILS ON STRIKE, DEMAND NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

GREENWOOD, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred pupils today struck for the second day here, protesting what they described as "deplorable" conditions in the two schools they attend.

While the boys and girls picketed, roamed the streets in jalopies and placed protest notices around town, their parents met with school board officials to seek a promise of a second money by-law financing a seven-room school. Such a by-law was defeated earlier by the rural vote in the school district.

Strikers have threatened that until satisfactory arrangements have been made, classrooms will remain empty.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

BRAINS AND WAR

IF LIKE ME, you happen to have been born 30 years too soon, you will share my growing disquietude at the increasing number of gadgets being invented to replace humans and human functions. Scarcely a day passes that word doesn't come of some new scientific robot designed to do things that it used to take man to do.

Latest addition to the list is the new mechanical brain just unveiled at the National Bureau of Standards Institute for Numerical Analysis at the University of California. What this product of that awe-sounding outfit does reads like a modern version of Jules Verne plus the Arabian Nights, plus the sort of nightmare one might expect after eating Russian crab and Limberger cheese by a full moon.

ROBOT GENIUS

ACCORDING to the creators, this new robot genius is an electronic calculator capable, among other things, of simultaneously solving 150 algebraic equations, involving 4,000,000 arithmetic operations, in four hours of computing time.

As the fastest calculator of its type in the world—so say the inventors—the machine can perform 2,604 multiplications or 16,625 additions in the time it takes a human to say "multiplication." And as one who, in the long-ago days when I went to school was allergic to both algebra and arithmetic—and still is—let me add that is a heck of a lot of arithmetic!

GREATER EFFECT

IT IS ALSO claimed that had this machine been perfected during World War Two, artillery rockets could have been used with greater effect—presumably on the enemy. Incidentally, the machine could then have done in a month the compiling of rocket-firing tables which took hundreds of girls a year and a half to work out—which wouldn't have been so good for the girls, either.

The claim is also made that no Einstein could compete with the campus robot in solving equations relating to the explosive powers of atomic bombs, and computing the trajectories of guided missiles. It will also be able to solve innumerable mathematical problems involved in the designing of new airplanes and ships and their predicted performance.

CAN TRANSLATE, TOO

AS IF THOSE wonders weren't enough, the mechanical brain can translate a foreign language into English and vice versa—roughly, it is admitted, and not much better than a school boy could do in a language exam with the aid of a 'pony'.

With all those accomplishments to its credit, S.W.A.C., as the machine is known—an abbreviation of National Bureau of Standards Western Automatic Computer—still hasn't been able to invent something which would shorten tongue-teasing titles by some other method than just reducing them to initials.

WHAT ABOUT PREVENTION

WHAT'S MORE, to my perhaps jaundiced eyes, it is but another addition to the scientific gadgets which mean not only the cutting down of human effort in the sense of work-hours but in an even worse sense—for it is designed to make war weapons and methods more deadly effective than ever, and to pile horror upon horror for those on the receiving end.

Probably because I am brainless, I can't understand why somebody doesn't devote as much time, money and research as has gone into the development of SWAC and other war machines to the development of a robot which would have brains enough to work out an infallible method of preventing war? For, to date, the human brain seems to have failed lamentably to measure up to the task. And, if many more mechanical brains are invented, the human kind will become so atrophied from disuse that soon more people than ever will be born without brains at all.

Construction Brisk At Cowichan As Stores, Offices, Homes Go Up

LAKE COWICHAN — A brisk pace of new construction is evident in the village of Lake Cowichan with work well under way on many buildings and preparation for further proposed construction started.

In the South Shore Road area, Fred Reed is constructing a building that will house two stores and a billiard hall and barber shop. Harry McKinley is continuing work on another business building and the Lake Cowichan Consumers' Co-operative Society has almost completed construction of their store on the South Shore Road.

Residential construction is also on the increase with new homes scattered throughout the village.

H. E. Smith is making progress on his building in the area for a confectionery and billiards business.

Work has resumed on the theatre on the North Shore Road at Lake Cowichan, and it is expected that first movies will be presented there this fall.

Biggest construction job here at present is the six-room addition to Lake Cowichan High School. This will allow for additional class room space, locker space and science facilities.

The British-America Oil Co. has started clearing operations at the site of their proposed oil storage station, and the forestry department will start soon on their proposed building on Cowichan Lake Road.

Rev. J. H. Maunsell of the Cowichan Anglican Mission reports that first Sunday School classes may be held in the new Anglican Church on Cowichan Avenue this month.

Construction is expected to start this fall or early spring on still another business building on the South Shore Road.

It is expected that next spring two new bridges will cross the Cowichan River in the downtown area—a foot bridge, and a highway bridge replacing the present wooden span.

Village Commissioners W. F. Grosskleg, Walter Tiesu and Ernie Towle decided recently that a new section of sidewalk will be laid in the South Shore business area. Surveys have been completed for a 60-volt transmission line from Duncan to Cowichan Lake by the B.C. Power Commission.

Subtle Psychology Justified To Aid Less Fortunate Of Victoria

Is subtle "blackmail" justified when it means 17 organizations engaged in welfare work will benefit from it, and, in turn, pass on this benefit to the less fortunate in Greater Victoria?

Community Chest officials think it is. They have tossed in a bit of practical psychology for this year's campaign:

At 7 in the evening on Oct. 2, householders will turn on their porch lights as a signal for a canvasser to call for a contribution. And doubtless those inhabiting houses which are conspicuous by their darkness will hasten to get their lights on, too.

At a meeting attended by 50 businessmen at the Beach Drive home of Russell Horton Wednesday, representatives of all local service clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, radio stations, newspapers and every means of advertising pledged whole-hearted backing of the unique scheme.

The "Lights On" campaign will do away with the former month-long efforts to raise money. The comparatively uninteresting reports of how much of the objective still remains to be collected will disappear, as will the task of canvassing workers on the job, which has been a bugbear among employers.

Billboard, newspaper and radio advertising, store-cards, auto-bumper cards and post office cancellations will tell Victorians to "Stay Where You Live Until You Give."

"There is no one in Victoria who cannot spare three hours in one evening to put this drive over. It will be almost the only thing going on in the city on Oct. 2. We're not talking about 'trying' to reach our $181,000 objective this year. We are eliminating the word 'try' and are speaking only of 'when' we do it," said Art Roberts, co-chairman of the campaign with John MacCormac.

Russia Avoiding Break Over Plane

U.S. Sees Downing Of Craft Not Removed From Field Of Parleys

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's handling of the Korean plane incident is regarded by diplomats here as evidence the Soviet Union still wants to confine its conflict with the United States to diplomatic clashes.

That is the aim, too, of the U.S. government in its relations with the Soviet-Communist bloc. In addition, the United States has displayed in the present incident a determination not to deal directly with Moscow on a matter which it contends involves the United Nations.

The point with respect to Russian policy is important because American authorities are convinced incidents of this kind will occur again, as they have occurred in the past.

Two U.S. aircraft were shot down by Yugoslavs in 1946 when that country was still firmly tied to Russia. A U.S. naval plan was destroyed over the Baltic Sea last April, allegedly by Soviet fighters. Only last month Red China charged that American aircraft had strafed an airstrip in Manchuria, and the United States conceded in the U.N. that was "a possibility."

Informed officials say incidents of this kind are frequently the result of the fact that planes do not follow the same rules of control as other means of travel or attack in war. Boundary lines are more often than not obscure from the air. One ship may look much like another. Commanders may feel that an aircraft can fly an intelligence mission over alien territory and get back without being detected or caught.

Even when the causes of the affair are initially innocent, an incident is quickly caught up in the atmosphere of hatred and suspicion which now dominates relations between the Communist countries and the rest of the world.

The usual reaction of governments in such cases is to rely upon diplomacy to handle complaints and protests until they are ready for a showdown.

Official Word On Downing Of Russian Plane

U.S. Acknowledged Action By Corsairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy acknowledged today that two of its fighter planes shot down the Russian bomber off Korea Monday.

This was the first official word that American planes knocked off the twin-engined Soviet craft when, the U.S. charges, it attempted to attack United Nations naval forces.

At the time the incident was first reported the State Department said the bomber "opened fire upon a U.N. fighter patrol, which returned its fire and shot it down."

He said the navy had no information that would support the Moscow claim that two other Russian planes were in the vicinity or that 11 U.S. fighters took part in the brief fight. Moscow also contended the destroyed bomber was on a training flight and was unarmed.

Briish Columbia was first known as New Caledonia.

By number on map: (1) Pohang still in enemy hands but important airstrip, six miles southeast, still under U.S. control. (2) Taegu defenders, reported to have rolled back new Communist thrusts north of city, await new drives by troop and tank concentrations. Most of 84 Russian-made tanks thrown into battle Wednesday reported out of action. (3) Yongsang area saw bitter hand-to-hand fighting as U.S. troops won back ridge overlooking flat ground to Naktong River. (4) Pusan's approaches were held safe when Allied defenders beat back an attack near Masan.

208 Alien Communists Netted By French Police

PARIS (Reuter and BUP)—Counter-espionage agents in widespread secret raids today detained 208 alien Communists in what the interior ministry described as an effort to "destroy the fifth columns."

Main operations were carried out, and were believed still going on, in Paris, Lyons, Lille, Strasbourg, Mulhouse, Toulouse and Marseille.

About 100 were arrested in the Paris region alone.

Most of the people arrested were veterans of the Spanish Republican Army.

Altogether 300 Communists were expected to be detained and expelled from the country in the biggest anti-Communist drive in France since 1939.

Going into action at dawn, 150 counter-espionage agents swept through the refugee districts of Paris and three hours later returned with the first arrests.

Among them were Yugoslavs, Poles, Czechs and Romanians.

Interior ministry reports said the counter-espionage raiders found radio transmitters and propaganda material.

The operation follows the discovery three months ago of an arms dump in southeastern France and mysterious murders of Spanish refugees in the Toulouse area.

In Paris, police cars and trucks swept through working class districts and suburbs routing out sleeping Communists and carting them off to headquarters for questioning.

In the mining areas of northern France, where 30 were arrested, police went down into several coal pits to pick up Polish miners known to be Communists. Officials said they had been under observation for months.

In the Aude department, near the Spanish frontier, about 30 former Spanish guerrillas were arrested.

200 'Peace' Group Members Visit Commons

OTTAWA (BUP) — More than 200 members of the Communist-dominated Canadian Peace Congress invaded Parliament today carrying demands that Canada end its participation in the Korean war.

The group marched to the buildings from a meeting in downtown Ottawa half an hour before the morning sitting of Parliament was to open.

Guards prevented them from swarming through the hallways of the Centre Block to speak to members of Parliament in their offices, but a few arranged interviews with members by telephone. Some members of the House of Commons went into the lobby to speak to the leaders of the marchers.

The group dispersed as the bell rang for the opening of the Commons sitting. Many of them went into the Parliamentary galleries, while others continued to seek out members to press their case.

The group was led by Rev. J. G. Endicott, D.D., China-born United Church minister who led a similar group to Parliament last May in an unsuccessful effort to have the Stockholm "peace" proposal endorsed by Parliament. Dr. Endicott and his followers planned to present a brief to members of Parliament and to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

It said:

"The policy of armed intervention in the affairs of other nations, especially in the colonial areas where there are now struggles for national liberation, will lead Canada slowly but surely into world war."

Plane Crash Kills Newsmen

TOKYO (UP)—Eleven persons were killed today when a C-54 transport plane en route to Korea exploded and crashed shortly after taking off from a base in southern Japan, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced.

Among those killed were International News Service war correspondent Frank Emery and two I.N.S. photographers.

The plane had taken off from a base near here and made the intermediate landing in southern Japan before resuming the trip to Korea. The military air transport service plane was barely out of the traffic pattern when it exploded, crashed and burned.

NO 'STAY-AT-HOMES'

Airborne Force To Be Ready For Any Field

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's regular army is no "stay-at-home" army, Defence Minister Claxton told the Commons during continued study of the government's king-sized $850,000,000 defence appropriation legislation.

For example, he said, Canada's regular airborne brigade would be available for dispatching abroad "at once" if, at some future time there was no immediate threat of attack on Canada herself.

Replying to George Hees (P.C.-Toronto-Broadview), he said it would take at least six months to train men and get them in the field as a fighting formation. He had no doubt his staff officers had worked out plans for an emergency.

Kaiser-Frazer Workmen Get 12-Cent Hour Boost

DETROIT (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corporation and the United Automobile Workers' Union signed an agreement Wednesday night giving some 16,000 production workers an increase of 12 cents an hour.

Eight cents of that was a cost-of-living wage boost. The other four cents represented an improvement factor increase, due June 1, 1951, but to be paid immediately.

The improvement factor, written into the Kaiser-Frazer-U.A.W. contract along with a cost-of-living escalator clause, also provides four-cent hourly boosts on June 1 of 1952, 1953 and 1954.

In addition the new agreement provides an extra five cents an hour for skilled workers and increases vacation pay and night premium pay.

Three ships will operate on the run: The Princess Elaine, the Princess Marguerite and the Princess Patricia.

The Marguerite or Patricia will leave Nanaimo at 7.30 a.m. each day, while the Elaine will sail from that centre at 2.30 p.m. and 9.15 p.m.

Make It An Overnight Success

VICTORIA'S COMMUNITY CHEST ORganization has a novel idea for the collection of this year's quota of $181,000.00. This is to be a house-to-house canvass on one night—the night of Monday, Oct. 2. Householders are asked to keep their porch lights burning that night. This will indicate that they have made up their minds what they are going to give and are ready to give it to the volunteer canvasser who calls. It will be understood, of course, that the sum collected from householders will amount to only a part of the sum set for the final total. The rest of it will be gathered in from business and industrial houses and professional people—and all who have Victoria's interests at heart.

For many years the Community Chest's campaign has been a long-drawn-out affair. It has meant a lot of repetition of old arguments, through the newspapers and over the air. These arguments, boiled down to a few words, emphasize the fundamental fact that hundreds of needy cases cannot be dealt with by governments. No legislation ever has been devised that could meet specific needs in an emergency. It is for this and many other reasons that the Community Chest organization has set itself an objective to reach—or pass—in the shortest possible time. We are sure Victorians will respond liberally to this worthy cause and "stay where they live until they give."

They Work For Our Safety

THE CONVENTION OF FIRE CHIEFS now in session in this city will serve to remind us that this is a profession that has made vast strides within the last generation or two. No longer do firefighters merely wait for fires to break out and then strive to put them out according to plans made on the spur of the moment. The average citizen would be surprised to know the amount of thought and planning that goes on continually in an effort to make every community safer in the event of a conflagration. Information on routes to hotels, theatres and other buildings likely to contain large numbers of persons, access to fire hydrants and other facilities, location of basement and roof entrances, and a host of similar facts are the working tools of an efficient department.

But of equal, if not greater, importance is the modern emphasis on prevention of fires. Great strides have been made in this phase of public safety. Inspections are carried out, dangerous situations are corrected, information and advice are dispensed, the battle is carried to schools and other gatherings where it will do the most good. Every good fireman is first a preventer of fires, second a firefighter. But, ironically enough, those who stand to gain most in safety of life and property from the efforts of the fire preventers often prove to be the weakest section of the defence. Carelessness with matches, with inflammable materials, with wiring, chimneys, storage spaces or other household arrangements, provides the most frequent and obvious cause of fire. That is a situation which only the public itself can correct. Otherwise fire preventers must become fire fighters—a much more dangerous and expensive business for all concerned.

Youth Must Prepare Itself

GREATER VICTORIA'S YOUNG PROgressive Conservative Association seems to have had a hectic time at a meeting it held at Prince Robert House on Tuesday evening. Some of the members of the organization had made up their minds that Minister of Finance Herbert Anscomb in British Columbia's Coalition government should resign, not only as leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in this province, but also as a minister of the Crown, because of his holdings in companies producing beer and wine. This is a matter, of course, for Mr. Anscomb to decide for himself.

Our interest in the proceedings of the meeting to which we refer, however, resides solely in our desire to suggest to the young men who took part in the discussion that they keep up their interest in public affairs. This newspaper does not subscribe to the political philosophy of Conservatism. This is a young country. Conservatism, as we understand the term, does not suggest progressivism. If the great Dominion of Canada is to go forward and develop her natural resources, the men and women in charge of our business affairs at Ottawa must initiate and support those measures calculated to give to the rising generation opportunities that will enable them to earn a decent living, and encourage them to establish a home life on a sound and a happy basis.

The foregoing constitutes the foundation of our injunction to the young men and young women of Canada to engage at all times in public debate. It is up to them to acquaint themselves with the potentialities of the land in which they are fortunate to live, and to profit by their study of the lives and works of those valiant men and women who gave everything they had and were so that the nation—now the senior overseas Dominion of the British Commonwealth—could wield an impressive influence on the progress of the world in general.

With Flying Colors

NOW THAT THE RAIL STRIKE IS ended, officials of T.C.A. have been able to take a moment for an appraisal of airline performance during the crisis of August 22-30.

Their figures are impressive. While the railways were idle, T.C.A. carried almost 32,000 passengers on domestic lines, 700,000 pounds of air cargo and some 8,000,000 letters. First-class mail was kept moving between key cities at no extra cost to the Post Office under the "all-up" mail arrangement. Cargo loads were crowded with emergency medical supplies and vital machine parts. The 70 extra flights flown during the nine days of the strike imposed some 20,000 hours of overtime on T.C.A.'s staff, which responded willingly.

It is quite clear, of course, that aircraft may never haul as much bulk cargo as railways or trucks. But (to paraphrase a Civil War general) while they may not get there with the "mostest," they certainly get there "fustest." As the only link between East and West during the crippling crisis, T.C.A. came through its sternest test as a major Canadian transport medium. Its top-flight performance should be reflected in an increasingly healthy bank balance at year's end.

Grim German Humor Flourishes Under Soviet Occupation Rule

By JOHN BARTLETT, From Frankfurt

"ADAM and Eve were Russians. They had nothing to eat and nothing to wear, since they lived in Paradise."

That is not meant to be a joke, but just an excerpt from the bitter daily conversation of Germans who live in the Soviet zone.

A visitor to the zone has just returned here from a two weeks' stay at her old home town. She has come back wearied by the ceaseless propaganda, disheartened by economic conditions, frightened by scores of People's Police everywhere.

MORE ARROGANT

"And the Communists are more arrogant than ever," she reported. "Emboldened by the North Korean successes, they feel pretty good about being on the 'winning side.' They tell everyone how they're going to win in Germany too."

She resided in a small town and there were not many Russian soldiers to be seen. As a matter of fact, she said, one did not find Russian soldiers wandering about alone even in the big cities. They live in barracks, away from the German people. They are sent to cinemas and theatres in groups. Russian-German friendship is a matter of political theory, not carried out in practice.

An old woman from a small town went to a big city. Everywhere she saw placard photographs of Stalin, but—so the story goes—she did not know who he was, so she asked a policeman.

"Don't you know, you ignorant woman? That is the great Stalin who liberated us from the Nazis, who is good and powerful and can do everything for us," explained the policeman.

"Why then," asked the ignorant old woman, "does he not liberate us from the Soviets?"

BEETLE BATTLE

Although living conditions had improved slightly, food was still scarce and the supply of textiles and shoes insufficient. Local physicians reported a dangerous lack of medicines. And the hospitals are crowded, not with patients, according to a grim joke which goes; "Why is there no room in the hospital?"

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

MR. BONNAMY NORRIS sent some nice slack pedestrian verse to an editor who might care for such trash. And he was taken aback for the loss of many yards when the editor said the verse was too obviously patterned on the works of one Ogden Nash.

"Take me aback to Ole Virginny!" cried Mr. Norris, aghast and agog. "I never heard of O. Nash." And the editor said "Poohpooh, look at your lack of scansion."

Brock

So Mr. Norris looked at it, but it didn't give him anything except legitimate pride, which increased his chest-expansion.

"Well," said Mr. Norris, "if it did scan, maybe people would think I was criticizing this O. Nash and trying to be odd and affected."

But the editor said "Look at your rhymes. Mr. Nash is noted for his scintillating rhymes, and therefore everybody else's rhymes must try to keep usual and expected.

"For example, you mustn't end a line with Schenectady,

"For that practically forces you to rhyme in a whimsy manner and unexpectad'y."

"But," said Mr. Norris, "any rhyme appears unexpected when it suddenly crops up after an unruly horde of syllables. It is like an inexplicable gap in the ranks of Mr. Ripley's 400 million Chinese marching (God knows why) four abreast."

"But me no buts," said the editor, "and Nash me no teeth. Here is your manuscript and your stamped envelope, self-addressed."

"Well, I didn't like to confess it before, for it didn't seem quite honest," said Mr. Norris,

"But since we are talking of plagiarism, I must admit that my poem, both matter and form, was actually copied pretty directly for a satire of Horace."

"Horace who?" said the editor. Mr. Norris knocked back some fresh air and said "Q. H. Flaccus, an ancient Roman," and wiped his fevered brow.

"Well," said the editor kindly, "the point is that Mr. Flaccus is not writing now."

UTILITY

MY KNOWLEDGE of the German language is somewhat inferior to Mark Twain's. But I enjoy flicking through a German dictionary. Today I found out two important things. Leumund means repute, and when you consider that leumund is literally lion mouth you get a very vivid picture of what reputation amounts to . . . it is just so much roaring. And while looking up mund to make sure it did mean mouth, I ran across mundleim, which means mouth-glue. I have no idea what mouth-glue may be, but it sounds like mighty useful stuff. We could all use it.

I.O.U.

The other day I promised to improvise a better Combined Version of "O Canada!" next time I made up poetry in my sleep. I have now succeeded!

O Canada, our sabotage, our shove,
True north is not magetic north above.
From sea to sea and sea to sea we boast a salty coast,
From north to east and west to south we boast and boast and boast.
With heart we cling,
Prosper the King;
Guard thou the Empire's wing do we ensing,
And prosper Canada from thing to thing.

The verb "ensing" is brand new, and a gift to my country from old Brocky. The punctuation is rather good too, in spite of the fact that you cannot punctuate something that doesn't mean anything. We don't sing nearly enough punctuation these days. Or to put it more briefly, we don't sing nearly.

ONE THING LEADS TO ANOTHER

THE MEMBER for Chicoutimi, M. Gagnon, is reported to have said that he is against voluntary enlistment because this always leads to conscription. I have often heard that prohibition and teetotalism lead to drunkenness, and that hatred is a form of love while love is a form of hatred, and that extremes often meet informally and pass the time of day, but this present paradox has me baffled, boys. The Church, as anyone inside or outside Quebec can tell you, has always held that perfect freedom of will is the exact opposite of compulsion, fate and doom. Sounds reasonable, at that.

MENU

A YOUNG Grade Two friend of mine was asked by his mother what sort of school lunches (within reason) he would fancy this autumn. He said he would draw up some menus for her, to keep her from forgetting, and here is one:

Meet Lofe
Cham Sameechus
Bnance

A prize of one dozen bnance is offered to anyone who can spell "jam sandwiches" in a more charming manner.

The first phase of the American war with Russia was the cold war which led to the Korean war, or second phase. The third phase would be an all-out match with atomic bombs, and the fourth and last phase—occupation.—Lt.-Gen. James M. Doolittle, famous World Wars I and II pilot.

Talking Out Of Both Sides Of His Mouth

As Our Readers See It

FOR CALM EVENINGS

May I come up with a suggestion re Dallas Road? From Menzies Street up lay the ground out in flower beds and paths, also instal a bandstand. There is enough talent in Victoria as well as bands to provide a variety show every evening during the summer.

Chairs and benches could be charged a small fee, the profits to be shared by the city and some worthwhile organization like the Community Chest.

E. BROWNING.

BEFORE PRINTING

Re the dogma of the Assumption. Just as Christ's birthdate and some other truths of God which we believe but which are not recorded in the Bible, we know from tradition. Why, Christ established His church 65 years before the Apostle John wrote his Revelation. The then mighty Roman Empire was Christian before the fourth century, when the writings of the New Testament were first put into book form, and 10,000,000 people had been true to Christ, even to a martyr's death, without reading a line.

They had been taught by Christ's church, whose authority we uphold when we say "we believe in the Bible." For the church existed before; it was 1400 years old before there were such things as paper and printing machines; and the monks copied by hand onto vellum, the Holy Scriptures (especially the New Testament) so to preserve for the world the true words of God.

Apart from the above, is it very unreasonable to believe that the Creator we adore, should take the most blessed of all His creatures to heaven? After all, she was pure enough to beat Him in His Incarnation, so why not keep her body from corruption? Even a human being wants the best for his mom!

"MRS. GRUNDY."

A SUGGESTION?

As a recent visitor to your city of maybe too many visitors I was interested to see how many unattractive women there seem to be at large in Victoria at all times. I have no personal interest in this subject, being happily married, so you can take it from me that I am sincere when I suggest that the good ladies of Victoria may be drinking too much tea and thereby pickling themselves e'er their prime, so to speak. This is only a suggestion for what it is worth.

The Same Old Jokes Live On

By IVOR BROWN, from London

WHENEVER I go on holiday I like to visit the summer show in the beach pavilion. My clever friends are disgusted that I should slink away to sit on a hard seat and listen to bad jokes instead of sitting soft in some grand hotel and playing bad bridge or listening to bad music. But attending concert parties and their rougher cousins is one of the boytime habits that I cannot lay aside. Now their season is drawing to a close; if anything is certain it is their reappearance at Whitsuntide next year.

NEVER DIE

Summer shows not only offer a roof on rainy days to the forlorn pleasure seekers who have been wandering about in mackintoshes, trailing the sodden picnic basket and their wailing, disappointed young. (What infinities of pathos invest the rain-soaked holiday with all its frustrations of eager childhood!) The beach pavilion "comic" does more than assuage these victims of the climate's cruelty. He reminds us that old jokes never die and that new ones are unnecessary. Old ideas, on the higher, philosophic plane, are just as persistent, but their vendors wrap them up in long and pompous names.

When the same crusted nonsense comes floating across the air from BBC comedians it rarely "carries." It is a case of "the time and the place and the loved one altogether," the time being holiday, summer or Christmas, the place a hall or theatre with living, visible performers, and the loved one the traditional droll, his garb all odds and ends, his face all bridling rubicundity. Apparently, he need never alter the routine; the landlady, the boarding house diet, the joke about the "bean soup," the kippers, the hard beds, even the mother in law, have, in this country, everlasting value.

People class comedians and clowns together. But the clown is quite a different creature from the music-hall or pier-head droll; he is abstracted from the world, almost speechless, wholly grotesque. Being of no country he is understood by all; his blanched make-up is a piece of world-wide routine. Scholars of folklore and folkfun trace him back to the old cults and superstitions; he is perhaps the ghost of a ghost or "boggart." His pallor certainly indicates some such spectral immortality.

STILL BRAWLING

Exactly opposite to him is the British "comic," a man of blood and bones and beer and mutton-chops. His uproar is not so common now in the music halls, where the dude at the microphone displaces him. But he survives abundantly as Dame or Idle Jack in the winter pantomime, and he is still brawling with his landlady or confounding his cross-talk companion, as robust and red of cheek as the clown is frail and white, in the elemental and unchanging humors of the summer show.—(O.F.N.S. FISH HOGS

Winnipeg Free Press

The notion that a fishing trip is successful only if one has made a huge catch is too much encouraged. The photos so frequently and proudly displayed of large strings of fish, in many cases quite evidently over the catch limits, are not evidence of good sportsmanship, but of fish hogging.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the certainties of these dangerous days is that any successful defence of western Europe against Red advance must be based on the hotly-controversial rearmament of western Germany.

That's a bitter pill for those who not so long ago swore that the instigator of two world wars should not again be allowed to rearm. However, it has to be swallowed.

Mackenzie

Another general war not only would involve this keystone of Europe but probably would begin in this central zone where communism and democracy face each other across an imaginary barrier.

Therefore it's encouraging to hear John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner for Germany, say after a conference with President Truman that "the Germans should be enabled, if they want to, to defend their own country." And State Secretary Dean Acheson followed this up with the statement that it is highly desirable to find an appropriate way for Germany to aid the defence of western Europe.

THE INSTIGATORS

With the institution of certain safeguards this should work out satisfactorily. I base that supposition on the belief that military aggression is not an inherent characteristic of the German people as a whole. The aggression by the Reich was sprung mainly from one special group of the population—the Prussians.

It is true, however, that many Germanic people are susceptible to regimentation. The Prussians took advantage of that; Hitler took advantage of it.

DEMOCRACY FIRST

Acceptance of these conclusions as correct immediately raises a vital corollary: if Germany is allowed to rearm for self-defence and for participation in the defence of western Europe with the democracies, she must be safeguarded against any form of dictatorship, since totalitarianism might again impose the regimentation which would lead to aggression.

Thus if Germany is permitted to rearm for the common good of the western Europe to which she belongs, totalitarianism must be eliminated. That is a course already being pursued by the occupation powers and it must be intensified.

The adherence of a strengthened western Germany is vital to the security of democratic Europe.

CHIPMUNK URGE

Christian Science Monitor

In Greenfield, Mass., it is reported, "foresighted buyers," fighting the last war all over again, had been stocking up on pepper. One grocer placed a sign on his pepper shelf reading: "Only one to a customer." Before long the sign fell down on the mustard. The mustard was cleaned out by nightfall.

Apparently, to the true hoarder it makes no difference what it is. If it's limited, he (or she) wants it.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"A LOT of our customs," said the Elevator Man, "depend on 'looking the part.' Sometimes it's a sensible idea. Often it's plain stupid. For instance, a white shirt and shorts or flannels are quite in order—sometimes insisted on—for a hot tennis match. But if you wore them into a hot ballroom, where they would be just the thing for a fellow suffocating as he struggles to dance, people would raise their eyebrows and turn down their thumbs. In fact, you probably wouldn't be let in at all. On the other hand, if a stiff shirt and a tail coat are the height of elegance, why can't they be worn at an important tennis match? Why can't golf socks be worn to lawn bowling? Why can't you wear a bathing suit on the links? It's all tied up with the business of 'looking the part,' and very few dare to step out of line. Going up!

Tobin

"It even applies," said the Elevator Man, "to other fields. I see where the president of the Strasbourg branch of the Communist 'Union of French Women' has been expelled from the party. It wash't that she made a poor chairman or mishandled the club funds. The charge was that 'her elegance was incompatible with the ideals of the movement.' Under-dogs aren't supposed to be good-looking, they're supposed to look like under-dogs. On the other hand, Sir Galahad would be no good without his armor. In a Koksilah sweater he'd be just a guy on a horse. Lower main!

"Often," said the Elevator Man, "you have to look underneath to see the real person. I remember a story about a farmer and a city man walking down the street. A girl came toward them just out of the beauty parlor—tinted hair, varnished nails, heavy make-up and purple lipstick. 'Well, what do you think of that?' says the city man, with a wink. 'Well,' says his friend, looking her over, 'speaking as a farmer I'd say it must have been pretty poor soil to require so much top-dressing'."

Thousands See Displays At Home Appliance Show

Host Of Mechanical Marvels Featured For Exhibition Of Electrical Products In City

A giant vacuum cleaner weighing 500 pounds, clock which has electrical appliances as face numbers, and an electric ironer which anyone—even a man—can operate, are just a few of the many electrical products featured at the Home Appliances Show held at the Bay Street Armories this week.

Thousands of people viewed the various displays at the show which commenced yesterday at 2.30. The display, which is the first of its type to be held in Victoria, will be open every day for the remainder of the week from 2.30 in the afternoon until 10.30 in the evening.

The purpose of this ambitious undertaking is to acquaint the public with new types of home electrical appliances. Demonstrations are given and there will be special classes in laundering and cooking in the afternoons.

A door prize in the form of a gas stove, electric stove or frigidaire will be awarded each night to a lucky ticket-holder.

All of the articles on display are available to the public. Many represent new ideas in the home appliance line and this show is the first to feature them here.

In addition to the display, a musical show is held every evening. Highlight on last night's show were the Cubanaires, a local group which features Latin American music. Other artists were: Ray Evenden, tap dancer; Mary Mack, better known as "Canada's Sophie Tucker; Dick Benz, marimba player; Lois Mahon, singer, and ballet dancers Beverly Ivings, Jacqueline Ivings, Pat Sparks and Vera Wakelyn. Miss Evenden was accompanied by Dorothy Margison on the piano.

'This Is All Right'

"Say, this kind of vacuum cleaner is all right. I can ride around on it while mom does housework," probably is what young Bobby Law, 144 Millstream Road, is thinking. Cleaner is just one of many exhibits at household appliance show at Bay Street Armories this week. Show is sponsored by Kinsmen Club, which will devote net proceeds to local charities.

Bevin To Urge Seat In U.N. For Red China

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will change his tactics to break the United Nations deadlock on the question of Communist China when he visits New York, informed sources here said.

Bevin, sailing for the United States today, was reported ready to take the question before the U.N.'s General Assembly in a direct appeal for recognition of Red China.

Previously, Britain made approaches to Egypt, Ecuador and Cuba as members of the Security Council to support Red China's admission to the U.N., but met with little success.

Sources here said Bevin is convinced there can be no settlement of the complex Far Eastern problems, including Korea and Formosa, unless the Chinese Reds are given a seat in the U.N. Bevin probably will wait until after the three foreign ministers have conferred before pressing the Red China question.

Co-operation Between City, Oak Bay 'Rare?'

Because the city has amended its bicycle-licensing by-law so that the registration year runs from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 instead of from Nov. 1 to Oct. 31, Oak Bay has decided to do the same.

Members of that municipality's council agreed Wednesday night to follow a recommendation of Municipal Clerk A. D. Findlay so the two by-laws would coincide.

"This appears to be one of those rare cases of co-operation," Councillor Jack Ruttan observed as the matter was given unanimous approval.

Spring, Fall Good For Lifting Delphiniums

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Either fall or spring may be chosen for lifting and replanting delphiniums.

The condition of your soil will determine which is the best time. When is is of a heavy nature which is slow to dry out in spring it is better to do a fall job of moving, and September is the best month to choose.

To grow well, and maintain good foliage, delphiniums need plenty of room, and a spacing of 30 to 36 inches should be maintained.

Tip-layering has been mentioned previously in this column. The process may be used to increase the present planting of bramble fruits, or to secure plants for a new one. Berries which will root easily by this method are logans, blacks, boysens, youngs, and the other crosses having the same habits of growth. Rambler roses can be increased in the same manner.

During September the tips of the new canes of this year's growth are placed on the ground, covered with a little earth, and held in position with a peg or rock. Each tip will form a new plant which may be cut from the parent cane next spring.

Many gardeners lose a year's fruit when they use the old bushes for a new planting, because of the severe pruning which is necessary. When tip-layering is used, the old plants will fruit as usual next year while the young plants become established and ready to supply fruit the year following.

Dahlias will require feeding about once every ten days, using a weak liquid manure, or soot water. Chrysanthemums can stand the same treatment until the buds show color. And don't forget to remove some of the side buds from the 'mums if you want flowers of a reasonable size and quality.

Man Evades Police Capture

A man who apparently was bent on prowling cars around the Empress Hotel at 2.15 Wednesday morning was sighted by a constable but managed to evade capture.

Constable John Lawford, noting the man's suspicious actions, started across the hotel lawns to speak to him. The man saw him and took to his heels. The chase went across the grounds of the hotel and up Belleville Street, where the pursued man got away.

BOOK BORROWED IN 1772 RETURNED; FINE, $3,248

NEW YORK (AP)—A book borrowed from the Columbia University in 1772 was returned Wednesday.

The borrower was the librarian of King's College, as Columbia was known then, Robert Harpur. He also was a mathematics professor and tutor to Alexander Hamilton.

Not the least shame-faced was the descendant who brought it back—Enos M. Johnston of Brooklyn, an engineer. Johnson explained he found it while pawing through family heirlooms.

No charge is made on late books against professors.

Veterans Ask Compulsory Training For All Youths

Army, Navy And Air Force Group Suggests Three-Year Term In Canada's Reserves

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three years of compulsory training in the reserve forces of Canada for all men between 18 and 21 is urged by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada.

Delegates at the annual convention here Wednesday debated at length various forms of compulsory service which Canada might adopt immediately. They voted down a resolution submitted by the B.C. provincial command which would have requested the government to compel all men between 18 and 21 to serve "at least one year basic training in the army, navy or air forces" of Canada.

Delegates also voted down another B.C.-sponsored resolution which urged thorough investigation of all applications from Canadian-born persons of former enemy-alien extraction now resident abroad to return to Canada.

Also voted down was a resolution calling for the expulsion from the Veterans' Association of any member with Communist Party connections. J. H. MacLeod, Vancouver, resolutions committee chairman, said the group's constitution made this resolution unnecessary.

The convention urged the government to seek ways of reducing rent of veterans' rental housing and of repairing structural defects. It also urged the government to exempt reserve forces' pay from income taxes.

Looters Must Be Choosey After A-Bomb Explosion

It's going to be hard on looters and thieves in the next war, Dr. G. G. Eichholz, assistant professor of physics, University of British Columbia, told delegates attending the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs here Wednesday.

"Gold and siver easily absorb atomic radiation," he said.

"If an atomic bomb is dropped I wouldn't advise anyone to pick up gold or silver souvenirs," he said. "They will absorb more radioactive rays than most things. They will be hot."

Weed-Killing Plan Put Over One Year

Saanich Council Tuesday night referred to the 1951 council the idea of a weed-killing plan along roadsides by a private firm to cost $200 a day to cover an eight-foot-wide stretch five miles long. Council believed it was too late to start it this year, but agreed the weed menace was bad in some spots throughout the municipality.

New British Drug, Said To Be Improvement On Penicillin On Way To Korean War Zone

LONDON (Reuter)—A new British-made drug—claimed by its manufacturers to be an improvement on penicillin—is on its way to the Korean battle zone, it was announced today.

The drug, named distaquaine G and developed from penicillin research by a British drug firm, is said to have "limitless" medical possibilities and a high military value.

(The firm is Distillers Company Biochemicals of Liverpool.)

A combination of penicillin with a local anaesthetic known as procaine, distaquaine G is said by its makers to be less painful on injection than ordinary penicillin.

A single dose is claimed to have greater lasting effect during a 24-hour period than the administration of separate doses of penicillin every three or four hours.

Greek-Owned Freighter Sails For Brooklyn

The Liberty ship Simon, Greek-owned and manned but sailing under the flag of Panama, completed loading of a cargo of lumber at Ogden Point Wednesday afternoon and set sail for Brooklyn.

The Cimon took on 1,000,000 board feet of lumber here and 5,000,000 at the mainland ports of Vancouver and New Westminster.

The 10,500-ton freighter will take 28 days to get from here to the Atlantic seaboard. Her first call will be at the Californian port of San Pedro.

Apology Given By Truman Accepted By U.S. Marines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman has apologized for his harsh words about the Marines in the greatest display of presidential word-eating in the recent history of the U.S.

One immediate result was an ebbing away today of some of the fury over the President's description of the Marines as simply a naval police force with a "propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

That was the way he had sized up the leathernecks in a letter to Representative Gordon McDonpugh (Rep.-Calif.) that came to light Tuesday. His words blew up a gale of counter-criticism.

The President was worried. Late Wednesday he called Marine Commandant Clifton B. Cates to the White House and personally handed over a letter that began:

"I sincerely regret the unfortunate choice of language which I used in my letter . . ."

Washington old-timers could remember no comparable language from the White House.

Even so, Republicans are sure to see to it that the country hears more about the Truman slip during this year's election campaign.

On Capitol Hill, the incident is cited as proof that the President is (a) a big man, or (b) a careless bungler—depending on whether it is a Democrat or a Republican viewpoint.

Truman rushed a copy of his letter to Clay Nixon, national commandant of the Marine Corps League, suggesting that it be read at the national convention of that organization of marine veterans at present in progress. Nixon complied.

The convention closed the day with a yelling, rising vote of approval for Nixon's statement that the Truman slap at the Marines now is "a closed incident."

VIEWS OF SPORT

By RED SMITH

JOE LOUIS said he was going up to the Stadium to see the Indians and would go directly from the ball game to Pompton Lakes, N.J., for the main course of his preparation for a comeback fight with Ezzard Charles. He didn't agree with the American League players who have been rooting for the Tigers but naming Cleveland as the most dangerous of the pennant contenders.

Smith

"Be nice to see it go out there to Detroit," he said, "but I'm afraid it's between the Yankees."

Joe said he was gratified by the results of his preliminary training in West Baden, Ind. "Didn't do a great deal out there," he said. "Went on the road in the mornings and loafed through the afternoons, playing a good deal of golf."

"How do you feel about the bout with Charles, Joe?"

"I think I got a better chance than anybody else to beat him," he said simply.

Couldn't Be The Same Guy

"DO YOU FEEL that you're the same guy who fought Joe Walcott?"

He was thoughtful for a moment. He couldn't, of course, be the same aging, uncertain champion who fought Jersey Joe Walcott on Dec. 5, 1947, and either won or lost on points depending on whose judgment you prefer. That guy was 33 years, six months, three weeks and one day old. The aging, uncertain champion who fought Walcott on June 25, 1948, and knocked him out in the 11th round was 34 years, one month, one week and five days old. The guy who fights Charles on Sept. 27 will be 36 years, four months and two weeks old. He couldn't possibly be the same guy.

"I think I'm better," Joe said.

"I'm gettin' in shape slow this time," he said. "For Walcott I tried to get in shape too fast. Just took regular training. This time I'm takin' it slow. I've been on the road and I've been playing a lot of golf and I've been boxing an awful lot of exhibitions a year, a year-and-a-half.

"I'm better now than I was for Walcott, and I still got time for plenty of boxing at Pompton."

This could easily be true. Certainly Louis thinks it is so, or he wouldn't be saying it. And certainly no one will quarrel with his conviction that he has a better chance than any one else to beat Charles, for there is no reason to think anybody else has any chance at all.

So how good is Joe's chance? How much better than no chance at all? Very little better, one is forced to believe.

Louis is a puncher, and a puncher can win any bout in the space of 10 seconds. Give Joe a target he can hit, and he would smash it if he were 60 years old. Charles can be knocked out, as he was by Lloyd Marshall. He can be outscored, as he was by Elmer Ray and Jimmy Bivins and somebody named Kid Tunero, and, a long time ago, by Ken Overlin.

Charles No Pushover

BUT CHARLES can also fight some. His punch isn't the greatest that the heavyweight division ever saw but it has killed a man. Ezzard has knocked out big strong guys like Joe Baksi and clever guys like Archie Moore. He can box, he can stick a guy and run. Louis needed 26 rounds to catch up with Walcott, a middle-aged mediocrity. For anyone who witnessed his plodding pursuit of the fleeing Jerseyman, it is difficult to picture him overtaking the young and prudent Charles inside 15 rounds.

Sentimentalists who reason this way deplore Joe's decision to return to the ring. That's silly, because Joe is a professional prizefighter. He fights for money. He wants money now, and this fight will draw it. For his 26 title fights, fans paid more than $8,250,000 to see Louis win. They will pay once more to see him lose, Not because they wish him ill, but because his defeat would be an historic occasion. That, they've got to see.

Batting Champion Honored

John Furmston, left, outfielder-pitcher of the Brentwood Aces, last night was presented with the Victoria Roofing and Insulation Trophy, emblematic of the batting championship of the Senior A Softball League. Making the presentation is Gar Taylor, donor of the trophy. Furmston finished the season with an average of .351, eight points better than runner-up Cliff McKay of Bluebird Cabs.

Umpire Boots One But Athletics Win

Fans Hostile When Marshall Gets Gate

By PETE SALLAWAY

Victoria baseball fans saw the Athletics knock off Tacoma Tigers 8 to 0 at Athletic Park last night and in the process got a good stomachfull of the bad umpiring that has marked play in the W.I.L. this season. It was a hostile crowd that left the park after seeing pitcher John Marshall get tossed out of the game in the bottom of the fourth inning by plate umpire "Doc" Regele in a rhubarb that was all the umpire's making.

Marshall, noted for his clowning tactics at the plate was putting on his usual show for the customers when Regele opened up an argument. Victoria manager Marty Krug rushed in from third base to break it up and point out to the official that Marshall was quite within his rights. Before the next pitch Marshall switched to the other side of the plate and continued his antics. Regele immediately waved him to the showers.

Entire Victoria team stormed on to the field and surrounded the umpire like bees around a honey pot as they gave Regele a going over. The fans lost no time letting go with their protests and for the remainder of the night, "Doc" was treated to a chorus of cat-calls every time he faced the crowd.

SAYS UMP WRONG

"Regele was definitely in the wrong and just made himself look more foolish than ever," commented Manager Krug after the game. "Like so many officials in this league he has to get in the act, instead of remembering he's just an umpire. The fans come out to see a ball game not the umpires."

Regele's action just cost Marshall his 16th win of the season as he was enjoying a 4 to 0 lead at the time and had given up one hit. The Athletics got a swell relief job from southpaw Jim Propst who allowed Tacoma two scattered blows the rest of the way and picked up eight strikeouts. His fast ball was really taking off.

With first-place Yakima losing to Vancouver 6 to 2 the Tacoma club remained half a game off the pace. Tonight the two leading clubs switch opponents. Southpaw Jim Hedgecock will open for the A's against Yakima.

Athletics continued to treat the Tacoma pitchers like brothers. They picked up 12 hits for a total of 56 in the four-game stand. That's fair hitting in any league.

HITS FLAG POLE

Marshall got a break in the second inning when Dick Wenner's line drive to centre field hit the flag pole and went for double instead of what appeared a cinch home run.

In their half of the inning the A's jumped on starter Tom Kipp for four runs—three of them unearned as the result of a boot by third baseman Mike Catron. Lou Novikoff's double to left centre was the big blow, driving in two runs.

Athletics added one run in the fourth and two in the fifth with Bob McGuire driving them across with a line double. Propst's double after Bill Dunn's infield single was responsible for the eighth run in the seventh.

Bob McLean, converted first baseman, pitched six-hit ball and Reg Clarkson pounded out two home runs for the Vancouver win. Dick Larner, the losing pitcher, gave up 10 hits.

Tri-City Braves walloped Salem again, 14 to 3, with a makeshift Senator line-up contributing five errors to a 17-hit attack.

The drubbing was the second in a row—it was 18 to 4 Tuesday night—and gave the Braves a 4 to 0 lead in the five-game series.

Wenatchee Chiefs, meanwhile, evened their series with Spokane at two games apiece with an 8 to 7 win. Len Neal was the batting star for the Chiefs, getting four hits in as many trips.

Tonight and tomorrow night will be ladies' nights at the Victoria ball park.

Basketballers Fail To Name New Executive

The Victoria and District Basketball Association bumped into an old problem at last night's annual meeting at Prince Robert House when it failed to elect an executive for the coming season.

The retiring officers, however, agreed to remain as an executive committee, pro tem, until permanent officials can be named.

The date for the closing of team entires was set for Sept. 30. Forms may be secured from secretary Tommy Carson.

It was decided to again sell season tickets this year. The league showed a loss on last year's operations with all exhibition games except the California Mohawks' appearance running the circuit into the red.

A motion that Bob Whyte be granted a life membership in the British Columbia association was endorsed.

Charlie Lewis was named building commissioner and Dennis Humphreys, Hank Casilio and Paul Beere as league auditors. Tommy Carson was appointed council member to the V.I.A.B.A.

Much discussion arose over the suspension of the Y.M.C.A. team and players by the island body. However, no definite action was taken by the meeting. The "Y" club is expected to take the matter up with the island association and then report back to the local league, at which time further action will be taken, if necessary.

The next association meeting will be held Oct. 4.

Aces Win Battle In Final Inning

A triple by John Furmston in the last inning with two runners aboard broke up a tight duel between Brentwood Aces and B.C. Forest Products in the first game of their semifinal playoff in the senior A softball division last night, Aces squeezing out a 4 to 3 decision.

Aces went into the final inning trailing 3 to 2. Earl King walked Hal Yardley after Frank Kilshaw had grounded out to open the inning. Rosy McLellan pinch-hitted for Archie Sluggett and King was still having trouble finding the plate. After he had thrown two balls into the dirt, coach Mickey Smith called in Bud Ross from the bench. Ross worked the count up to 3-2 and lost the batter on four balls. Furmston lined a triple and Yardley and Phil Benn, who had run for McLellan, scored easily to put the Aces one up in series.

Up until the fatal eighth the millmen played heads up ball and with King facing a minimum number of batters it appeared that the Forest Products were in.

Kilshaw scored the first run of the game in the first inning when he walked, moved up to second on an outfield fly and completed the run around on a ground single to left by Furmston.

Forest Products moved ahead 3 to 1 in the second on two singles, an error and a walk, but the Aces got one back in the fourth when Ronnie Benn doubled and moved around to third and home on two infield outs.

League officials announced last night that Coach Stan Tenning of the Chinese Students has been suspended indefinitely, for the part he took in the fiasco at Central Park during the game on Tuesday night between the Douglas Tire and Students. These same two teams will play the second game of their series tonight at 6.30 and a win for the Tiremen will eliminate the Students from further play this season.

Short score:	R	H	E
Forest Products	3	3	2
Brentwood Aces	4	3	1

King, Ross (8) and Wilson; Furmston and J. Turner, R. Benn (4).

BAREFOOTED SOCCER ENDS

BOMBAY, India (BUP) — The West India Football Association has banned bare-footed competitive soccer in an effort to find teams good enough to tackle Europe's best.

Barefoot soccer has been a feature of Indian play for several decades. Association officials said that their players were handicapped when they played in the west minus socks and boots.

Firemen Blow Early Lead To Suffer Defeat

Down Two Games To Toronto Club In Softball Final

TORONTO (CP)—Vancouver Firemen blew a three-run lead Wednesday night to fall two games behind Toronto Peoples in the best-of-five series for the Canadian senior men's softball championship. Toronto won 4 to 3.

The victory made the eastern champions overwhelming favorites in the series, first east-west softball final staged in Canada.

The third game will be played at the Canadian National Exhibition ball park tonight.

Firemen, who eliminated Winnipeg to reach the finals, appeared headed for an easy victory in the opening minutes. They rolled up a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning on Laurie Shuttleworth's homer. Then they fell apart in the second to yield four easy runs and the game was over.

Neither club was able to score in the last seven innings.

Stengel Fails To Beat Boston Jinx

Casey Stengel defied the Fenway Park southpaw jinx and lost. As a result his New York Yankees are fidgeting atop the American League pennant scramble by only a half-game today.

The Yankees invaded the lair of the torrid third-place Boston Red Sox last night for the opener of a two-game series. Old Case sent lefty Ed Lopat to face the murderous Red Sox completely aware that only one visiting lefthander, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, had pitched and won a complete game in the Fens this year.

Casey didn't have long to wait to rue his decision. The Sox bombed Lopat for four runs in the second inning and went on to slaughter the Yanks 11 to 2.

While the Yanks were being smeared, the runner-up Detroit Tigers, behind Newhouser, turned back the fourth-place Cleveland Indians 5 to 3 in the opener of a two-game series in Detroit to move within a half game of the lead.

For today's final game, Stengel has named righthander Allie Reynolds (13-11) to oppose righthander Ellis Kinder (13-12). Kinder hasn't started a game since Aug. 17 but has performed brilliantly in relief to earn another chance.

At Detroit, the Tigers came up with four runs in the seventh inning to erase a 2 to 1 deficit.

Brooklyn Dodgers supplied the biggest surprise in the National League by defeating the league-leading Philadelphia Phils 2 to 0 and 3 to 2 in a twi-night doubleheader. The victories moved the second-place Brooks to within five and a half games of the Phils.

Big Don Newcombe attempted to perform the iron-man stunt. He blanked the Phils on three hits in the opener but was forced to bow out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning of the second game, trailing 2 to 0.

Newcombe is the first pitcher to try the feat since Buck Newsome attempted it and failed for Detroit in 1940. The last big league pitcher to pitch and win two complete games in one day was Emil Levson of Cleveland in 1926.

WIN IN NINTH

The Dodgers, blanked on one hit by Curt Simmons, came to life in the ninth inning and scored three runs to pull the nightcap out.

The Dodger triumph was costly, however, as they lost the services of their brilliant catcher, Roy Campanella, who broke his right thumb on a foul tip. Campanella probably will be out for the season.

The surging New York Giants turned back Boston Braves 3 to 1 to advance to within a half game of the third-place Braves. Larry Jansen pitched a strong nine-hitter to gain his 15th victory. The Giants collected only six hits, including Wes Westrum's 20th homer.

Shamrocks Assured Of Change In Referees For Game With Indians

Manager Ralph Baker of the Shamrocks said today he had been assured by the Intercity Lacrosse League commission that neither Sid Greenwood nor Pete Meehan would be the officials for Friday night's fourth playoff game here between the Indians and the Rocks.

He added that he did not know who the officials for the game would be.

Baker said the decision was made by the commission following Tuesday night's game at Kerrisdale which the Indians won, 11 to 3. The referees came in for much criticism for their handling of that game.

Baker would make no statement as to what the Shamrocks stand would be if Greenwood or Meehan happened to show up at the game as an official except to say: "It will be a ticklish situation if we win this game and then find that Greenwood and, or, Mehan have been appointed for the deciding game in Vancouver on Tuesday."

Meanwhile, the long lines of customers outside the Memorial Arena ticket office this morning has assured officials of another sellout.

Indians lead the series two games to one and can advance into the final with a victory over the Irish. The tribe won the first game at Kerrisdale, 7 to 5, with the Shamrocks taking the second, 13 to 5.

ADANACS WIN

Over on the mainland New Westminster Adanacs moved to within one game of a final berth by whipping Burrards, 21 to 8, in the third game of their best-of-five series last night.

The A's used a new strategy in thumping the Canadian champions, substituting players singly rather than in units.

The daring gamble by coach Bob Lee paid dividends for the Adanacs as they completely outplayed Burrards. Only in the third period when the clubs split goals were Burrards able to stay on even terms with the Adanacs.

A'S FAVORED

Off last night's game the A's are now favored to end the series Friday night at the Forum. They won the first game, 13 to 12, and lost the second 14 to 12.

Bobby Bremner was the big gun for the A's with seven goals and three assists. Jack Northup hac three goals and two assists and Johnny Douglas and Mike Munro four goals each.

Seattle Ball Club Signs Third Davis

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League made another "initial" investment Wednesday.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

How do the ball players spend the winter months? That's a question that puzzles a lot of fans. All summer the faithful watch their favorites in action then come September the boys drop completely out of sight. Some come back next season but a good few fade into complete oblivion as far as the fans are concerned. Chatting to members of the Athletics it was surprising to learn what some of the fellows plan for the off season. Take Junior Krug, for instance. He's going back to Salem, Ore., to work for the second successive winter as a guard at the state penitentiary. "They told me if I came back for another stretch there was a good chance I would get my parole," Junior wisecracked. Krug is still going to find enough spare time to get in some steelhead fishing jaunts with pitcher Aldon Wilkie. Both are keen anglers and Wilkie will be in close contact at his home in Newberg, Ore.

Many California-Bound

Like the birds and some fortunate humans, goodly number of the players will migrate south to the sunny climate of California. Outfielders Gene Thompson and Lou Novikoff are toying with the idea of playing winter ball in the Pacific Coast division of the Mexican League. Thompson was down there last winter with the Hermosillo club.

Novikoff is not just sure of his plans. "Maybe I'll stick around home and work with my brothers in the auto body building business at Bell, a suburb of Los Angeles."

Outfielder Bob McGuire has his winter work all mapped out. He will return to Washington State College at Pullman to finish up on his fifth year degree. "I need the credits to qualify as a teacher," he said. "I've also lined up a job as backfield coach of the freshman football squad. I can't play any more conference football as I've used up all my eligibility."

Pair Will Tend Bar

Pitcher John Marshall and shortstop Bill Dunn have similar plans. Both are going to take jobs tending bar. Said Marshall: "I'm going to own my own bar some day. Can't say just where but it will be located in the Pacific Northwest." Dunn will also play some winter ball for the Bar Tenders' Union Club around San Francisco.

Couple of the players have long trips ahead of them. Catcher Hal Danielson will trek back to Chicago to work for his father who is in the contracting business. "He hopes to make an office manager out of me." Pitcher Jimmy Propst will get back to his home at Kansas City as quickly as possible to await the arrival of the first-born. Pitchers Ron Smith and Jim Hedgecock and infielders Johnny Hack and Jim Moore are all California-bound with back-to-work ideas.

Manager Marty Krug plans a winter of relaxation at his Glendale, Calif., home. "I know there will be plenty of work around the house to keep me busy for a long time. Just before coming north in March I finished converting a big house into apartments but there are still plenty of odd jobs to complete."

More News On Anderson

More news from Edmonton about the diamond doings of young Bernie Anderson finds the Victoria flychaser stealing all the headlines.

All Anderson did in the first game of the Big Four playoffs between the Dodgers and Eskimos was to get four for six and drive in six of the Dodgers' runs as they swamped their rivals, 15 to 4.

Included in the four blows were two home runs and a double.

Battle For World Title

Furmston Captures League Bat Title

Big John Furmston, outfielder-pitcher for Brentwood Aces, ended the Senior A Softball League season with an average of .351 to gain possession of the Victoria Roofing and Insulation Company Trophy as the league batting champion.

Furmston was hard pressed up until the final game by Cliff McKay, Bluebird Cab's first baseman, the versatile infielder of the Cabbies ending up with a respectable .343.

At least 60 times at bat was required before a batter could be eligible for the cup, and the ruling cost Jimmy Morrison of finished with a .368 average in Douglas Tire the title. Morrison 57 times at bat. He missed the last league game.

In addition to having the high average, Furmiston was tops in the extra base hits, and total bases. He had 39 hits, including 13 doubles, one triple and a home run for a total of 58 bases.

Toad Garnet of Douglas Tire finished second behind Furmston in total bases. He had 30 hits, including two doubles, two triples and five home runs. Garnet led in home runs, with Tommy Derr of Chinese Students second with four.

Rowe Comes Out Of Retirement For Second Time

CALGARY (CP)—"Plunging" Paul Rowe is back with the Calgary Stampeders. The veteran fullback has come out of retirement, signing an active playing contract with the football club.

Rowe, who has starred with the Stamps for the past 12 years, was out for a practice session Wednesday night, and will be in the line-up when the Cowboys meet Saskatchewan Roughriders here Saturday night, Coach Les Lear announced.

The great line plunger announced his first retirement in 1948, following Calgary's Grey Cup win over Ottawa Roughriders. He was lured out of retirement last year, hoping for one more Grey Cup win, but announced definitely at the end of last season that he was through for good.

Lear said Rowe will be listed on the Stamps' line-up for the remainder of the 1950 grid season.

Nanaimo To Seek Boxla Franchise Next Season

There is every possibility that Nanaimo will apply for a franchise in the Intercity Lacrosse League next year, Ross Brebber, manager of the up-island Senior B team, said here last night.

Brebber made the announcement in an interview at the Memorial Arena where Nanaimo Native Sons and Victoria Jokers were playing the first game of the provincial Senior B semifinal series.

"You can say that at the moment it is our intention to apply for an intercity franchise," Brebber said. "Of course there are still a few obstacles that must be ironed out before such a move is made."

Brebber pointed out that the prime need was for a sponsor or financial backing. "That and transportation appear to be the biggest problem," he said.

NEED PLAYERS

Brebber figures that the present Nanaimo team which last night defeated Jokers, 14 to 7, in the opener of a three-game series would need to be sthengthened by the addition of four or five seasoned players or outstanding juniors in order to meet the calibre of play in the Intercity League. "We know our club is not up to intercity standards at the present time," he said.

When questioned as to the rumor of an amalgamation between New Westminster Adanacs and Nanaimo with Nanaimo as the home floor, Brebber replied: "As far as I am concerned it still is in the rumor stage but it is quite possible that we may hook up with one of the mainland clubs if such action is deemed advisable."

Brebber said the Nanaimo team had been averaging crowds of 1,000 for Pacific Coast League games this season. However, he pointed out that in 1949 the average attendance had been 1,400. "If we were in the Intercity League I believe we could play to capacity houses of 2,700," he added.

COAST HOME

Meanwhile, the Nanaimo club showed their Intercity League possibilities by soundly whipping the Jokers on the arena floor. There was no doubt as to their superiority as they took a 6 to 1 lead in the first period and coasted home from there.

Jim Rice paced the snipers with three goals while Bill Bamford was the best of the locals with two markers. Fred Fulla, Nanaimo goalkeeper, was always sound and until the final period when Jokers scored four goals was the complete master of the situation.

The second game will be played at Nanaimo Saturday with the third game, if necessary, here on Monday.

Jokers—Hetherington, Harding 1, K. Douglas, Banks 1, Cunningham, Utike 1, Brown, Scroggie, Hudson, Kowalyk, Bamford 2, R. Douglas 1, Stewart, Pellow 1.

Kelowna Takes Lacrosse Title

VERNON (CP) — Kelowna Bruins, trailing throughout most of the series, Tuesday night won the interior senior B lacrosse championship with an 8 to 6 win over Vernon Tigers. The series went seven games.

Mrs. Todd Wins Match In Golf At Jasper

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — The favorites, with one exception, Wednesday continued to rule play in the championship flight of the 21st annual Totem Pole golf tournament.

The lone upset was the elimination of Jack Starkey of Edmonton, holder of the men's championship in 1933 and 1936. He lost to Eddie Oana of Vancouver when he blew a 20-inch putt on the 18th green.

One former champion still is in the running. He is Ed Green of Seattle who defeated J. E. Baldwin of Vancouver 6 and 5.

In the women's championship flight, Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, the 1947-48 titlist, defeated Mrs. Max Bell of Calgary 3 and 1. Mrs. S. Thompson of Vancouver eliminated Mrs. J. Streit of Toronto 2 up in the other top-half game.

Uniform Building Code Urged For Oak Bay By Inspector

P. K. Cunningham, Oak Bay building inspector, recommended to municipal council at its meeting Wednesday night that consideration be given to adopting the Uniform Building Code for the district.

Mr. Cunningham recently returned from a meeting of Pacific Coast building officials where the question of the uniform code was explored fully and then unanimously endorsed by all building inspectors present.

The code now is used in 38 states in America, in the territories of Alaska and Hawaii and in some cities of Canada.

Mr. Cunningham said the building inspectors intended to bring the matter to the attention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities for consideration. He suggested Oak Bay support the idea in the best interests of the municipality, general home builders and building contractors.

Oak Bay Council decided to consider the matter at a closed committee session.

SAFE NEXT CHRISTMAS

No Serious Floods In Oak Bay This Winter

J. V. Johnson, veteran Oak Bay councillor and chairman of that municipality's public works committee, had his Christmas holidays disrupted last year when a heavy downpour of rain flooded a number of Oak Bay basements.

Some of the citizens whose cellars were so affected telephoned Mr. Johnson as early as 8 o'clock Boxing Day morning, demanding that he, as public works chairman, come and see the mess.

Councillor Johnson recalled the incident at a council meeting Wednesday night and happily declared, "It won't happen this year."

Improvements made to the municipal drainage system during recent months, he said, will assure that no serious flooding will take place this winter, no matter how much it rains.

Houses on Lansdowne Road, Foul Bay Road, Carnarvon Street and Townley Street, which suffered most during last year's flood period, now are protected by a new concrete drain running through the old Willows fair grounds.

Drainage improvements have been made in the south end of the municipality also, Councillor Johnson said.

Oak Bay Scouts Ask Free Land

A campaign is to be launched to raise funds for a new Oak Bay scout hall.

The group committee of Oak Bay Scouts and Cubs has written the municipal council, explaining its intentions and asking the municipality grant a land lease free if sufficient money for the building is collected by the scouts themselves.

The matter was put before the council at its meeting Wednesday night.

Although the subject was not discussed fully, the plan was given a good reception and there was even some suggestion the council might be willing to turn over certain property near the Oak Bay fire hall for such an undertaking.

Council decided to turn the matter over to the joint care of the works and parks committees.

A letter from the scout committee explained present accommodation for scouts in the municipality was inadequate. The present centre is a municipal-owned building on Granite Street.

There are two scout troops and four cub packs now operating in Oak Bay, aggregating about 170 boys and leaders.

Strength of the group has doubled in the past three years and indications are further substantial growth will be shown if proper quarters are found.

Hit-Run Driver Fined $90 Total

Driver of the truck which did not stop after a collision with a car at Johnson and Alston Streets Aug. 28, Edward Rainaldi, 1168 North Park Street, was fined a total of $90 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Wednesday.

Rainaldi pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $50, entered the same plea to a charge of dangerous driving and received a $40 penalty. Magistrate Hall suspended his license for one month.

CASUALTIES OF U.S. 9,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defence Department states 8,863 U.S. casualties in the Korean war had been reported to the next-of-kin through Sept. 1.

This was an increase of nearly 2,000 since Aug. 25.

Listed were 599 killed, 5,366 wounded, of whom 83 have since died, and 2,898 missing.

Approves Permit For $25,000 Uplands Home

Oak Bay Council Wednesday night approved issuance of a building permit to Logan Mayhew, owner of National Motors Limited, for the erection of a $25,000 home at 3515 Beach Drive.

The home is to be a rambling one-story structure. George H. Wheaton is to be the contractor.

Foreign Office For West Germany

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman believes West Germany soon may be allowed its own foreign affairs ministry.

Schuman told a press conference there are no juridical obstacles to giving West Germany such greater control over foreign relations.

"It is well understood, however, that as long as the (Allied) High Commission exists, it will have the right to intervene," he added.

BRITISH UNIONS VOTE DOWN 'BAN-THE-ATOM-BOMB' MOVE

BRIGHTON (Reuter)—The British Trades Union Congress Wednesday overwhelmingly quashed a "ban-the-atom-bomb" demand after its annual conference here had been plunged into pandemonium for 10 minutes.

Delegates representing 5,600,000 unionists voted against a resolution calling on Britain to reopen the question of international control of atomic production, the banning of atomic weapons and the destruction of all atom bomb stocks.

Representatives of 1,972,000 members voted in favor.

By an even larger majority, the conference pledged its support for United Nations action in Korea and for the decisions made by the government to meet the new situation.

By the same margin it condemned as a sham the Communist-sponsored "Stockholm peace campaign."

Another Water By-Law Loan At Next Oak Bay Elections

Ratepayers of Oak Bay will have another water loan by-law to vote on when they go to the polls in December.

This year, they will be asked to approve the borrowing of $115,000 to cover cost of installing a new, large, water main to connect with Victoria's main and enough connecting pipes to do away with the need for summer-time watering restrictions.

Oak Bay Council authorized the preparation of such a by-law at its meeting Wednesday night.

According to Arthur Musgrave, municipal engineer, the $115,000 will provide for the laying of 4,200 feet of 20-inch steel pipe and 4,900 feet of 12-inch cast-iron pipe.

If the ratepayers give their approval to the scheme the work can be undertaken and the municipality assured of an adequate supply of water all year round for some years to come, Mr. Musgrave stated.

He indicated one further water loan by-law might be necessary in about four or five years' time to bring the municipal system up to recommendations of the Stewart Report of 1945.

Oak Bay electors have authorized two loans for water purposes since the report. In 1946, they sanctioned an $80,000 by-law and in 1948, a $90,000 by-law.

Considerable improvement was made to the Oak Bay water system as a result of passage of the two votes, Mr. Musgrave said.

European Outlays Bring New Inflation Dangers

International Monetary Fund Gives Warning On Great Reconstruction Expenditures

PARIS (AP)—Directors of the International Monetary Fund warned western Europe today that it faces dangerous inflation unless reconstruction spending is reduced.

The international money experts also said that continued wage increases will push export prices up to a point where vital North American markets will be lost.

The statements were contained in a 160-page report made public at the current meeting of the board of governors. The governors, representing 49 member countries, rule both the fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Those parties maintain wages must be raised to meet increased living costs, and tremendous reconstruction jobs still must be done. By contrast, the fund directors said the danger of inflation would persist "as long as government expenditure and private investment continue on the present scale."

Last year's devaluation of European currencies, the fund experts said, had been an important aid toward helping Europe pay its imports from North America. Devaluation cut the price of European goods and made them more attractive to the American market.

But wage increases would make export prices creep up, the report declared, "and if this attitude is carried to the extreme where every rise in prices must be compensated by a correponding rise in incomes, the effect of devaluation in reducing dollar export prices must be completely lost."

Arterial Highway Proposal Approved

Saanich Council Tuesday night approved a provincial Department of Public Works recommendation that Verdier Avenue, from West Saanich Road, to Todd Avenue, be classified as an arterial highway. Councillor Sydney Pickles, chief figure in the secession move for the area, said "I'll endorse that with pleasure."

M.P.'s Examine Canada's Defence Preparedness

OTTAWA (CP)—The frightening picture of a Canada brought under devastating atomic attack, her people maimed and driven into inadequate shelter, was placed before the Commons Wednesday night by an eminent medical doctor.

It came from Dr. W. G. Blair (P.C.-Lanark, Ont.) as he urged the government to move swiftly in the formation of a civil defence program to meet the possibilities of a third world war—high explosive and atomic bombing and germ and gas warfare.

That program, he suggested, should include the setting up of life-saving blood banks and depots of medical and surgical supplies, the training of first-aid crews to succor the wounded and plans to evacuate cities shattered by enemy bombing.

Dr. Blair injected the down-to-earth phase of a possible war-stricken Canada into a defence debate which had grown heavy with continued opposition charges that the government had failed to bring this country to an adequate state of preparedness and was failing to give information.

He was joined in the call for civil defence preparedness by Owen Jones (C.C.F.-Yale, B.C.) and Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (P.C.-Calgary East), both of who agreed with him that it was time the government got moving in that field.

CO-OPERATION PLANS

In reply, Defence Minister Claxton said the federal government already has discussed the matter with the provinces most concerned with the problem. However, if war came, the federal government would take responsibility for planning and organization "at a higher level." Meantime, there were plans for co-operation in civil defence with the United States.

As the debate proceeded in the Commons, word of civil defence steps came from Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator.

He said in an interview that he hopes next week to end some of the confusion existing now in civil defence planning by the distribution to the provinces of an organizational manual detailing how the country should organize itself to meet the threat of attack.

The defence debate proper rambled over a broad field and External Affairs Minister Pearson, stepping into it briefly, said the nature and scope of Canada's military obligations both under the United Nations' Charter and the Atlantic Pact will be known shortly. At the moment, they are political.

He said this country hopes to see her own example of forming a special army brigade for U.N. service followed by other U.N. members to give that body its first military strength in the world-wide fight against aggression.

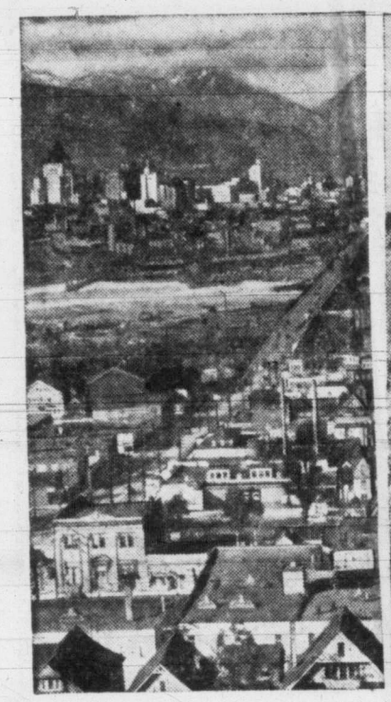
Both he and Trade Minister Howe, who also joined the debate briefly, made it clear that Canada's activities in wartime would include the dispatch overseas of both men and materials.

OUTLOOK SCANNED

Mr. Claxton said a major amphibious attack on this country is considered highly unlikely at this stage. The time is not yet believed here to bring the army's regular airborne brigade together for the one or two months' training needed to fit it to fight as a formation.

Meantime, he said the raising of the special force will give the army roughly the equivalent of three-quarters of a division of 20,000 men in actual but separate fighting units.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., P.C., Nanaimo, charged Canada has not a single land fighting force ready for action at a moment's notice, while George Hees, P.C., Toronto-Broadview, attacked the government for planning to have another period of six to eight months to build up once war strikes.

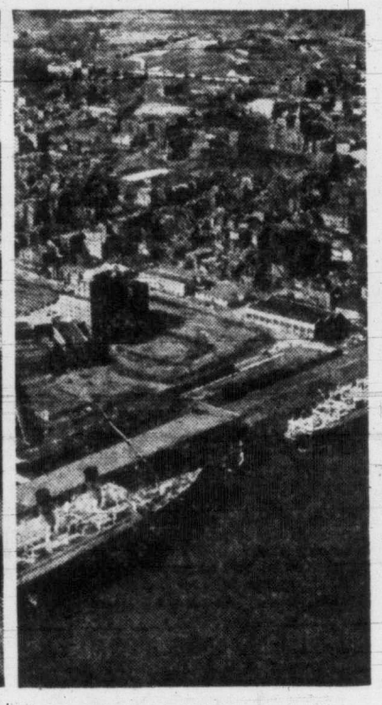


IN THE ROCKIES . . .

In British Columbia, an independent research organization asked city motorists "If you replaced tires, what brand did you buy last?" They found that more people stated Goodyear tires than the next 6 leading brands combined!

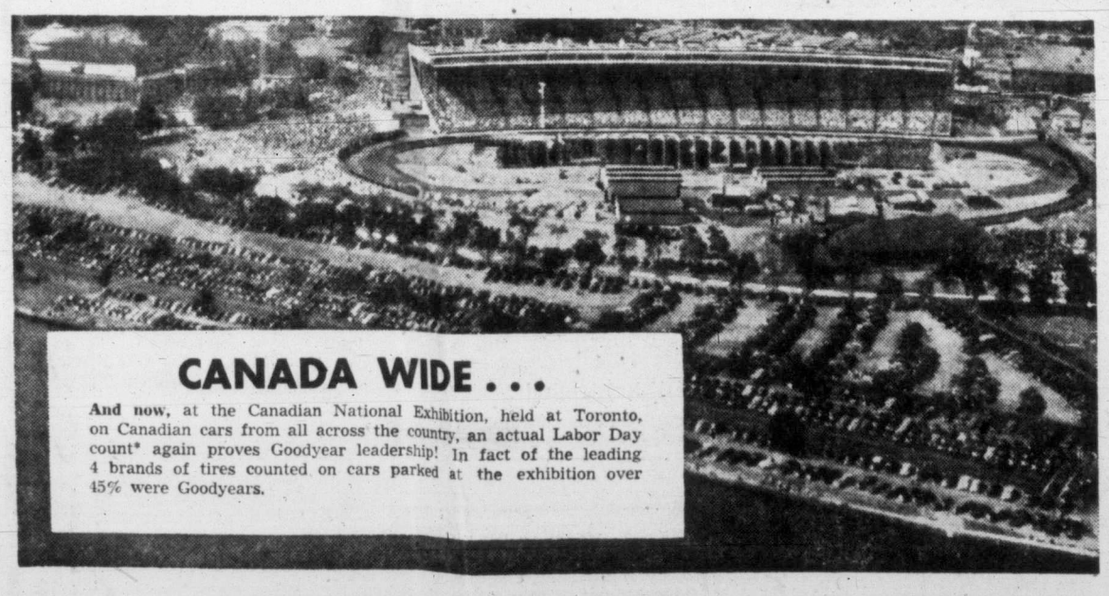
ACROSS THE PRAIRIES . . .

In leading towns and cities all over the prairie provinces, where a tire is judged on mileage, most motorists said "The tires I bought last are Goodyears." In fact Goodyears were preferred by more prairie drivers than the next 5 leading brands combined.



IN THE MARITIMES . . .

In the land of seaports and scenery . . . tops again! More urban folks preferred Goodyear than the next 6 leading brands together! Evidently, Canadian motorists agree with carmakers, who put more Goodyear tires on new cars than any other brand.



CANADA WIDE . . .

And now, at the Canadian National Exhibition, held at Toronto, on Canadian cars from all across the country, an actual Labor Day count* again proves Goodyear leadership! In fact of the leading 4 brands of tires counted on cars parked at the exhibition over 45% were Goodyears.

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

Super-Cushion . . . made only by GOODYEAR. Preferred by carmakers and the Canadian public over all other low-pressure tires.

* A car-by-car tabulation made on Labor Day by an independent survey organization.

If you'd dropped in at the Fire Chiefs' Convention session Wednesday morning, you'd have realized there wasn't any place there for Ed. Wynn. Remember the old Texaco Fire Chief who sold noisy nonsense to NBC when Spike Jones was barely a whisper?

Yesterday morning the fire chiefs were getting a little scientific information on the routine to follow in case of atomic bombing. It wasn't an inspiration for a hilarious party. A small note of comfort was raised, though. Atom bombs are so expensive, they cost too much to use on anything but vital targets. There's some consolation in being a non-essential — provided you keep away from important places.

Stott

THE SCIENTIST speaking to the chiefs provided a neat plug for our profession. He said that in Hiroshima, people who were reading newspapers received some protection from the first burning heat of the bomb. The thin sheets held up before their faces furnished a shield against the flash. That's one of the services we offer subscribers: Play safe, read the Times.

Victorians have a choice of attractions this week if they want a peek at conventions. If they're interested in protection against fire, the chiefs' claim the spotlight. If it's economic protection they want, the Manufacturers' Life is having a regional meeting here.

The insurance men were listening yesterday to a talk on a "Buy Cycle Built for Two." It purported to assist the agents in finding the type of policy best suited for prospective clients. We have a "Buy Cycle Built for Two" in our house. Number one cashes the cheque on payday and number two takes the proceeds to the grocer. What a buy cycle! It's faster than a Langford hot-rod.

HAPPY AS THE hotel is to have them, two conventions at a time give the Empress about all it can handle. There are small problems of accommodation and provision of facilities for dining.

Neither of the gatherings now in progress suffered a great deal in attendance from the recent strikes. But some of the fire-fighting equipment that should be on display in the Crystal Garden lower ballroom is still resting in freight cars east of the Rockies.

As far as the Empress is concerned, the convention season has to fall into split shifts. July and August, heavy tourist months, are out for group gatherings. When the last of present bookings for different organizations is reached in November, the hotel will have been headquarters for 31 conventions this year. The first was held in March. They vary in size from a modest membership of 30 to the 350 delegates due for the Canadian Education Association meetings here from Oct. 1 to 5.

IN THE OFF seasons, conventions are pretty important business. Even if they cause some extra work, they're not nearly the headaches that big public dances are. The "visiting firemen"— and you can make that literal or metaphorical — aren't hard to get along with. Invasions like that long-remembered potlach of logging equipment men don't happen every year. Even that, in retrospect, is recalled by hotelmen as just a little boisterous.

THOUGH IT'S still summer, the Empress has already started an energetic winter publicity campaign. It won't have to worry about the Christmas festival. The main dining-room was booked up by the end of last January for the ceremonial dinner, and places are in short supply in the Crystal Room for that event.

Still, the late fall, winter and early spring seasons need a little advertising. Prospective guests are still being invited to bring their golf clubs. There isn't any mention of skis. Last winter, the hotelmen hope, was just a freak.

A COUPLE OF sentences in the digest of a recent Court of Appeal case, published in "The Advocate," remind you of the unfortunate golfer. The comment notes that throughout the judgment of one member of the court reasons are given for allowing the appeal, but the document concludes, "I would dismiss the appeal."

There you have it: the precise stance, the careful swing, and— oops, missed the ball.

Drivers Creep And Pedestrians Curse

This three-ring circus scene in the 700 block of Fort Street takes place in many parts of town every day. It has its clowns, too, as drivers jockey for few and far between parking spots while pedestrians dance a jig to duck the dodging motorists.

MARY METER WANTS YOU ONLY FOR AN HOUR

Beat It Bub—Let The Little Lady Take Someone Else's Nickel Next

(This is the third in a series of articles on Victoria's parking problems.)

By LLOYD G. BAKER

Those curb-stone cuties vamping the motorist out of his nickels and pennies are serving a useful purpose in the car parking problem.

The parking meters have eliminated the creepers who'd inch their cars backwards or forward every hour or two and thereby beat the law.

But they haven't accomplished all they were intended to do when the city first put them to work in August, 1947.

NOT ENOUGH POLICEMEN

Many businessmen are making on-the-hour, every-hour dashes to their cars to slip the meter another coin, and John Law isn't large enough in numbers to come to Mary Meter's rescue and shoo off the staller.

Result is curb space famine for the casual parker—the person wanting to do 10 or 15 minutes' shopping.

Saturdays, the shortage of parking space reaches a hair-tearing peak, mainly because of increased numbers of shoppers as well as the sit-tight types who work a half-day. More of them seem to drive into town and gamble on being nicked for parking over an hour in one spot during the morning hours. During the week many of them leave their cars away from the restricted areas and walk the rest of the way.

More meters are to be installed in the near future in an effort to keep parkers moving. Don't be surprised if you see meter zones extended eastward on Fort Street to Cook, eastward on Pandora and Yates, too. Douglas Street, north of the busier sections, may get meters as well.

METERS PAID FOR

There are 977 meters in operation now, and they have more than paid for themselves. Last bill on their purchase was cleaned up in July.

Meters last year collected $47,241. City received $23,620 of this amount, the remainder going to the manufacturer. Cost to the city in maintenance was $11,710.

Up to June 30 this year the meters swallowed $21,160. City kept $10,580. After end of July the city keeps all money collected, which averages $4,000 a month before expenses paid.

The money goes into general funds and is not earmarked for any particular work. Police are hoping to get a slice each year for traffic control work.

The boys in blue have a strong argument to offer—an argument which points to more parking pains.

The car population in the Greater Victoria area increased from 14,545 in 1945 to approximately 25,000 this year to the end of July. And commercial vehicles, trucks and buses, added to their numbers, too—3,879 in 1945 to about 8,000 this year.

B.C. Motor Vehicle Branch records indicate continuing increases in the years to come.

Number of cars rose from 14,545 in 1945 to 15,753 in 1946, 18,062 the following year, 19,249 in 1948, last year and 25,000 so far this year. A similar increase in commercial four-wheelers can be shown.

MORE RESTRICTED AREAS

The area of downtown Victoria not covered by parking meters but with restricted parking is bound to grow.

In fact officials already are talking about pushing the restricted zone boundaries out to Hillside Avenue in the north, Quadra and Cook Streets in the east, and Superior Street in the south. The Inner Harbor eliminates westward expansion.

Police Chief John Blackstock is opposed to inflicting further restrictions on motorists but he's not going to have much choice in the matter of extending restricted parking areas, and reducing time limits in existing zones if the car population continues to grow at its present rate.

Shaw To Remain As Head Of Town Planning Group

In a brief letter received at City Hall he said he would accede to the city's request that he reconsider his resignation. Mayor Percy George expressed pleasure at the move.

Mr. Shaw who is chairman of the Town Planning Commission tendered his resignation following what he termed "slanderous" remarks by the two aldermen concerning the drawing up of a lease between the city and the Navy League of Canada over Prince Robert House, 10 years ago.

"I am very happy to learn that Mr. Shaw has seen fit to reconsider his decision," His Worship said.

"I am happy to know he will carry on the very important position which he has filled with courage and dignity."

Must Await Ottawa On Civil Defence

Cities of Canada must wait for a directive from Ottawa on any civil defence set-up, Mayor Percy George said today.

"No community in Canada can set out to do anything without such directive for it cannot be a parochial undertaking."

The mayor was commenting on a resolution received at City Hall today from the Windsor Board of Control asking that the Department of National Defence be urged to establish immediately a national scheme for adoption by cities throughout Canada.

"The mayors of all the cities went on record with a similar resolution at their convention recently and forwarded it to the federal and provincial governments," Mayor George said.

City Artist's Work Attraction At Centre

By AUDREY St.D. JOHNSON

An exhibition of oils, water colors and etchings by Arthur Checkley, well-known Victoria artist, is the major attraction at the Broughton Streets Arts Centre this week.

An artist of deep natural ability, Mr. Checkley has experimented with several techniques in handling his subjects which are exclusively land and seascapes, with particular emphasis on mountain and tree-forms and the sky patterns of cloud and light.

If this were not a one-man show, the viewer would be unlikely to suspect that "Throne Mountain," a water color, "Serenity" and "End of Lake" were the work of the same artist. "Serenity," probably one of the best canvases in the exhibition, simplifies the forms of mountains and trees with a resultant heightening of the effect of calm and majesty. "End of Lake" is one of several paintings in which Mr. Checkley makes use of the vibrant French impressionist technique.

UNUSUAL EXHIBIT

Also showing at the gallery this week is an unusual exhibition by Esme Davis, A.R.C.A. Mrs. Davis, an expert in the art of formal lettering and illumination, has arranged her exhibition to illustrate the history and development of writing and penmanship.

Samples of vellums and tools are shown and several examples of Mrs. Davis' own delightful illuminating and lettering. Also heraldry and reproductions of old and famous pieces. Mrs. Davis studied her art under the late Sir Edward Johnston, C.B.E., who was knighted for his services to the development of caligraphy. Mr. Davis will conduct a class in illumination and formal lettering in connection with the night school courses of the Greater Victoria School Board this fall.

Funeral Held For Mrs. F. Gardiner

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Florence Gardiner, a resident of Victoria since 1886.

Mrs. Gardiner died last Saturday at her Pakington Street home at the age of 79. She was born in Henley-on-Thames, England.

Surviving are her husband, George A. Gardiner; two sons, Grosvenor G., Victoria, and Winston A., Seattle; a daughter, Mrs. Pauline B. Moffat, Victoria; a brother, Fred A. Pauline, Victoria; four sisters, Mrs. Sadie Short, Victoria; Mrs. Marion Williams, Vancouver; Mrs. Violet Lapraik, Etna, Calif.; Mrs. Nellie Hickey, San Mateo, Calif.

WANT WITNESSES

Mrs. M. B. Lax, 398 Constance Avenue, reported to city police Wednesday that while his car was parked on Johnson Street during the holiday week-end the car grill was damaged to the extent of $49 by a truck. Police would like to hear from witnesses.

Mainland Drop In Traffic Not Reflected Here

A heavy drop in passenger traffic which resulted in reduced service in the mainland city is not reflected in Victoria, where only a slight drop is reported.

Queried on a Vancouver report today E. W. Arnott, vice-president, Vancouver Island Branch B.C. Electric, said there was no such drop reflected here and no "reduction in service planned at the moment."

"There has been a slight drop in passenger traffic from week to week but no steady drop," said Mr. Arnott.

"The railway strike as well as other strikes had their effect in the past two weeks."

No major change in schedules is made by the company in Victoria without a request to the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, Mr. Arnott said.

The Vancouver report stated the company had cut its services there without first seeking city council approval.

R.C.M.P. Say Highway Not Crash Cause

R.C.M.P. officers, investigating last Saturday's fatal two-car collision on the Colwood stretch of the Island Highway, today said conditions were not such as to place the blame on the highway.

Two persons were killed. Seven others are still in hospital, one in critical condition.

Traffic was only moderate at the time, the policemen said. Three cars in line about 100 yards apart were going north. Two were coming in the opposite direction.

Time of crash was about 5.40.

At press time today, condition of Dennis Irvine, 15, of Chemainus, was slightly improved. He was still in a critical condition.

He was in the north-bound car driven by his father, Stuart Irvine. Mrs. Irvine was killed and other members of the family still in hospital are Mr. Irvine, David, Donna and Margaret.

In the Victoria-bound car were Donald James Gordon, Parksville, who was killed, and Gordon Stanley Field and Roy Gallop, both of Victoria. Field is slightly improved and in fair condition. Gallop's condition is good. Police have not announced which of the men was driving the car.

Injured are at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Vancouver Rites For Dr. J. E. Griffiths

Funeral services will be held in Vancouver Friday for Dr. J. Ellis Griffiths who died Wednesday at his Victoria home, 3175 Beach Drive. He was 74.

Dr. Griffiths was widely known in Vancouver medical circles. He retired in 1946 to live in Victoria.

He served with the Canadian Medical Corps in the First World War and was a member of the Cambrain Society for many years.

Surviving Dr. Griffiths are two daughters, Mrs. H. A. Wallace, Victoria, and Mrs. R. T. Jackson, Vancouver, and a sister in Wales.

Provincial government has set aside 280,000 acres of property in the Osoyoos district as a summer camp for the Department of Geology at U.B.C.

Removal Of Overhead Wires In Congested Areas Urged

Fire Chiefs Say Shifting To Back Lanes Not Proper Answer

Removal of overhead wiring from congested business, commercial and industrial districts was urged by the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs in convention at the Empress Hotel today.

A resolution passed by the fire chiefs said that substitution of overhead installation in back lanes for front street construction was not a solution, and that the problem could be solved only by gradually placing the wiring underground.

In an address leading up to the resolution, James Arnott, a director of the association, asserted that Canada's fire chiefs were "not asking for the moon" in seeking a long-term solution to the problem.

"We are not asking for some wholesale costly overnight transformation," he said. "We are asking only that a start be made so that 10, 20, 30 or 50 years hence our streets will be relatively free of this hazard and unsightliness."

DANGER TO FIREMEN

Overhead wiring was a handicap and a danger to firemen, he said, but in the past year there had been suggestions that the effect of eliminating it could be brought about by moving poles to back lanes. This, he said, would not lessen the danger of electrocution to firemen.

Reference was made to the Rimouski fire, which began when power lines fell into a lumberyard during a windstorm.

Following a discussion on the subject, delegates agreed that the solution lay not "in half-hearted substituted measures" but in "getting started on a workable plan for gradually placing wiring where it belongs —underground."

Pyromaniacs Blamed For Many Fires

Majority of fires of incendiary origins today were started by pyromaniacs, W. A. Walker, B.C. fire marshal, told delegates attending the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs at the Empress Hotel today.

While there were some people who started fires with definite motives in mind, the majority of arsonists were pyromaniacs who could give no reasons for wilfully damaging property, he said.

He added that some of the most serious fires in B.C. were caused by pyromaniacs.

Another speaker was J. H. DeGraves, ex-chief, B.C. Coast Woods Trade Extension Bureau, Vancouver. He spoke on B.C. plywood and its use in the construction industry today.

Ask Curb Removal

Twelve residents of Vining Street petitioned City Council Wednesday to remove "the barrier" at the intersection of Begbie and Vancouver Streets.

They stated in the petition that the newly-built curb jutted out into Vining and was an obstacle to motorists and an eyesore to pedestrians.

Don Sweater And Skirt For That Teen-Age Look

By PENNY SAVER

Jump into a pair of saddle shoes, a Peter Pan collar, sweater and skirt, and perch a "cord" hat on your noggin and presto, bingo, you're a teen-ager! Although David Brock, in a recent column, seemed a bit upset about teen-agers and the range of ages it includes, you'll find the youngster of 13 to the young miss of 19 in the classic sweater-skirt combinations.

For many years, the all-round or box pleat skirt lead the way as an all-time favorite, but for the past year or two the pencil-slim skirt has edged in to take its place as a close second. Looking over a stock of straight skirts this morning, I found them selling . . . all wool in colors of grey, cinnamon, navy and wine . . . for $6.95, featuring fly fronts and backs.

All wool too, were the box-pleated skirts . . . two pleats in front and one in the back . . . in powder and navy blue, black and brown for $6.75. Authentic clan tartan kilts for the lass with the delicate air, $8.95 and up.

It takes a teen-ager to think up a use for dad's seldom-used sleeveless sweater. Over a white long-sleeved blouse the sleeveless sweaters are trim and neat. In a mixture of Australian wool, cashmere and French angora the sweaters are prepared to take on hard school wear, if you'll pay the $4.95 to own one.

Blouses, with their beloved Peter Pan or pointed collars are yours for the asking at $3.95 and up. Saw a little short-sleeved Peter Pan blouse with pearl buttons to dress it up, for the sum of $4.95.

Under the heading of accessories go processed water repellent head scarfs to keep the bonny brown locks tucked in and dry on stormy days. The sum of 75 pennies is the price and colors include yellow, green, red, blue, acqua and white . . . jaunty cord hats (you can wear them with brims turned up, sailor boy style, or down, the cloche way) to smarten your every day togs in colors of red, wine, green, and brown, $2.98 . . . sweater collars, Peter Pan or pointed, are a must in a young woman's wardrobe. Easily washed and ironed the sharkskin Peter Pan collar is $1.49; pointed, $1.95; pique collars in pink, blue, yellow, $1.49, and in white, $1.29. Some clever person has even thought to put the two collars together. For $1.29 you have both a Peter Pan and pointed collars reversible at your will.

A purse just made to fit into an armload of books are the plastic zippered type. With bright tartan linings the purse complete with comb, mirror, bill fold and pocket . . . $1.69.

See you in the corridors, kids.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One of the privileges a parent possesses is to name her baby. It is a privilege which we feel is often mis-used. For very obvious reasons some names are more preferable than others.

If there is a family given name of long and honorable association, it is fine to pass this on to the first born son. This child then becomes a junior, if his father bears the name, or a second or third if his uncle or grandfather carries it. This is one of those nice evidences of family continuity which can grace anybody's family not just that of royalty.

If there is no such name to add to the family roll the parents should exert some caution about the name they choose. A boy's name can be ludicrous if it is clearly incompatible with a grown man however suitable to a dimpling, rosy baby.

There is a great temptation for the mother to endow her baby girl with some fictional name. Perhaps at an impressionable and romantic age the heroine who has borne it has appealed to the mother. She resuscitates this romantic association by saddling her child with some fanciful made-up name, good enough for a book heroine but out of place in real life.

Authors often cudgel their brains for names which will not duplicate real ones and the mother should not be tempted to imitate them. They seldom add lustre to the poor urchin who must wear them.

Names have rhythm and beauty in themselves according to the number of their syllables. Given names should be harmonious with the surname. Run a name over on the tongue. If both last and first name are too short it may sound abrupt unless leavened by a longer middle name.

Too extremely long names may make such a mouthful as to defy easy speaking. Two names beginning with the same letter are always a good choice and names with the same vowel and with rhythmical syllables (John Yonder, Bill Bison, as illustration) have a certain charm and harmony.

Our leaflet No. 3, "List of Names," offers good names for boys and girls. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

After 15 Years Couple So Miserable Wife Would Leave; Fears Independence, Asks Advice

Dear Mary Haworth: My problem is an unhappy marriage. We have stuck it out for 15 years, and we both are so miserable and nervous now that I feel it is time to give up. I have honestly tried to make a go of it but a labyrinth of faults has developed on both sides.

Mary Haworth

I never dreamed a time would come when I would write to a stranger about a problem; but I have no family, nor any friends so close that I could trust them. You often tell disturbed persons to get help from a psychiatrist, but it is hard to select a specialist, when you don't know any by repute.

I hesitate to leave Carl only because it would put me completely on my own, and I have responsibility for a lovely 13-year-old daughter. Jane knows nothing of the basic trouble, is very happy here, has many friends, a nice home and security.

Carl has said he will give me 50 dollars monthly for support, and if I contest that offer he will quit everything, including his job, and we will lose everything that we have worked for. That illustrates one of his traits that I've had to fight most—an unreasonable attitude of always "getting even" with people, and never any offer to help solve a problem mutually. I can't stand the present set-up any longer; but if we separate, am I wrongly sacrificing my daughter's happiness and maybe even preventing her proper growth? A.P.

DEPENDENT BIAS IS WIFE'S CROSS

Dear A. P.: It seems to me that your letter personifies an overwhelming degree of dependency, and perhaps this is the real source of your deadly exasperation with Carl, and his commensurate irritation with you.

A completely helpless air is implicit in one aspect of your letter, your bland assumption that somehow I shall be able to do your thinking for you in this crisis, and provide for you a constructive decision, even without any data to go on.

It's a very old proverb that "The Lord helps those who help themselves." Inasmuch as you are calling for earnest co-operation in easing personal difficulties, you ought to be willing to work hard at the task of establishing communications. But it seems you are conditioned to "let John do it," as the saying goes; to vaguely proclaim discomfort and need, and then wait limply for heaven—or a husband—or somebody—to take charge.

HEAL THYSELF THEN MOVE ON

I am speaking, of course, of your unconscious emotional constitution; because in surface affairs, say in cooking, cleaning, marketing, you may be aggressively active much of the time. You have an urgent inclination to leave Carl, who is willing to subsidize separation on a modest scale, you say. And yet you hold back because you don't want to be "completely on your own" with Jane; that is, without a partner to be held responsible both for your miseries and your total upkeep.

All things considered, I think you ought to recognize yourself as your major problem; or at least your most immediate problem—and not leave Carl until you've put yourself to rights. Just as you suspect, and try to dodge, you'll need psychiatric help in this endeavor. And it's up to you to discover a choice of reputable specialists in your territory. By checking the telephone book for your local medical society, or asking a leading clergyman for a reliable reference list of psychiatric clinics or doctors, you can get on the right track.

For your social salvation, you need to work towards emotional maturity and psychological insight. Then you'll be able to chart the course that is best for your child. If it means staying with Carl, you will then stay with basic peace of mind, enduring the surface fret philosophically. And if it means parting from him as a therapeutic move, to let wounds heal on both sides, you will go forth with good heart to explore a new field of self reliant experience.

Follow Rules In Choosing Fall Suit

When September rolls around, its suit time.

And there is more to buying a suit than just finding something you like, and something that you think is high fashion.

A suit is the basic part of your wardrobe, around which other additions, accessories of all types and even coats revolve.

There are many different things you must watch.

He points out that there are certain details that spell the difference between a really good suit and one that will be a disappointment. And adds that every woman can learn to watch for and check these fashion guideposts.

He lists first, the style itself of a suit. If it is extreme or too burdened with trimming, it will quickly become dated and will not afford the period of wear that it should. The woman who buys wisely will choose a suit on classic, uncluttered lines that will be smart and attraetive as long as the fabric lasts.

The fabric itself is another point to watch. Today all suits are tagged as to fabric content and that very fact is often misleading, he warns. For the enduring style and wearability of a suit depends as much upon the finish of the fabric—how it was treated before the suit was cut—as upon the fabric content itself.

All suit fabrics should be preshrunk before being cut in order to assure the sizing and fit of the suit. Careless or uneven shrinking can result in a suit that looks beautiful until it goes to the cleaner. On return it bears little resemblance to its original size.

Correct size is another point to watch. Many times a suit will look as if it fits, but because it really fails to do so, will soon lose its shape and with it, its smartness.

A suit should fit closely at the neckline and its collar should lie flat against the neck in back. Shoulders should ride comfortably on the wearers' shoulders and should be just wide enough for the sleeves to start directly at the top of the arm.

If a suit requires costly alterations, it is a very definite sign that it is basically not for you, and should not be purchased.

Attention should be focused on the way in which buttonholes are made, the manner in which the lining was put in, and the size of seams in the skirt.

MAKE MODELS HISTORIC FIGURES

EWELL, Eng. (Reuter) — Modeling the Kings and Queens of England is the fascinating but intricate hobby of 19-year-old Vivienne Price.

Vivienne, with painstaking care, makes her dolls correct to the smallest details. She spends hours in the public libraries looking at old books from which to copy details of dresses and regalia worn by British monarchs and their queens in past times.

She began with Henrietta Anne, sister of Charles II, and continued at the rate of one a month with such historical figures as Queen Elizabeth, Margaret of Anjou, Queen Anne, Henrietta Maria, Elizabeth of York and Queen Charlotte.

"Henry VIII was more trying than his six wives put together," she said. "The trouble was his legs, which unenclosed by female skirts, required a special form of wiring."

Heat a handful of raisins in enough concentrated orange juice to cover them. Remove from heat and allow to cool. Then combine with mayonnaise and toss lightly with finely shredded cabbage.

BABY'S CONSTIPATION SERIOUS IF NEGLECTED

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses, something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ailments of babyhood.

KNITTING IN OFFICE HELPS MORALE

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (Reuter) — Office girls will do their jobs better if they are are permitted to knit and chat openly in the office, F. N. Haden, a British businessman, said recently.

Addressing the British (Scientific) Association, he said he was shocked at first when he entered a large office in Canada and found girls knitting and gossiping.

"I was told that they could not provide work for every girl at every minute of the day," he said. "If the girls were repressed, they only took their knitting off to the ladies' room."

Haden said he thought the method was the right one.

Combine chilled cantaloupe balls with canned fruit cocktail, cover with cold ginger ale and serve either as appetizer or dessert. Use a measuring spoon to cut the melon if you don't have a French ball cutter.

Well-Known American Pair Married In Christ Church

Graduates of universities in California and in Washington were married in a ceremony of far-reaching interest Saturday afternoon in Christ Church Cathedral.

Sorority sisters and fraternity brothers attended the bride, Patricia Eileen Rineheart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Verne Rineheart, Pasadena, and Richard Matthews Oswald, son of Mrs. Hugo Edmund Oswald and the late Judge Hugo E. Oswald, Seattle.

A graduate of U.C.L.A., and affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Kappa Theta (social service honorary) trolls, (activity honorary), the bride was attended by a sextette of attendants.

Little Carolyn Barbara Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Webster, Pasadena, was a dainty miniature of the senior attendants in her role as flower girl.

Their identical full-skirted gowns of ice blue taffeta, touched with American Beauty tones, and arm bouquets of gladioli in American Beauty, were an attractive foil for the lovely bride in white.

French illusion veiling rippled to finger-length over her satin gown mounted with filmy French illusion over the very full skirt.

ORANGES, LEMONS GROW IN MANITOBA

MINNEDOSA, Man. (CP)—The village of Newdale, 20 miles west of here, boasts a woman with an unusual hobby.

Mrs. Morris Lavery is a gardener—but not the usual kind. She grows citrus fruits.

Mrs. Lavery's tropical garden consists of a four-foot orange tree which has so far produced two ripe, rich oranges, and a lemon tree which last year bore a gigantic lemon 11 inches in circumference.

She also had a grapefruit tree which grew so vigorously that she planted it outside. Fall frost destroyed it.

FLORENCE WANTS TO MEET YOU

Florence talks . . . she's full of gas & gab . . . so stuck on herself that she won't shut up for 15 minutes at a time . . . you can't get a word in edgeways . . . over & over again I've heard her say "I'm beautiful . . . I'm streamlined . . . I've a skin U love to touch . . . men love me at first sight . . . I'm not only pretty . . . but practical, too . . . I like to party . . . but I like it in a kitchen better . . . brother . . . AM I EQUIPPED??? I've really got what it takes . . . Hi-lo controls & non-slip open disc tops. And my beauty isn't just skin-deep either . . . I've got a great big tummy lined with porcelain . . . and if I get burnt up inside you can take my glasses off, and wipe away the mist." Yes . . . over & over I've heard "Flo" rave about herself, until I feel like a disc jockey must feel about "Good Nite Irene." I want to gently take Irene . . . I mean Flossie, in my arms, fondle her gently for a moment or so, & then smash her to a million little pieces all over the floor. I would, too, only there isn't time now to "cut another platter," and besides I want you to hear this stuck up dame down at the Bay St. Armories this afternoon or evening, and see some of her other points, like her aeration trays to catch "boil-overs," her nickel-plated oven racks . . . her oven light & her roomy drawers. The thousands of people who met "Flo" yesterday all agreed they wouldn't for a "minute-minder" being around the house all the time. Incidentally Floss has 3 sisters, & they're in the act, too, 'cept that they don't brag at all. Her newest sister nearly didn't get here in time, and if it weren't for the co-operation of the purser on the Vancouver Barge, this latest addition to the family might still be nailed up in her crate down on that jammed packed wharf. Those B.C. Electric fellows, like "Al" & Bob & Herb & Bill & Archie got busy, too . . . and so did Bill Heaney & his careful drivers, and at the last second this gorgeous 5-burner job got her tape pulled off, dusted, & was lovingly set down beside her loud-mouthed sister in the green & yellow room we had reserved at the Bay St. Armories.

HUMBER'S

P.S.—The door prizes—the best ever . . . This may be your lucky day. C'mon down and say hello to Florence. Say hello, that is, if you can shut her up long enuff.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Benny To Try Television May Abandon Radio Field

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Benny announced today he is going to take the big jump into television.

The fiddle-murdering comedian will make his regular television debut Oct. 29. The show will be for his radio sponsor and he will do three others this season, at intervals of eight weeks. I asked him how he had picked his timing.

"I have to go to New York for the television shows," he explained. "That means I will have to tape-record my airshow a week in advance so I can get away. If I tried to do this every four weeks it would be too much. So my sponsor and I agreed on every eight weeks."

DEBUT LAST YEAR

Last year Benny made his TV debut on a program to dedicate a local station. He views his new program with this philosophy:

"I don't say that I'm going to be any better than anyone else on television, but, on the other hand, I see no reason why I should be any worse, either."

What about the format?

"I'll do an hour-long show. It will be variety entertainment with perhaps a scene from my radio program. . . .

"People tell me that television is a completely new medium. I don't think so. I'm going to give them the same kind of entertainment I do on stage appearances. It's the same type of show I used to do at the Orpheum in vaudeville days."

TV FUTURE

Benny foresees the day when he will give up radio entirely.

"It would be hard to do both radio and TV and make both of them good," he said. "And perhaps radio will not be able to afford a show like mine. After all, the others on my show are stars in their own right and have their own shows."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Generous George doesn't always make a speech when he is playing a hand. He can be just as quiet as the next player, even when he is up to his usual tricks.

In the hand shown today, for example, George kept very quiet. West led the queen of diamonds and George played low from the dummy. It occurred to him that West might be underleading the ace, but he dismissed the possibility as practically absurd.

Opening lead—♦ Q

George relaxed a trifle when East played the nine of diamonds on the first trick. One reason he hadn't made any speeches about letting the opponents win the first trick was that he was afraid of giving the defenders ideas.

West continued diamonds and George ruffed. George drew trumps, cashed dummy's top clubs and then ruffed dummy's last diamond.

"You may have this trick, sir," he said to West with a slight bow, "as a small token of my very great esteem." So saying, he discarded a low heart from the dummy.

West glared at George but could do nothing to defeat him. If he led spades, George would win a trick with the king. If West led anything else, George would ruff while dummy discarded another spade.

The reason George made no speeches at the first trick was that East could have defeated the contract by overtaking his partner's queen of diamonds and shifting to spades at once. East had no way of knowing that this remarkable play was needed to defeat the contract, but he might have seen the light if George had done any talking.

It was very unwise of West to play the queen of clubs on the third round of that suit. If West had played the 10 of clubs, George would probably assume that East had the queen of clubs. George would then ruff the jack of clubs in dummy and return a spade, intending to play low spades from both hands in the hope that West would win the spade trick.

Actually, of course, no such plan would have succeeded. If George had ruffed the third round of clubs in dummy, the opponents would have won three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Canada's Fruit Crops Below Totals Of 1949

OTTAWA (CP)—Though prospects have improved slightly during the last month, Canada's fruit crops this year will be down from a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday in its third estimate of fruit production in Canada.

All tree-fruit and grape crops showed improvement, with the exception of apples and pears. The apple and pear crops are estimated to be 3 per cent lighter than that anticipated in July.

The apple crop, currently set at 15,209,000 bushels, will be 16 per cent below the 1949 harvest of 18,151,000. The drop is expected to result from poorer prospects in Nova Scotia, where high winds and severe scab infestation have reduced both the size and quality of the fruit.

The crops in Ontario and British Columbia showed some improvement during the month. Prospects in New Brunswick and Quebec remained unchanged.

Oak Bay Council Wednesday night authorized purchase of a new compressor for rock blasting and decided to offer their old one for sale.

Building By-law Ordered Amended

An amendment to the Saanich Building By-law was ordered by the council Tuesday night to prohibit use of planer shavings for insulation purposes.

This was recommended by Building Inspector J. S. Taylor and Fire Chief Joheph Law. Both considered the shavings highly dangerous.

TRICK OF RED KOREANS ENDS WITH 50 SLAIN BY U.S. FORCE

ON THE MASAN FRONT (AP)—Fifty North Koreans in a pocket behind the U.S. lines put up their hands as a sign of surrender Wednesday.

American infantrymen had an interpreter shout for them to come in.

When the smoke cleared the attempt had failed.

All 50 North Koreans were killed. There were no American casualties.

Luscious Jams, Livestock Reveal Bounty Of District

Food, Food Everywhere But Not A Bite To Eat At Cobble Hill Fair

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

That seems heresy but it's true . . . there is food all round you. Tables are laden with the apples, the firmest tomatoes, the most mouth-watering pies and cakes you ever laid eyes on but—only the judges get a bite of it.

The 41st annual fall fair at Cobble Hill Wednesday afternoon, staged by the Shawnigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society, was no exception.

Men, women and children brought the best their fields, orchards and country kitchens could produce, from the giant marrows and cabbage to the home-made bread, jams and jellies. But if you arrived hungry, you left the same way.

Dr. Wallace Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner, officially declared the fair open and told the folk nature had been good to Cobble Hill.

"I am favorably disposed to small country fairs for you get a true picture of the local community," he said. "You are given the privilege of taking a peep into the homelife of the community."

NO ZOOT SUITERS

He told the gathering, 'Busy hands make for clean minds" and added: "You don't see zoot suiters in this area."

He praised the dairying industry of the district, referred to the fine horses and said the quality and quantity of exhibits were excellent this year. There were some 700 entries in all classes, according to Miss M. Melrose, secretary.

In the big community hall, women flocked to touch gingerly a cut loaf of bread, eye the lush lemon pie of their next-farm neighbor, and compare notes on the preserved fruit, fish and vegetables.

When they do up scarlet runner beans for exhibit, they are arranged in the jars in a neat row. Cucumbers and pickle are alternately placed in the pickle jars. Little is left to chance when these show pieces are prepared. Mrs. Frank Reed of Saltair had a tough assignment selecting firsts and seconds from the domestic science entries.

GROOMED FOR SHOW

"She's just in the middle of growing—they caught her with long legs," grinned 15-year-old Carolyn Pearson ruefully as she petted the Jersey calf which did not quite come off with a prize.

Over in another corner of the field Dorylee Standring, 12, was whipping her two sows into shape.

"Oh, the're not much trouble, except you have to feed and clean and brush them," the only girl member of the Cobble Hill Junior Swine Club remarked. "No, I don't mind the smell."

YOUTHFUL EXPERT

"Don't bother me, either," chimed in bright-eyed Bobby Calderwood, 11, who showed his first pigs in a fair when he was eight years old.

Speaking as a veteran, he told of the two pigs he had in the show and the fun it was to go around from fair to fair. Duncan is next on his list.

Banking on her two grade Jerseys, Maidie and Judy, to bring home a prize was 17-year-old Thelma Wade, who with her mother, Mrs. D. Wade, operates a farm on the Mill Bay-Shawnigan Road. She had already taken a first with her general-purpose horse "Bershie."

Harold Brooks judged the registered jerseys while J. B. Edwards handled the swine, sheep and cattle. Bert Young looked after the field crops and Miss B. Palmer assisted in the domestic science judging. E. W. White, superviser horticulturist with the Department of Agriculture, judged the vegetables.

Mrs. H. Sibbald took a first prize with her dark fruit cake while Mrs. H. R. Cavin of Cobble Hill, won hers for a delicious-looking apple pie. Scott potatoes won a first for E. W. Blake of Cowichan Station. Miss B. Cavin of Duncan took a first for many entries, including a selection of more than a dozen vegetables.

W. J. Jennings was first for a fall apple and R. Moulton, first for his winter apples.

Committee members in charge of fair were: R. R. Boulton, president; S. Wallace, vice-president; Miss M. Melrose, secretary-treasurer, and T. Standring, J. Askham, A. F. Motherwell, R. Bewell and C. B. Meredith, directors.

In the American Civil War the union suffered 110,070 dead compared with the Confederacy's losses of 74,524.

There have been 26 bank failures in Canada since Confederation, the last in 1923.

Petition from G. H. Davis, 1935 Bowker Place, and 16 other persons, complaining about a recent route change for Willows buses, was turned over to the transportation committee for investigation by Oak Bay Council Wednesday night.

The petition charged, "as things are today we have never had such an unsatisfactory and utterly unreliable service."

MARKET REVIEW

Stocks Start Comeback At Toronto

TORONTO — Mild buying support pushed market leaders slightly higher in active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Signs of recovery from Wednesday's setback appeared in mid-session as a few key stocks rolled up fractional gains to reduce heavy losses.

Industrials appeared to be making the best comeback of any group.

MONTREAL—Most securities lined up behind minus signs on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market, following Wednesday's heavy drop.

An early wave of selling drove prices fractions to a point lower. However, trading slowed down near the final hour as selling pressure eased and many issues shortened their losses or turned them into small gains.

Interest in the carriers perked up and for a while it seemed likely a decisive advance was shaping up. There was little follow-through to the buying, however, and most gains were below $1 a share.

Oak Bay Council took time out from serious municipal business Wednesday night to talk of golf.

Council members were well pleased that Oak Bay player Jim Squires took the B.C. amateur golf championship early in the week and voted to send him a message of congratulations.

Firemen poured water on smouldering structure for 24 hours. Streetcar was caught in the maze of hoses.—(CP Photo)

ALBERTA OIL REPORT

Big Valley May Be Top Producing Area

By C. V. MYERS

CALGARY—The Big Valley district, 18 miles south of the Stettler oil field obtained prospects of becoming another top producing area in Alberta this week as Canadian Gulf Oil Company got a Devonian oil flow at its Big Valley No. 7 wildcat.

The new discovery, located four miles southwest of Big Valley town, flowed oil from what is believed to be the D2 zone during a test from 5,237 to 5,252 feet. A natural gas flow made the surface four minutes after the tester was opened, followed 11 minutes later by the oil, which was allowed to run for 35 minutes before being cut off as storage facilities were filed.

Coring has been colntinued below 5,252 feet, and it is likely that further testing will be carried out to determine the D2 water line. On the way down, the Big Valley well hit natural gas flows of around a million cubic feet per day in Viking and Lower Cretaceous.

To the north in the Stettler field, Gulf now has a dozen mixed D2 and D3 zone producers, with another currently drilling.

Canadian Superior Oil of California has made its second Alberta gas strike within a few weeks. The new discovery at Youngstown, 120 miles east and slightly north of Calgary, is Canadian Superior Crown No. 1-5.

After drilling to the Devonian and failing to find production, the well was plugged back to the Viking and Lower Cretaceous, where gas had been hit on the way down. During a half-hour test of the interval 2,883 to 2,892 feet, a natural gas flow of maximum 3,108,000 cubic feet daily hit the surface in a minute. Casing has now been run to 3,510 feet and further testing is under way.

Canadian Superior's other recent natural gas discovery was Liebing No. 1, located 15 miles east of the Stettler field.

The latest test conducted at the well, at 5,090 feet, was misrun, but it is believed that the water line has not yet been reached.

HERE'S HOW TO KEEP 'EM HOME IN THE EVENING

Under the Community Chest's scheme to blanket the city with canvassers on the evening of Oct. 2, it is expected almost all citizens will be in their homes at the 7 p.m. "zero hour."

When the plan to make it a one-night drive this year was announced to a large group of businessmen Wednesday, one quipped:

"Here my wife has been trying to find a way to keep me at home at night for years and the Community Chest comes up with an idea which is far better than anything she ever thought of!"

BUT ACT NOW...
Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.
Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.
All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.
It is not wise to be A MAN WITHOUT A WILL

IN MEMORIAMS

RAYMOND—In loving memory of our dear Phil, who passed away Sept. 7, 1946.

As we sit by your grave in the evening
When all is quiet and still,
The smooth soft roll, as the tide goes out,
And the sunset's o'er the hills.
The path we travel, many times,
That leads to our boy so dear
We seem to see, through a mist of tears
The boy we loved, and miss through the years.
Could we but hear, his loving voice
And see his smiling face.
The aching of our hearts would cease,
—Fondly remembered, Dad and Mum.

RAYMOND—In loving memory of Phil Raymond, who passed away Sept. 7, 1946.

Loved in life,
Remembered in death,
Treasured in memory,
As one of the best.
—Ever remembered by his Uncle Joe Williams.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE
FREEMAN OF LONDON

In last week's papers, you, the general public, were informed that, due to increased selling and advertising costs, the rates of Auctioneers' commissions must be increased to 15%. . . . this actually means that, with the added 2½% to the regular 12½%, you are told that the cost of selling your goods by auction, will actually cost you 20% MORE.

I, the above-named Qualified Auctioneer and Appraiser, with over 40 years of selling experience in Great Britain and the American Continent and deny being a party to this unwarranted and unnecessary increase in a service which, even at the ordinary rates, is, in my opinion, a profitable profession, tho' the cost of advertising has risen slightly.

THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN THAT

To you good people who contemplate disposing of your better things such as Jewelry, Autos, Real Estate, Power Boats, Household Effects, Pianos, Carpets, Machine Tools, etc., etc., it will definitely pay you to "LET FREEMAN HANDLE IT."

Reds Fail To Oust Envoy Of South Korea

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Russia made another unsuccessful effort today to exclude South Korea's ambassador, John M. Chang, from United Nations discussions on Korea.

The Soviet move was made by Jakob A. Malik, Russian delegate, immediately after the Security Council met this morning to take up a Soviet resolution seeking to end what Russia calls "inhuman and barbarous" bombing attacks on North Korea.

Malik said this resolution did not concern Chang in any way, since the "Syngman Rhee clique" and Gen. Douglas MacArthur are not victims of the bombing but aggressors and "have no place here."

Council President Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain ruled that the council already had decided that Chang had a right to take part in the Korean discussions. Malik did not make a formal challenge.

It was this issue of Korean representation that tied up the council in a procedural stalemate for the whole month of August, while Malik was president.

The council took up the Soviet bombing resolution after Russia used her 44th veto yesterday to prevent a U.S.-sponsored ban on aid to North Koreans. Malik faced certain defeat on his move to call a halt to the American bombings.

Allies Digging In Nearer To Taegu

Whole 50-Mile Northern Front Breaks Out Into Fierce Action

TOKYO (UP)—U.S. and South Korean defenders, squeezed into an area about half the size of Connecticut, set up new lines only seven miles from Taegu today (Friday) in the face of the greatest sustained Communist drive of the war.

Taegu was within range of enemy artillery fire from both west and north.

British United Press correspondent Robert Bennyhoff reported from Kyongju, 17 miles below fallen Pohang, that the Reds had launched a heavy attack shortly before midnight seven to eight miles north of Kyongju.

Bennyhoff reported intense small arms fire and fighting across the rice paddies and rugged mountains which line both sides of a dry river bed three miles south of Angang. It is at that point on the western end of the northern front that the Americans and South Koreans have set up their new defence lines.

The defenders had been anticipating the new Red drive down the valley as soon as they could regroup after last week-end's successful attack which threw the South Korean capital division out of Kigye and Angang.

Elsewhere on the northern front, the South Korean 6th Division threw back an attack on its right sector, west of Yongchon. Delayed front reports said the attack cost the Reds 1,000 men in dead or wounded.

YONGCHON HELD

The South Korean 8th Division was attacking to the east northeast against the North Korea 15th Division from a point four miles north of Yongchon. Yongchon, about midway between Taegu and Pohang on the Taegu-Pohang highway, still was in allied hands. The enemy took it once but lost it.

American B-26's struck at an enemy tank concentration at dusk Wednesday, just west of Uihung, 20 miles north of Taegu. The air force said that of 21 tanks sighted in the area, three were knockout and many damaged.

In the last two days, U.S. fighters and bombs have claimed 61 Communist tanks destroyed or damaged.

The U.S. 24th Division and South Korean forces chipped away at the Communist positions in the northeast front. An 8th Army communique said they 'continued their fight to re-establish a firm defensive line west of Pohang." But the advance was "slow and difficult against a heavily - resisting enemy," it added.

NEW PATTON TANKS

Led by new 46-ton Patton tanks, the Yanks reported overall gains up to five miles north of Kyongju, the strategic transport centre blocking a wide valley leading straight down to Pusan.

The South Korean Capital Division attacked in the valley southwest of Pohang and regained some high ground it lost to a pre-dawn Communist attack.

The 8th Army reported that on the Taegu front, where the Communists pressed a battle arc within 10 miles both north and southwest, the 1st U.S. Cavalry Division beat off two attacks four miles northwest of Waegan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu.

At the southern end of the Korean line, the U.S. 25th Division wiped out a wedge the Communists had driven into its front line during strong probing thrusts all along that front. Field dispatches reported the penetration and the 8th Army said the G.I.'s counter-attacked after being driven back and reclaimed their positions.

B.C. Horsemen Protest Plan To Cut Purses

Fate of Vancouver's extra 14 days of horse racing will be decided tonight at a meeting of the Horsemen's Protective Association at Exhibition Park according to K. R. Darbyshire.

The Victoria trainer and owner, president of the Association who flew to the mainland city this afternoon to attend the meeting told the Times before he left horsemen will protest a proposed 30 per cent cut in purses for the balance of the season.

Figures of the mutuel total as given by Exhibition Park operators are questioned by the horse owners, Darbyshire said.

"They announced the take as $3,200,000 for the season," he said. "According to our estimates the actual figure was $3,550,500. We should like to know how they arrived at their figure and on what basis they are going to arrive at a decision as to what purses they can afford to pay."

Horsemen will stand for no drastic cut in purses unless justification therefor is clearly established, he intimated.

Hospitals Ask Freedom From Govt. Control

VANCOUVER (CP) — A plan to protect the autonomy of the B.C. Hospital Association from government interference was disclosed today by Percy Ward, executive secretary.

It involves a "complete change" of by-laws to permit a general tightening and strengthening of the association.

Mr. Ward said the scheme would bring doctors, nurses, technicians and other hospital personnel into the B.C.H.A. as specific groups and would establish specified divisions of the association throughout the province.

Mr. Ward, who disclosed the new plan in an address before the Canadian Society of Radiological Technicians' Convention, said government-operated hospitals and private hospitals not now belonging to the association would be invited to join.

There now are 76 hospitals in the association.

"B.C.H.A. while accepting the principal of hospital insurance has not and never will sell its birthright for a mess of pottage," said Mr. Ward.

"Rulings are being whipped through now where the government has not had the advice of the people running the hospitals," he stated, following the convention session. "We are concerned about this trend.

Rejects Russian Demand To Order Halt To Air Attacks On North Korea; Vote 9 To 1

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today rejected a Russian demand that it order the United States to halt air attacks on North Korea.

The vote came after the United States had denied Soviet charges of indiscriminate bombing and countered with charges of North Korean atrocities.

The vote on the Soviet proposal was 9 to 1, with only Russia voting for it. Yugoslavia abstained.

Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik said he "considers illegal and unfair the fact that the majority of the Security Council rejected the resolution. The responsibility for the consequences of this action will lie with the delegations who voted against the Soviet resolution."

Before the vote the United States told the council it had indisputable proof that the North Koreans had shot in cold blood unarmed and bound prisoners of war. The charge was made by U.S. delegate Ernest A. Gross.

Salem Ball Club For Sale Again

SALEM (AP) — The Salem Senators of the Western International Baseball League are for sale again.

Business manager George Emigh said the parent Portland Beavers either want to sell the club or transfer it to another city because of poor attendance the last two seasons. The Senators are at the bottom of the league.

The Beavers tried to sell the club to a group of Salem citizens last winter, but they couldn't agree on the price. Now, nobody around here seems interested in buying the team.

More Planes, Ships, To Be Sent To B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said this afternoon Canada's Pacific coast defences are being strengthened through the addition of an R.C.A.F. maritime squadron, fighter planes, radar stations and destroyers. The west coast strength in destroyers will be doubled.

Answering a question from J. L. Gibson (Ind.-Comox-Alberni), Mr. Claxton said this about Pacific coast defences:

1. Mustang or Vampire fighters are being dispatched to Vancouver's reserve fighter squadron and it will be "greatly increased" in strength.

2. A large reserve R.C.A.F. radar unit is being established at Vancouver and there will be "some additional" radar stations built in British Columbia.

3. An R.C.A.F. maritime—coastal patrol and anti-submarine—squadron will be formed at once in British Columbia. There already is one on the east coast, flying Lancasters.

4. Two destroyers will be moved from the east coast to the west coast to take the place of those sent to Korea. A third destroyer will be activated from the west coast reserve fleet.

This would mean that six destroyers will actually be in Pacific waters. It is not known when the three in Korea will have to be replaced. That would depend on the action they saw.

Mr. Claxton said a new air force field will be activated in Alberta soon to take care of the air crew training for British and Canadian pilots.

Mr. Claxton said a reserve air squadron for Victoria remains a possibility. Comprehensive study to the situation there had been given by the R.C.A.F., but it was a case of the air force having to decide on an across-the-country basis where reserve squadrons could best be based.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Peakes, V.C. (P.C.-Nanaimo) said it will be a bitter disappointment to Victoria that a squadron will not be formed there but was glad to see the possibility still remained.

Robert Fair (S.C.-Battle River, Alta.) said Wainwright, Alta., is suffering from a housing shortage. Many officers stationed at the military camp nearby would like to bring their families there.

Mr. Claxton said the subject is getting "very active consideration."

Boston Drops Yanks, Moving 1 1-2 Games Back

BOSTON (AP) — Walt Dropo smacked two home runs today as the Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 10 to 8 and moved to a game and a half behind the New Yorkers in the tight American League race.

Ted Williams, who suffered a broken elbow in the July all-star game, made his first appearance since that game in the fifth inning. He was walked as a pinch-hitter as the crowd booed.

FOUR STAR FINAL

U.N. Forces Soon Will Gain, Says Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman expressed belief today United Nations forces in Korea will make up for temporary setbacks before the week is over.

He told a press conference there had been no material change in the main front line in Korea.

A reporter, mindful of reports of setbacks at the front, asked him "since when." Since the last 10 days, Mr. Truman replied.

Another reporter commented that a lot of people seem to think ground is being lost by U.N. troops under heavy attacks by North Korean forces.

Mr. Truman said the U.N. troops were being pushed back at certain points, that certain points had crashed.

But, he said, the North Koreans are being thrust back toward their former lines and he felt this object would be accomplished before the week is ended.

He said he based his optimism on his daily briefings by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and was not attempting to pose as an armchair strategist.

The Price Of Freedom

If Canadians are to meet their fair share of responsibility in the present international crisis, they must pay their way. This was the message inherent in the emergency budget presented to Parliament in Ottawa this evening by Finance Minister Douglas Abbott.

Canada is committed to the largest defence expenditures in peacetime history. Our bill for Korean preparations for this year alone is estimated at $50,000,000. The whopping defence appropriations bill introduced earlier this week ran close to a billion dollars, half of it for defence research. For immediate needs the navy requires $30,000,000, the army $54,000,000, and the air force $58,000,000.

Few Canadians will quibble with the proposition that these measures must be implemented on a pay-as-we-go basis, rather than allowing them to pile up into an insurmountable debt. The eminent soundness of this policy was well demonstrated by Canada in World War II.

In his "baby budget" (a not-unhealthy baby, at that) tonight, Mr. Abbott hit us where we expected to be hit—in luxury items and certain non-essentials. We can take it. It may well be that we will be hit harder next year. We can take that, too. This country has never shirked its responsibilities in the pinch.

More Ships, Planes Ticketed For Coast

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said this afternoon Canada's Pacific coast defences are being strengthened through the addition of an R.C.A.F. maritime squadron, fighter planes, radar stations and destroyers. The west coast strength in destroyers will be doubled.

Answering a question from J. L. Gibson (Ind.-Comox-Alberni), Mr. Claxton said this about Pacific coast defences:

4. Two destroyers will be moved from the east coast to the west coast to take the place of those sent to Korea. A third destroyer will be activated from the west coast reserve fleet.

HON. BROOKE CLAXTON.

This would mean that six destroyers will actually be in Pacific waters. It is not known when the three in Korea will have to be replaced. That would depend on the action they saw.

They would be replaced by an equivalent naval force, but not necessarily entirely of destroyers.

Mr. Claxton said a new air force field will be activated in Alberta soon to take care of the air crew training for British and Canadian pilots.

Finance Minister Abbott

Liquor, Candy, Autos Among Items Boosted

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott tonight unveiled an anti-inflationary budget which stepped up the tax rate on corporations and semi-luxury commodities, but left the personal income tax structure unchanged.

He clamped a new 30 per cent tax on the lucrative soft drink, candy and chewing gum trade and announced new 15 per cent levies for electrical household appliances and a variety of sporting goods items.

Taxes on motor cars, tires and tubes are among those boosted.

Liquor and beer taxes also are increased.

This off-season baby budget, Mr. Abbott frankly told the Commons, is designed to ward off developing inflationary pressures and meet the costs of Canada's stepped-up defence program for the current fiscal year.

He was budgetting for a surplus of $15,000,000, with revenues now estimated at $2,669,000,000 and expenditures at $2,654,000,000. The new taxes would yield $58,900,000 in the remainder of this fiscal year and $189,500,000 during a full year.

While he underlined the dangers of inflation, Mr. Abbott turned down suggestions that a general system of price ceilings and controls be reintroduced.

He also opposed revival of excise profits taxes.

Taegu Street Battle Looms

G.I.'s Fall Back To New Defence Lines Near City

TOKYO, Friday (UP)—Communist forces drove within artillery range of Taegu today and threw a big but brief attack against the "Fire Alley" valley at the other end of the 40-mile northern front in Korea.

In their third withdrawal in 48 hours, troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division pulled back to a new defence line only seven miles north of Taegu, central hinge of the United Nations defence line.

As the Americans fell back a mile or more, the Reds got within artillery range of the city from the north.

The G.I.'s in Taegu prepared to defend the city street by street if necessary.

At the opposite end of the northern front a major North Korean attack was opened against the South Korean Capitol Division guarding the valley to Pusan at midnight. But after a heavy downpour the Communist assault unexpectedly subsided early this morning.

Usually the enemy effort is increased during bad weather, which hampers the American air attacks, but this morning they broke off their offensive without gaining ground.

United Press correspondent Robert Bennyhoff reported from the front that an enemy attack on the U.N. right flank bordering on the sea south of Pohang also ceased during the rain, which slowed the air war this morning.

Up to 84,000 North Koreans with up to 84 tanks were now committed to the greatest and most sustained offensive of the war in an attempt to take Taegu and drive down the east coast valley to Pusan.

Thousands of enemy troops infiltrated behind the United Nations lines at key points all the way from Kyongju to Taegu in a new and dangerous threat.

Enemy troops also made small-scale attacks along the Naktong River, the western border of the U.N. perimeter, and on the southern front west of Masan, probing for weak spots.

Steel Co. Told Volunteer His Seniority Gone

OTTAWA (CP)—Recruits for the special Korean force will be given legal protection for re-establishment in their civilian jobs, Defence Minister Claxton told the Commons today.

He gave this information after M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, read a letter from the Steel Company of Canada to one of its employees who enlisted, advising him that he had lost his seniority with the company.

Mr. Claxton said a bill which he is to introduce later this session, and which will be retroactive to July 5, will give members of the Korean force the same rights as to rehiring and retention of seniority in civilian jobs as were enjoyed by soldiers in the Second World War.

Mr. Coldwell said the letter, sent Aug. 17 by registered mail, would "interfere with other employees joining up." It was sent by the company's "employment department."

Detroit Climbs Back Up Ladder

By STEVE ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press)

Detroit Tigers regained first place in the American League race Thursday as they staged an uphill battle to tie Cleveland Indians 13-13 in a 10-inning slugfest called by darkness.

The game wound up with Lefty Chuck Stobbs, the sixth Boston pitcher, coming in with the bases loaded and two out and ruining Johnny Hopp's first bid for American League fame.

Hopp, a .340-slugger before he was sold by Pittsburgh to the Yankees this week, worked Stobbs for a 3-2 count and then ended the game by taking a third strike.

The Red Sox blasted Allie Reynolds for four runs in the third inning and a fifth tally in the next frame. Dropo's double accounted for half of the first scoring explosion.

In the fifth, Phil Rizzuto lashed a three-run homer to set off a six-run explosion. The Yankees sent 11 to the plate in that big inning.

Dropo's 31st homer, a single by Al Zarilla and bases on balls to Bobby Doerr and pinch-hitter Ted Williams with two on boosted the Bosox into a 7-6 lead in the bottom of the fifth.

Businessmen Pleased With 'Mild' Budget

News that the Excess Profits tax is not to be re-imposed at this time "will be welcome news to all Victoria businessmen," according to G. Fitzpatrick (Pat) Dunn, local chartered accountant, interviewed on the new budget this evening.

"The news is particularly good in this inflationary period, when working capital requirements are so great," said Mr. Dunn.

"Generally speaking, the budget is somewhat more generous than we anticipated. It appears that Mr. Abbott may have had his tongue in his cheek when he made his estimate of revenues in the spring.

"Naturally the news that personal income taxes are not increased will be well received by the average householder."

MARINES CHEER TRUMAN

Comes In Person To Explain His Boner

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman made an unheralded visit to the Marine Corps League's meeting today and expressed hope there will never be "another misunderstanding" between him and the Marines.

It was a personal and emphatic follow-up to his apology of Wednesday for his earlier "unfortunate" words about the fighting corps.

The League gave him a standing ovation and applauded furiously when he said, with a grin:

"You succeeded in enticing me over here."

With his mind obviously on the furore over his description of the Marines as a "police force" with "a propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's," Truman said:

"There are incidents that some time appear almost as if it was the end of the world at the time," but that eventually turn out to be for the good of the country.

Then he added, that when he makes a "mistake, I try to correct it."

Truman had apologized in a letter Wednesday.

RUSH ON TO BEAT BUDGET

Victorians rushed today to buy up items believed due for higher taxation with the new budget today.

The run was for automobiles, refrigerators, furniture and silverware, dealers said.

"We've had our busiest day this year, said one auto dealer and we haven't got a car in the place now."

BRAINS AND WAR

IF LIKE ME, you happen to have been born 30 years too soon, you will share my growing disquietude at the increasing number of gadgets being invented to replace humans and human functions. Scarcely a day passes that word doesn't come of some new scientific robot designed to do things that it used to take man to do.

Latest addition to the list is the new mechanical brain just unveiled at the National Bureau of Standards Institute for Numerical Analysis at the University of California. What this product of that awe-sounding outfit does reads like a modern version of Jules Verne plus the Arabian Nights, plus the sort of nightmare one might expect after eating Russian crab and Limberger cheese by a full moon.

ROBOT GENIUS

ACCORDING to the creators, this new robot genius is an electronic calculator capable, among other things, of simultaneously solving 150 algebraic equations, involving 4,000,000 arithmetic operations, in four hours of computing time.

As the fastest calculator of its type in the world—so say the inventors—the machine can perform 2,604 multiplications or 16,625 additions in the time it takes a human to say "multiplication." And as one who, in the long-ago days when I went to school was allergic to both algebra and arithmetic—and still is—let me add that is a heck of a lot of arithmetic!

GREATER EFFECT

IT IS ALSO claimed that had this machine been perfected during World War Two, artillery rockets could have been used with greater effect—presumably on the enemy. Incidentally, the machine could then have done in a month the compiling of rocket-firing tables which took hundreds of girls a year and a half to work out—which wouldn't have been so good for the girls, either.

The claim is also made that no Einstein could compete with the campus robot in solving equations relating to the explosive powers of atomic bombs, and computing the trajectories of guided missiles. It will also be able to solve innumerable mathematical problems involved in the designing of new airplanes and ships and their predicted performance.

CAN TRANSLATE, TOO

AS IF THOSE wonders weren't enough, the mechanical brain can translate a foreign language into English and vice versa—roughly, it is admitted, and not much better than a school boy could do in a language exam with the aid of a 'pony'.

With all those accomplishments to its credit, S.W.A.C., as the machine is known—an abbreviation of National Bureau of Standards Western Automatic Computer—still hasn't been able to invent something which would shorten tongue-teasing titles by some other method than just reducing them to initials.

WHAT ABOUT PREVENTION

WHAT'S MORE, to my perhaps jaundiced eyes, it is but another addition to the scientific gadgets which mean not only the cutting down of human effort in the sense of work-hours but in an even worse sense—for it is designed to make war weapons and methods more deadly effective than ever, and to pile horror upon horror for those on the receiving end.

Probably because I am brainless, I can't understand why somebody doesn't devote as much time, money and research as has gone into the development of SWAC and other war machines to the development of a robot which would have brains enough to work out an infallible method of preventing war? For, to date, the human brain seems to have failed lamentably to measure up to the task. And, if many more mechanical brains are invented, the human kind will become so atrophied from disuse that soon more people than ever will be born without brains at all.

Community Business Leaders Hear Chest Plans

Construction Brisk At Cowichan As Stores, Offices, Homes Go Up

LAKE COWICHAN — A brisk pace of new construction is evident in the village of Lake Cowichan with work well under way on many buildings and preparation for further proposed construction started.

In the South Shore Road area, Fred Reed is constructing a building that will house two stores and a billiard hall and barber shop. Harry McKinley is continuing work on another business building and the Lake Cowichan Consumers' Co-operative Society has almost completed construction of their store on the South Shore Road.

Residential construction is also on the increase with new homes scattered throughout the village.

H. E. Smith is making progress on his building in the area for a confectionery and billiards business.

Work has resumed on the theatre on the North Shore Road at Lake Cowichan, and it is expected that first movies will be presented there this fall.

Biggest construction job here at present is the six-room addition to Lake Cowichan High School. This will allow for additional class room space, locker space and science facilities.

The British-America Oil Co. has started clearing operations at the site of their proposed oil storage station, and the forestry department will start soon on their proposed building on Cowichan Lake Road.

Rev. J. H. Maunsell of the Cowichan Anglican Mission reports that first Sunday School classes may be held in the new Anglican Church on Cowichan Avenue this month.

Construction is expected to start this fall or early spring on still another business building on the South Shore Road.

It is expected that next spring two new bridges will cross the Cowichan River in the downtown area—a foot bridge, and a highway bridge replacing the present wooden span.

Village Commissioners W. F. Grosskleg, Walter Tiesu and Ernie Towle decided recently that a new section of sidewalk will be laid in the South Shore business area. Surveys have been completed for a 60-volt transmission line from Duncan to Cowichan Lake by the B.C. Power Commission.

Subtle Psychology Justified To Aid Less Fortunate Of Victoria

Is subtle "blackmail" justified when it means 17 organizations engaged in welfare work will benefit from it, and, in turn, pass on this benefit to the less fortunate in Greater Victoria?

Community Chest officials think it is. They have tossed in a bit of practical psychology for this year's campaign:

At 7 in the evening on Oct. 2, householders will turn on their porch lights as a signal for a canvasser to call for a contribution. And doubtless those inhabiting houses which are conspicuous by their darkness will hasten to get their lights on, too.

At a meeting attended by 50 businessmen at the Beach Drive home of Russell Horton Wednesday, representatives of all local service clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, radio stations, newspapers and every means of advertising pledged whole-hearted backing of the unique scheme.

The "Lights On" campaign will do away with the former month-long efforts to raise money. The comparatively uninteresting reports of how much of the objective still remains to be collected will disappear, as will the task of canvassing workers on the job, which has been a bugbear among employers.

Billboard, newspaper and radio advertising, store-cards, auto-bumper cards and post office cancellations will tell Victorians to "Stay Where You Live Until You Give."

"There is no one in Victoria who cannot spare three hours in one evening to put this drive over. It will be almost the only thing going on in the city on Oct. 2. We're not talking about 'trying' to reach our $181,000 objective this year. We are eliminating the word 'try' and are speaking only of 'when' we do it," said Art Roberts, co-chairman of the campaign with John MacCormac.

Taking Totem Pole To Newfoundland

By DAVID STOCK

Whether the soft, breathless way she speaks is natural or just the result of all the excitement that goes with being picked queen of the P.N.E. is something even Delle Calhoun, the girl herself, isn't quite sure of.

But she's not worrying about that. There are too many more important things to think about.

Delle, a poised and decidedly pretty young lady, just turned 17, was in Victoria today to start a cross-country air tour, major prize in the P.N.E. contest.

Miss Calhoun and her two chaperones arrived at 11, called on Premier Byron Johnson, visited Government House, had lunch with Victoria Soroptimists at the Empress, and then embarked for Edmonton at 3.15.

At the Parliament Buildings, Premier Johnson presented the beauty queen with a replica of a Haida totem pole to present to Premier Joseph Smallwood when she gets to Newfoundland.

Miss Calhoun gladly consented to having her picture taken with the Premier and the totem pole but when it was suggested she pose, straightening the Premier's tie, she said no.

"It's an original idea," she conceded in her quietest tone. "But I don't think that would be very nice."

"No, no, none of that," he said, wagging his finger at the photographer.

Delle's tour will take till the end of the month. Then it's back home to Burnaby and her final year at Crofton House School.

Income Tax Staff To Be Cut By 2,500

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's income tax division has caught up with its backlog of work and between 2,500 and 3,000 employees will be released by next spring, the Civil Service Commission announced today. About 1,600 have been released within the last year.

About one-third of them are expected to be absorbed by other government departments. No provision has been made for the others.

The reductions in staff will take place across the country, with Toronto and Montreal getting the biggest cuts—about 500 in each city. Almost 200 in Ottawa already have received notice.

Many will be taken into the defence department and related agencies, gradually expanding to meet new defence commitments.

The layoffs are due to the disappearance of work backlogs and to the introduction of new methods which permit more efficient handling of day-to-day work.

In reappointing discharged employers, veterans and efficient long-term employees will receive preference for vacancies over others.

No Commons Secret Sitting

Liberals voted almost solidly against the secret session, with the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties joining with the Progressive Conservatives.

The vote developed on the statement made by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. This is statement, "I spy strangers," the traditional form of demanding the galleries be celared of spectators.

NO 'STAY-AT-HOMES'

Airborne Force To Be Ready For Any Field

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's regular army is no "stay-at-home" army, Defence Minister Claxton told the Commons during continued study of the government's king-sized $850,000,000 defence appropriation legislation.

For example, he said, Canada's regular airborne brigade would be available for dispatching abroad "at once" if at some future time there was no immediate threat of attack on Canada herself.

Replying to George Hees (P.C.-Toronto-Broadview), he said it would take at least six months to train men and get them in the field as a fighting formation. He had no doubt his staff officers had worked out plans for an emergency.

Kills Newsmen

TOKYO (UP)—Eleven persons were killed today when a C-54 transport plane en route to Korea exploded and crashed shortly after taking off from a base in southern Japan, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced.

Among those killed were International News Service war correspondent Frank Emery and two I.N.S. photographers.

The plane had taken off from a base near here and made the intermediate landing in southern Japan before resuming the trip to Korea. The military air transport service plane was barely out of the traffic pattern when it exploded, crashed and burned.

GREENWOOD PUPILS ON STRIKE, DEMAND NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

GREENWOOD, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred pupils today struck for the second day here, protesting what they described as "deplorable" conditions in the two schools they attend.

While the boys and girls picketed, roamed the streets in jalopies and placed protest notices around town, their parents met with school board officials to seek a promise of a second money by-law financing a seven-room school. Such a by-law was defeated earlier by the rural vote in the school district.

Strikers have threatened that until satisfactory arrangements have been made, classrooms will remain empty.

World War II Laws To Be Revived Ordering Increased Down Payments

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will have to shell out bigger down payments on instalment purchases of such items as passenger cars, refrigerators, electric stoves and other consumer goods as a result of government legislation to be introduced during the current session of Parliament.

Notice of the government's proposal to bring down legislation affecting the regulation of consumer credit was given today by Finance Minister Abbott on the Commons order paper.

A government source later disclosed the government does not intend to increase the down payment required on the construction of new homes or the purchase of new trucks or farm machinery.

The government's edict will mainly be directed at items which Canadians can obtain in department stores, but will include passenger cars. Main purpose of the regulations will be to fight inflationary trends in consumer prices.

NOT SO WIDE

The source said the consumer-credit control program will be similar to the one carried out during the Second World War, but will not be so tough on the purchaser's pocketbook. Details of the government's program still have ot be worked out.

During World War Two the government ordered that purchasers on the instalment plan provide a down payment of one-third. On purchases of less than $500, the time limit of payment was 12 months. On more than $500, it was 15 months.

Bermudians Alerted As Storm Moves

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The resort island of Bermuda today was given an alert for a great storm moving up the Atlantic while northeast Florida and southeast Georgia felt the last gasps of a Gulf hurricane.

The storm, inching in the general direction of Bermuda, had winds up to 150 miles an hour near the centre and hurricane force winds (75 miles an hour or more) extended outward 100 miles in all directions.

It was due to pass west of the island resort, but gales were forecast there and the weather bureau said a slight change in direction would bring much higher winds.

The hurricane was moving northward at about six miles an hour, which would bring the centre opposite Bermuda tonight.

Come To Help Harvest Crops

GENEVA (AP)—Four hundred refugees were on the Atlantic today, heading for new homes in Canada, because of the urgent need for harvest hands in the Dominion.

The Canadian government advised the International Refugee Organization Aug. 4, that if 400 farm laborers could be sent to Canada by Sept. 15, they would be accepted for immigration. Selection teams from Canada started examining candidates one week later.

The Canadian government has agreed to accept the dependents of the farm hands chosen and approximately 600 women and children will be following the immigrants in other ships.

F.B.I. Ready To Round Up 12,000 Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was reported to have told Senators today his agents are ready to arrest 12,000 dangerous Communists in the United States if war should break out with Russia.

A member of the Senate appropriations committee, asking not to be named, quoted Hoover as telling the group in a closed session that he needs more funds for additional agents to keep a close check on these persons.

He said Hoover wants his agents to be able "to put these people to bed at night and get them up in the morning" in watching their activities.

President Truman asked Congress last week for $6,000,000 to finance increased F.B.I. activity due to "the changed international situation."

NEED MORE MEN

The F.B.I. told reporters then the money was needed to permit hiring of 835 new agents and 1,218 new clerical workers.

The Senate committee called Hoover before it to learn just what he proposed to do with the money.

Hoover was reported to have told the committee a special problem is posed by the fact that half of the 12,000 dangerous Communists are U.S. citizens, many of them native-born.

He was quoted as saying it would be up to the justice department to decide whether these persons could be arrested immediately, as well as the aliens.

Senators said the 12,000 have been listed by the F.B.I. as the most potentially "dangerous"—from a national security standpoint—of more than 50,000 known Communists on which the F.B.I. has been keeping tabs.

Truman Blocks Loan To Spain

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman has blocked a $62,500,000 loan to Spain and lectured Congress on handing its budget-cutting job to him.

The loan and the budget cut were parts of a $36,153,600,425 general appropriation bill Mr. Truman signed Wednesday. The funds are the first instalment on federal spending for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Another $16,771,000,000 emergency defence bill is pending.

Hint St. Laurent May Visit India

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson disclosed in the Commons today that Prime Minister St. Laurent is "interested" in the idea of returning the visit to Canada of Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Mr. St. Laurent, sitting a few seats to the left of Mr. Pearson, made no comment.

CANVASSERS' BLITZKREIG

One-Night Campaign For Community Chest

Victoria, long the butt of jibes from the rest of the nation about being behind-the-times—a "cemetery with lights"— is out to show the nation how to stage a Community Chest campaign.

The chest committee, with its back to the wall, so to speak, following failures to reach its objective in the past few years, has organized a one-night "blitzkreig" of householders in an effort to gather $181,000.

It will be the first time such a scheme has been attempted in Canada, and officials are enthusiastic not only over the expected effectiveness of the abbreviated drive, but also the nation-wide publicity which will accrue.

The plan is simple.

This year's slogan tells the story: "Stay Where You Live Until You Give."

That means householders will be asked to remain at home on the night of Monday, Oct. 2, and, when whistles, bells and sirens sound at 7 o'clock, turn on their porch lights as a signal to members of a huge army of canvassers to call for a contribution.

One brief call, that's all.

On-the-job canvassing of individuals is out. The door-step reply that "my husband has given at work" will be a thing of the past, for only businesses themselves will contribute prior to the evening campaign. They will receive letters warning of a visit of a canvasser, and, like the house-to-house set-up, will be called upon only once.

(See Story Page 2)

Nanaimo Ship Service Cut

B.C. Coast Steamship Service between Nanaimo and Vancouver has been cut in half now the heavy summer tourist traffic has ended.

Instead of six daily sailings between the two ports, there now will be only three. The change was effective Wednesday and will hold until Sept. 23.

Three ships will operate on the run: The Princess Elaine, the Princess Marguerite and the Princess Patricia.

The Marguerite or Patricia will leave Nanaimo at 7.30 a.m. each day, while the Elaine will sail from that centre at 2.30 p.m. and 9.15 p.m.

The Elaine will leave Vancouver each day at 11.00 a.m. and 6.00 p.m., with the Marguerite or Patricia leaving at 8.15 p.m.

Make It An Overnight Success

VICTORIA'S COMMUNITY CHEST ORganization has a novel idea for the collection of this year's quota of $181,000.00. This is to be a house-to-house canvass on one night—the night of Monday, Oct. 2. Householders are asked to keep their porch lights burning that night. This will indicate that they have made up their minds what they are going to give and are ready to give it to the volunteer canvasser who calls. It will be understood, of course, that the sum collected from householders will amount to only a part of the sum set for the final total. The rest of it will be gathered in from business and industrial houses and professional people—and all who have Victoria's interests at heart.

For many years the Community Chest's campaign has been a long-drawn-out affair. It has meant a lot of repetition of old arguments, through the newspapers and over the air. These arguments, boiled down to a few words, emphasize the fundamental fact that hundreds of needy cases cannot be dealt with by governments. No legislation ever has been devised that could meet specific needs in an emergency. It is for this and many other reasons that the Community Chest organization has set itself an objective to reach—or pass—in the shortest possible time. We are sure Victorians will respond liberally to this worthy cause and "stay where they live until they give."

They Work For Our Safety

THE CONVENTION OF FIRE CHIEFS now in session in this city will serve to remind us that this is a profession that has made vast strides within the last generation or two. No longer do firefighters merely—wait for fires to break out and then strive to put them out according to plans made on the spur of the moment. The average citizen would be surprised to know the amount of thought and planning that goes on continually in an effort to make every community safer in the event of a conflagration. Information on routes to hotels, theatres and other buildings likely to contain large numbers of persons, access to fire hydrants and other facilities, location of basement and roof entrances, and a host of similar facts are the working tools of an efficient department.

But of equal, if not greater, importance is the modern emphasis on prevention of fires. Great strides have been made in this phase of public safety. Inspections are carried out, dangerous situations are corrected, information and advice are dispensed, the battle is carried to schools and other gatherings where it will do the most good. Every good fireman is first a preventer of fires, second a firefighter. But, ironically enough, those who stand to gain most in safety of life and property from the efforts of the fire preventers often prove to be the weakest section of the defence. Carelessness with matches, with inflammable materials, with wiring, chimneys, storage spaces or other household arrangements, provides the most frequent and obvious cause of fire. That is a situation which only the public itself can correct. Otherwise fire preventers must become fire fighters—a much more dangerous and expensive business for all concerned.

Youth Must Prepare Itself

GREATER VICTORIA'S YOUNG PROgressive Conservative Association seems to have had a hectic time at a meeting it held at Prince Robert House on Tuesday evening. Some of the members of the organization had made up their minds that Minister of Finance Herbert Anscomb in British Columbia's Coalition government should resign, not only as leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in this province, but also as a minister of the Crown, because of his holdings in companies producing beer and wine. This is a matter, of course, for Mr. Anscomb to decide for himself.

Our interest in the proceedings of the meeting to which we refer, however, resides solely in our desire to suggest to the young men who took part in the discussion that they keep up their interest in public affairs. This newspaper does not subscribe to the political philosophy of Conservatism. This is a young country. Conservatism, as we understand the term, does not suggest progressivism. If the great Dominion of Canada is to go forward and develop her natural resources, the men and women in charge of our business affairs at Ottawa must initiate and support those measures calculated to give to the rising generation opportunities that will enable them to earn a decent living, and encourage them to establish a home life on a sound and a happy basis.

The foregoing constitutes the foundation of our injunction to the young men and young women of Canada to engage at all times in public debate. It is up to them to acquaint themselves with the potentialities of the land in which they are fortunate to live, and to profit by their study of the lives and works of those valiant men and women who gave everything they had and were so that the nation—now the senior overseas Dominion of the British Commonwealth—could wield an impressive influence on the progress of the world in general.

With Flying Colors

NOW THAT THE RAIL STRIKE IS ended, officials of T.C.A. have been able to take a moment for an appraisal of airline performance during the crisis of August 22-30.

Their figures are impressive. While the railways were idle, T.C.A. carried almost 32,000 passengers on domestic lines, 700,000 pounds of air cargo and some 8,000,000 letters. First-class mail was kept moving between key cities at no extra cost to the Post Office under the "all-up" mail arrangement. Cargo loads were crowded with emergency medical supplies and vital machine parts. The 70 extra flights flown during the nine days of the strike imposed some 20,000 hours of overtime on T.C.A.'s staff, which responded willingly.

It is quite clear, of course, that aircraft may never haul as much bulk cargo as railways or trucks. But (to paraphrase a Civil War general) while they may not get there with the "mostest," they certainly get there "fustest." As the only link between East and West during the crippling crisis, T.C.A. came through its sternest test as a major Canadian transport medium. Its top-flight performance should be reflected in an increasingly healthy bank balance at year's end.

Grim German Humor Flourishes Under Soviet Occupation Rule

By JOHN BARTLETT, From Frankfurt

"ADAM and Eve were Russians. They had nothing to eat and nothing to wear, since they lived in Paradise."

That is not meant to be a joke, but just an excerpt from the bitter daily conversation of Germans who live in the Soviet zone.

A visitor to the zone has just returned here from a two weeks' stay at her old home town. She has come back wearied by the ceaseless propaganda, disheartened by economic conditions, frightened by scores of People's Police everywhere.

MORE ARROGANT

"And the Communists are more arrogant than ever," she reported. "Emboldened by the North Korean successes, they feel pretty good about being on the 'winning side.' They tell everyone how they're going to win in Germany too."

She resided in a small town and there were not many Russian soldiers to be seen. As a matter of fact, she said, one did not find Russian soldiers wandering about alone even in the big cities. They live in barracks, away from the German people. They are sent to cinemas and theatres in groups. Russian-German friendship is a matter of political theory, not carried out in practice.

An old woman from a small town went to a big city. Everywhere she saw placard photographs of Stalin, but—so the story goes—she did not know who he was, so she asked a policeman.

"Don't you know, you ignorant woman? That is the great Stalin who liberated us from the Nazis, who is good and powerful and can do everything for us," explained the policeman.

"Why then," asked the ignorant old woman, "does he not liberate us from the Soviets?"

BEETLE BATTLE

Although living conditions had improved slightly, food was still scarce and the supply of textiles and shoes insufficient. Local physicians reported a dangerous lack of medicines. And the hospitals are crowded, not with patients, according to a grim joke which goes: "Why is there no room in the hospital?"

"The beds have all been taken by Colorado beetles with their legs broken by falling from American airplanes."

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

MR. BONNAMY NORRIS sent some nice slack pedestrian verse to an editor who might care for such trash, And he was taken aback for the loss of many yards when the editor said the verse was too obviously patterned on the works of one Ogden Nash.

"Take me aback to Ole Virginny!" cried Mr. Norris, aghast and agog. "I never heard of O. Nash." And the editor said "Pooh-pooh, look at your lack of scansion."

Brock

So Mr. Norris looked at it, but it didn't give him anything except legitimate pride, which increased his chest-expansion.

"Well," said Mr. Norris, "if it did scan, maybe people would think I was criticizing this O. Nash and trying to be odd and affected."

But the editor said "Look at your rhymes. Mr. Nash is noted for his scintillating rhymes, and therefore everybody else's rhymes must try to keep usual and expected.

"For example, you mustn't end a line with Schenectady,

"For that practically forces you to rhyme in a whimsy manner and unexpectad'y."

"But," said Mr. Norris, "any rhyme appears unexpected when it suddenly crops up after an unruly horde of syllables. It is like an inexplicable gap in the ranks of Mr. Ripley's 400 million Chinese marching (God knows why) four abreast."

"But me no buts," said the editor, "and Nash me no teeth. Here is your manuscript and your stamped envelope, self-addressed."

"Well, I didn't like to confess it before, for it didn't seem quite honest," said Mr. Norris,

"But since we are talking of plagiarism. I must admit that my poem, both matter and form, was actually copied pretty directly for a satire of Horace."

"Horace who?" said the editor. Mr. Norris knocked back some fresh air and said "Q. H. Flaccus, an ancient Roman," and wiped his fevered brow.

UTILITY

MY KNOWLEDGE of the German language is somewhat inferior to Mark Twain's. But I enjoy flicking through a German dictionary. Today I found out two important things. Leumund means repute, and when you consider that leumund is literally lion mouth you get a very vivid picture of what reputation amounts to . . . it is just so much roaring. And while looking up mund to make sure it did mean mouth, I ran across mundleim, which means mouth-glue. I have no idea what mouth-glue may be, but it sounds like mighty useful stuff. We could all use it.

I.O.U.

The other day I promised to improvise a better Combined Version of "O Canada!" next time I made up poetry in my sleep. I have now succeeded!

O Canada, our sabotage, our shove,
True north is not magetic north above.
From sea to sea and sea to sea we boast a salty coast,
From north to east and west to south we boast and boast and boast.
With heart we cling,
Prosper the King;
Guard thou the Empire's wing do we ensing,
And prosper Canada from thing to thing.

The verb "ensing" is brand new, and a gift to my country from old Brocky. The punctuation is rather good too, in spite of the fact that you cannot punctuate something that doesn't mean anything. We don't sing nearly enough punctuation these days. Or to put it more briefly, we don't sing nearly.

ONE THING LEADS TO ANOTHER

THE MEMBER for Chicoutimi, M. Gagnon, is reported to have said that he is against voluntary enlistment because this always leads to conscription. I have often heard that prohibition and teetotalism lead to drunkenness, and that hatred is a form of love while love is a form of hatred, and that extremes often meet informally and pass the time of day, but this present paradox has me baffled, boys. The Church, as anyone inside or outside Quebec can tell you, has always held that perfect freedom of will is the exact opposite of compulsion, fate and doom. Sounds reasonable, at that.

MENU

A YOUNG Grade Two friend of mine was asked by his mother what sort of school lunches (within reason) he would fancy this autumn. He said he would draw up some menus for her, to keep her from forgetting, and here is one:

Meet Lofe
Cham Sameechus
Bnance

The first phase of the American war with Russia was the cold war which led to the Korean war, or second phase. The third phase would be an all-out match with atomic bombs, and the fourth and last phase—occupation.—Lt.-Gen. James M. Doolittle, famous World Wars I and II pilot.

Talking Out Of Both Sides Of His Mouth

As Our Readers See It

FOR CALM EVENINGS

May I come up with a suggestion re Dallas Road? From Menzies Street up lay the ground out in flower beds and paths, also instal a bandstand. There is enough talent in Victoria as well as bands to provide a variety show every evening during the summer.

Chairs and benches could be charged a small fee, the profits to be shared by the city and some worthwhile organization like the Community Chest.

E. BROWNING.

244 Simcoe Street.

BEFORE PRINTING

Re the dogma of the Assumption. Just as Christ's birthdate and some other truths of God which we believe but which are not recorded in the Bible, we know from tradition. Why, Christ established His church 65 years before the Apostle John wrote his Revelation. The then mighty Roman Empire was Christian before the fourth century, when the writings of the New Testament were first put into book form, and 10,000,000 people had been true to Christ, even to a martyr's death, without reading a line.

They had been taught by Christ's church, whose authority we uphold when we say "we believe in the Bible." For the church existed before; it was 1400 years old before there were such things as paper and printing machines; and the monks copied by hand onto vellum, the Holy Scriptures (especially the New Testament) so to preserve for the world the true words of God.

Apart from the above, is it very unreasonable to believe that the Creator we adore, should take the most blessed of all His creatures to heaven? After all, she was pure enough to bear Him in His Incarnation, so why not keep her body from corruption? Even a human being wants the best for his mom!

"MRS. GRUNDY."

A SUGGESTION?

As a recent visitor to your city of maybe too many visitors I was interested to see how many unattractive women there seem to be at large in Victoria at all times. I have no personal interest in this subject, being happily married, so you can take it from me that I am sincere when I suggest that the good ladies of Victoria may be drinking too much tea and thereby pickling themselves e'er their prime, so to speak. This is only a suggestion for what it is worth.

The Same Old Jokes Live On

By IVOR BROWN, from London

WHENEVER I go on holiday I like to visit the summer show in the beach pavilion. My clever friends are disgusted that I should slink away to sit on a hard seat and listen to bad jokes instead of sitting soft in some grand hotel and playing bad bridge or listening to bad music. But attending concert parties and their rougher cousins is one of the boytime habits that I cannot lay aside. Now their season is drawing to a close; if anything is certain it is their reappearance at Whitsuntide next year.

NEVER DIE

Summer shows not only offer a roof on rainy days to the forlorn pleasure seekers who have been wandering about in mackintoshes, trailing the sodden picnic basket and their wailing, disappointed young. (What infinities of pathos invest the rain-soaked holiday with all its frustrations of eager childhood!) The beach pavilion "comic" does more than assuage these victims of the climate's cruelty. He reminds us that old jokes never die and that new ones are unnecessary. Old ideas, on the higher, philosophic plane, are just as persistent, but their vendors wrap them up in long and pompous names.

When the same crusted nonsense comes floating across the air from BBC comedians it rarely "carries." It is a case of "the time and the place and the loved one altogether," the time being holiday, summer or Christmas, the place a hall or theatre with living, visible performers, and the loved one the traditional droll, his garb all odds and ends, his face all bridling rubicundity. Apparently, he need never alter the routine; the landlady, the boarding house diet, the joke about the "bean soup," the kippers, the hard beds, even the mother in law, have, in this country, everlasting value.

People class comedians and clowns together. But the clown is quite a different creature from the music-hall or pier-head droll; he is abstracted from the world, almost speechless, wholly grotesque. Being of no country he is understood by all; his blanched make-up is a piece of world-wide routine. Scholars of folklore and folkfun trace him back to the old cults and superstitions; he is perhaps the ghost of a ghost or "boggart." His pallor certainly indicates some such spectral immortality.

STILL BRAWLING

Exactly opposite to him is the British "comic," a man of blood and bones and beer and mutton-chops. His uproar is not so common now in the music halls, where the dude at the microphone displaces him. But he survives abundantly as Dame or Idle Jack in the winter pantomime, and he is still brawling with his landlady or confounding his cross-talk companion, as robust and red of cheek as the clown is frail and white, in the elemental and unchanging humors of the summer show.—(O.F.N.S. FISH HOGS

Winnipeg Free Press

The notion that a fishing trip is successful only if one has made a huge catch is too much encouraged. The photos so frequently and proudly displayed of large strings of fish, in many cases quite evidently over the catch limits, are not evidence of good sportsmanship, but of fish hogging.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the certainties of these dangerous days is that any successful defence of western Europe against Red advance must be based on the hotly-controversial rearmament of western Germany.

That's a bitter pill for those who not so long ago swore that the instigator of two world wars should not again be allowed to rearm. However, it has to be swallowed.

Mackenzie

Another general war not only would involve this keystone of Europe but probably would begin in this central zone where communism and democracy face each other across an imaginary barrier.

Therefore it's encouraging to hear John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner for Germany, say after a conference with President Truman that "the Germans should be enabled, if they want to, to defend their own country." And State Secretary Dean Acheson followed this up with the statement that it is highly desirable to find an appropriate way for Germany to aid the defence of western Europe.

THE INSTIGATORS

With the institution of certain safeguards this should work out satisfactorily. I base that supposition on the belief that military aggression is not an inherent characteristic of the German people as a whole. The aggression by the Reich was sprung mainly from one special group of the population—the Prussians.

It is true, however, that many Germanic people are susceptible to regimentation. The Prussians took advantage of that; Hitler took advantage of it.

DEMOCRACY FIRST

Acceptance of these conclusions as correct immediately raises a vital corollary: if Germany is allowed to rearm for self-defence and for participation in the defence of western Europe with the democracies, she must be safeguarded against any form of dictatorship, since totalitarianism might again impose the regimentation which would lead to aggression.

Thus if Germany is permitted to rearm for the common good of the western Europe to which she belongs, totalitarianism must be eliminated. That is a course already being pursued by the occupation powers and it must be intensified.

The adherence of a strengthened western Germany is vital to the security of democratic Europe.

CHIPMUNK URGE

Christian Science Monitor

In Greenfield, Mass., it is reported, "foresighted buyers," fighting the last war all over again, had been stocking up on pepper. One grocer placed a sign on his pepper shelf reading: "Only one to a customer." Before long the sign fell down on the mustard. The mustard was cleaned out by nightfall.

Apparently, to the true hoarder it makes no difference what it is. If it's limited, he (or she) wants it.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"A LOT of our customs," said the Elevator Man, "depend on 'looking the part.' Sometimes it's a sensible idea. Often it's plain stupid. For instance, a white shirt and shorts or flannels are quite in order—sometimes insisted on—for a hot tennis match. But if you wore them into a hot ballroom, where they would be just the thing for a fellow suffocating as he struggles to dance, people would raise their eyebrows and turn down their thumbs. In fact, you probably wouldn't be let in at all. On the other hand, if a stiff shirt and a tail coat are the height of elegance, why can't they be worn at an important tennis match? Why can't golf socks be worn to lawn bowling? Why can't you wear a bathing suit on the links? It's all tied up with the business of 'looking the part,' and very few dare to step out of line. Going up!

Tobin

"It even applies," said the Elevator Man, "to other fields. I see where the president of the Strasbourg branch of the Communist 'Union of French Women' has been expelled from the party. It wasn't that she made a poor chairman or mishandled the club funds. The charge was that 'her elegance was incompatible with the ideals of the movement.' Under-dogs aren't supposed to be good-looking; they're supposed to look like under-dogs. On the other hand, Sir Galahad would be no good without his armor. In a Koksilah sweater he'd be just a guy on a horse. Lower main!

"Often," said the Elevator Man, "you have to look underneath to see the real person. I remember a story about a farmer and a city man walking down the street. A girl came toward them just out of the beauty parlor—tinted hair, varnished nails, heavy make-up and purple lipstick. 'Well, what do you think of that?' says the city man, with a wink. 'Well,' says his friend, looking her over, 'speaking as a farmer I'd say it must have been pretty poor soil to require so much top-dressing'."

Thousands See Displays At Home Appliance Show

A giant vacuum cleaner weighing 500 pounds, clock which has electrical appliances as face numbers, and an electric ironer which anyone—even a man—can operate, are just a few of the many electrical products featured at the Home Appliances Show held at the Bay Street Armories this week.

Thousands of people viewed the various displays at the show which commenced yesterday at 2.30. The display, which is the first of its type to be held in Victoria, will be open every day for the remainder of the week from 2.30 in the afternoon until 10.30 in the evening.

The purpose of this ambitious undertaking is to acquaint the public with new types of home electrical appliances. Demonstrations are given and there will be special classes in laundering and cooking in the afternoons.

A door prize in the form of a gas stove, electric stove or frigidaire will be awarded each night to a lucky ticket-holder.

All of the articles on display are available to the public. Many represent new ideas in the home appliance line and this show is the first to feature them here.

In addition to the display, a musical show is held every evening. Highlight on last night's show were the Cubanaires, a local group which features Latin American music. Other artists were: Ray Evenden, tap dancer; Mary Mack, better known as "Canada's Sophie Tucker; Dick Benz, marimba player; Lois Mahon, singer, and ballet dancers Beverly Ivings, Jacqueline Ivings, Pat Sparks and Vera Wakelyn. Miss Evenden was accompanied by Dorothy Margison on the piano.

Bevin To Urge Seat In U.N. For Red China

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will change his tactics to break the United Nations deadlock on the question of Communist China when he visits New York, informed sources here said.

Bevin, sailing for the United States today, was reported ready to take the question before the U.N.'s General Assembly in a direct appeal for recognition of Red China.

Previously, Britain made approaches to Egypt, Ecuador and Cuba as members of the Security Council to support Red China's admission to the U.N., but met with little success.

Sources here said Bevin is convinced there can be no settlement of the complex Far Eastern problems, including Korea and Formosa, unless the Chinese Reds are given a seat in the U.N. Bevin probably will wait until after the three foreign ministers have conferred before pressing the Red China question.

Co-operation Between City, Oak Bay 'Rare?'

Because the city has amended its bicycle-licensing by-law so that the registration year runs from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 instead of from Nov. 1 to Oct. 31, Oak Bay has decided to do the same.

Members of that municipality's council agreed Wednesday night to follow a recommendation of Municipal Clerk A. D. Findlay so the two by-laws would coincide.

"This appears to be one of those rare cases of co-operation," Councillor Jack Ruttan observed as the matter was given unanimous approval.

'This Is All Right'

"Say, this kind of vacuum cleaner is all right. I can ride around on it while mom does housework," probably is what young Bobby Law, 144 Millstream Road, is thinking. Cleaner is just one of many exhibits at household appliance show at Bay Street Armories this week. Show is sponsored by Kinsmen Club, which will devote net proceeds to local charities.

Spring, Fall Good For Lifting Delphiniums

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Either fall or spring may be chosen for lifting and replanting delphiniums.

The condition of your soil will determine which is the best time. When is is of a heavy nature which is slow to dry out in spring it is better to do a fall job of moving, and September is the best month to choose.

To grow well, and maintain good foliage, delphiniums need plenty of room, and a spacing of 30 to 36 inches should be maintained.

Tip-layering has been mentioned previously in this column. The process may be used to increase the present planting of bramble fruits, or to secure plants for a new one. Berries which will root easily by this method are logans, blacks, boysens, youngs, and the other crosses having the same habits of growth. Rambler roses can be increased in the same manner.

During September the tips of the new canes of this year's growth are placed on the ground, covered with a little earth, and held in position with a peg or rock. Each tip will form a new plant which may be cut from the parent cane next spring.

Many gardeners lose a year's fruit when they use the old bushes for a new planting, because of the severe pruning which is necessary. When tip-layering is used, the old plants will fruit as usual next year while the young plants become established and ready to supply fruit the year following.

Dahlias will require feeding about once every ten days, using a weak liquid manure, or soot water. Chrysanthemums can stand the same treatment until the buds show color. And don't forget to remove some of the side buds from the 'mums if you want flowers of a reasonable size and quality.

Man Evades Police Capture

A man who apparently was bent on prowling cars around the Empress Hotel at 2.15 Wednesday morning was sighted by a constable but managed to evade capture.

Constable John Lawford, noting the man's suspicious actions, started across the hotel lawns to speak to him. The man saw him and took to his heels. The chase went across the grounds of the hotel and up Belleville Street, where the pursued man got away.

BOOK BORROWED IN 1772 RETURNED; FINE, $3,248

NEW YORK (AP)—A book borrowed from the Columbia University in 1772 was returned Wednesday.

The borrower was the librarian of King's College, as Columbia was known then, Robert Harpur. He also was a mathematics professor and tutor to Alexander Hamilton.

Not the least shame-faced was the descendant who brought it back—Enos M. Johnston of Brooklyn, an engineer. Johnson explained he found it while pawing through family heirlooms.

Veterans Ask Compulsory Training For All Youths

Army, Navy And Air Force Group Suggests Three-Year Term In Canada's Reserves

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three years of compulsory training in the reserve forces of Canada for all men between 18 and 21 is urged by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada.

Delegates at the annual convention here Wednesday debated at length various forms of compulsory service which Canada might adopt immediately. They voted down a resolution submitted by the B.C. provincial command which would have requested the government to compel all men between 18 and 21 to serve "at least one year basic training in the army, navy or air forces" of Canada.

Delegates also voted down another B.C.-sponsored resolution which urged thorough investigation of all applications from Canadian-born persons of former enemy-alien extraction now resident abroad to return to Canada.

Also voted down was a resolution calling for the expulsion from the Veterans' Association of any member with Communist Party connections. J. H. MacLeod, Vancouver, resolutions committee chairman, said the group's constitution made this resolution unnecessary.

The convention urged the government to seek ways of reducing rent of veterans' rental housing and of repairing structural defects. It also urged the government to exempt reserve forces' pay from income taxes.

"If an atomic bomb is dropped I wouldn't advise anyone to pick up gold or silver souvenirs," he said. "They will absorb more radioactive rays than most things. They will be hot."

New British Drug, Said To Be Improvement On Penicillin On Way To Korean War Zone

LONDON (Reuter)—A new British-made drug—claimed by its manufacturers to be an improvement on penicillin—is on its way to the Korean battle zone, it was announced today.

The drug, named distaquaine G and developed from penicillin research by a British drug firm, is said to have "limitless" medical possibilities and a high military value.

(The firm is Distillers Company Biochemicals of Liverpool.)

A combination of penicillin with a local anaesthetic known as procaine, distaquaine G is said by its makers to be less painful on injection than ordinary penicillin.

A single dose is claimed to have greater lasting effect during a 24-hour period than the administration of separate doses of penicillin every three or four hours.

Greek-Owned Freighter Sails For Brooklyn

The Liberty ship Simon, Greek-owned and manned but sailing under the flag of Panama, completed loading of a cargo of lumber at Ogden Point Wednesday afternoon and set sail for Brooklyn.

The Cimon took on 1,000,000 board feet of lumber here and 5,000,000 at the mainland ports of Vancouver and New Westminster.

The 10,500-ton freighter will take 28 days to get from here to the Atlantic seaboard. Her first call will be at the Californian port of San Pedro.

Apology Given By Truman Accepted By U.S. Marines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman has apologized for his harsh words about the Marines in the greatest display of presidential word-eating in the recent history of the U.S.

One immediate result was an ebbing away today of some of the fury over the President's description of the Marines as simply a naval police force with a "propaganda machine that is almost equal to Stalin's."

That was the way he had sized up the leathernecks in a letter to Representative Gordon McDonough (Rep.-Calif.) that came to light Tuesday. His words blew up a gale of counter-criticism.

The President was worried. Late Wednesday he called Marine Commandant Clifton B. Cates to the White House and personally handed over a letter that began:

"I sincerely regret the unfortunate choice of language which I used in my letter . . ."

Washington old-timers could remember no comparable language from the White House.

Even so, Republicans are sure to see to it that the country hears more about the Truman slip during this year's election campaign.

On Capitol Hill, the incident is cited as proof that the President is (a) a big man, or (b) a careless bungler—depending on whether it is a Democrat or a Republican viewpoint.

Joan of Arc's death sentence was revoked 25 years after she had been burned at the stake.

Truman rushed a copy of his letter to Clay Nixon, national commandant of the Marine Corps League, suggesting that it be read at the national convention of that organization of marine veterans at present in progress. Nixon complied.

The convention closed the day with a yelling, rising vote of approval for Nixon's statement that the Truman slap at the Marines now is "a closed incident."

VIEWS OF SPORT

By RED SMITH

JOE LOUIS said he was going up to the Stadium to see the Indians and would go directly from the ball game to Pompton Lakes, N.J., for the main course of his preparation for a comeback fight with Ezzard Charles. He didn't agree with the American League players who have been rooting for the Tigers but naming Cleveland as the most dangerous of the pennant contenders.

Smith

"Be nice to see it go out there to Detroit," he said, "but I'm afraid it's between the Yankees."

Joe said he was gratified by the results of his preliminary training in West Baden, Ind. "Didn't do a great deal out there," he said. "Went on the road in the mornings and loafed through the afternoons, playing a good deal of golf."

"How do you feel about the bout with Charles, Joe?"

"I think I got a better chance than anybody else to beat him," he said simply.

Couldn't Be The Same Guy

"DO YOU FEEL that you're the same guy who fought Joe Walcott?"

He was thoughtful for a moment. He couldn't, of course, be the same aging, uncertain champion who fought Jersey Joe Walcott on Dec. 5, 1947, and either won or lost on points depending on whose judgment you prefer. That guy was 33 years, six months, three weeks and one day old. The aging, uncertain champion who fought Walcott on June 25, 1948, and knocked him out in the 11th round was 34 years, one month, one week and five days old. The guy who fights Charles on Sept. 27 will be 36 years, four months and two weeks old. He couldn't possibly be the same guy.

"I think I'm better," Joe said.

"I'm gettin' in shape slow this time," he said. "For Walcott I tried to get in shape too fast. Just took regular training. This time I'm takin' it slow. I've been on the road and I've been playing a lot of golf and I've been boxing an awful lot of exhibitions a year, a year-and-a-half.

"I'm better now than I was for Walcott, and I still got time for plenty of boxing at Pompton."

This could easily be true. Certainly Louis thinks it is so, or he wouldn't be saying it. And certainly no one will quarrel with his conviction that he has a better chance than any one else to beat Charles, for there is no reason to think anybody else has any chance at all.

So how good is Joe's chance? How much better than no chance at all? Very little better, one is forced to believe.

Louis is a puncher, and a puncher can win any bout in the space of 10 seconds. Give Joe a target he can hit, and he would smash it if he were 60 years old. Charles can be knocked out, as he was by Lloyd Marshall. He can be outscored, as he was by Elmer Ray and Jimmy Bivins and somebody named Kid Tunero, and, a long time ago, by Ken Overlin.

Charles No Pushover

BUT CHARLES can also fight some. His punch isn't the greatest that the heavyweight division ever saw but it has killed a man. Ezzard has knocked out big strong guys like Joe Baksi and clever guys like Archie Moore. He can box, he can stick a guy and run. Louis needed 26 rounds to catch up with Walcott, a middle-aged mediocrity. For anyone who witnessed his plodding pursuit of the fleeing Jerseyman, it is difficult to picture him overtaking the young and prudent Charles inside 15 rounds.

Sentimentalists who reason this way deplore Joe's decision to return to the ring. That's silly, because Joe is a professional prize-fighter. He fights for money. He wants money now, and this fight will draw it. For his 26 title fights, fans paid more than $8,250,000 to see Louis win. They will pay once more to see him lose. Not because they wish him ill, but because his defeat would be an historic occasion. That, they've got to see.

Batting Champion Honored

John Furmston, left, outfielder-pitcher of the Brentwood Aces, last night was presented with the Victoria Roofing and Insulation Trophy, emblematic of the batting championship of the Senior A Softball League. Making the presentation is Gar Taylor, donor of the trophy. Furmston finished the season with an average of .351, eight points better than runner-up Cliff McKay of Bluebird Cabs.

Umpire Boots One But Athletics Win

Fans Hostile When Marshall Gets Gate

By PETE SALLAWAY

Victoria baseball fans saw the Athletics knock off Tacoma Tigers 8 to 0 at Athletic Park last night and in the process got a good stomachfull of the bad umpiring that has marked play in the W.I.L. this season. It was a hostile crowd that left the park after seeing pitcher John Marshall get tossed out of the game in the bottom of the fourth inning by plate umpire "Doc" Regele in a rhubarb that was all the umpire's making.

Marshall, noted for his clowning tactics at the plate was putting on his usual show for the customers when Regele opened up an argument. Victoria manager Marty Krug rushed in from third base to break it up and point out to the official that Marshall was quite within his rights. Before the next pitch Marshall switched to the other side of the plate and continued his antics. Regele immediately waved him to the showers.

Entire Victoria team stormed on to the field and surrounded the umpire like bees around a honey pot as they gave Regele a going over. The fans lost no time letting go with their protests and for the remainder of the night "Doc" was treated to a chorus of cat-calls every time he faced the crowd.

SAYS UMP WRONG

"Regele was definitely in the wrong and just made himself look more foolish than ever," commented Manager Krug after the game. "Like so many officials in this league he has to get in the act, instead of remembering he's just an umpire. The fans come out to see a ball game not the umpires."

Regele's action just cost Marshall his 16th win of the season as he was enjoying a 4 to 0 lead at the time and had given up one hit. The Athletics got a swell relief job from southpaw Jim Propst who allowed Tacoma two scattered blows the rest of the way and picked up eight strikeouts. His fast ball was really taking off.

With first-place Yakima losing to Vancouver 6 to 2 the Tacoma club remained half a game off the pace. Tonight the two leading clubs switch opponents. Southpaw Jim Hedgecock will open for the A's against Yakima.

Athletics continued to treat the Tacoma pitchers like brothers. They picked up 12 hits for a total of 56 in the four-game stand. That's fair hitting in any league.

HITS FLAG POLE

Marshall got a break in the second inning when Dick Wenner's line drive to centre field hit the flag pole and went for double instead of what appeared a cinch home run.

In their half of the inning the A's jumped on starter Tom Kipp for four runs—three of them unearned as the result of a boot by third baseman Mike Catron. Lou Novikoff's double to left centre was the big blow, driving in two runs.

Athletics added one run in the fourth and two in the fifth with Bob McGuire driving them across with a line double. Propst's double after Bill Dunn's infield single was responsible for the eighth run in the seventh.

Bob McLean, converted first baseman, pitched six-hit ball and Reg Clarkson pounded out two home runs for the Vancouver win. Dick Larner, the losing pitcher, gave up 10 hits.

Tri-City Braves walloped Salem again, 14 to 3, with a makeshift Senator line-up contributing five errors to a 17-hit attack.

The drubbing was the second in a row—it was 18 to 4 Tuesday night and gave the Braves a 4 to 0 lead in the five-game series.

Wenatchee Chiefs, meanwhile, evened their series with Spokane at two games apiece with an 8 to 7 win. Len Neal was the batting star for the Chiefs, getting four hits in as many trips.

Tonight and tomorrow night will be ladies' nights at the Victoria ball park.

Basketballers Fail To Name New Executive

The Victoria and District Basketball Association bumped into an old problem at last night's annual meeting at Prince Robert House when it failed to elect an executive for the coming season.

The retiring officers, however, agreed to remain as an executive committee, pro tem, until permanent officials can be named.

The date for the closing of team entires was set for Sept. 30. Forms may be secured from secretary Tommy Carson.

It was decided to again sell season tickets this year. The league showed a loss on last year's operations with all exhibition games except the California Mohawks' appearance running the circuit into the red.

A motion that Bob Whyte be granted a life membership in the British Columbia association was endorsed.

Charlie Lewis was named building commissioner and Dennis Humphreys, Hank Casilio and Paul Beere as league auditors. Tommy Carson was appointed council member to the V.I.A.B.A.

Much discussion arose over the suspension of the Y.M.C.A. team and players by the island body. However, no definite action was taken by the meeting. The "Y" club is expected to take the matter up with the island association and then report back to the local league, at which time further action will be taken, if necessary.

The next association meeting will be held Oct. 4.

Aces Win Battle In Final Inning

A triple by John Furmston in the last inning with two runners aboard broke up a tight duel between Brentwood Aces and B.C. Forest Products in the first game of their semifinal playoff in the senior A softball division last night, Aces squeezing out a 4 to 3 decision.

Aces went into the final inning trailing 3 to 2. Earl King walked Hal Yardley after Frank Kilshaw had grounded out to open the inning. Rosy McLellan pinch-hitted for Archie Sluggett and King was still having trouble finding the plate. After he had thrown two balls into the dirt, coach Mickey Smith called in Bud Ross from the bench. Ross worked the count up to 3-2 and lost the batter on four balls. Furmston lined a triple and Yardley and Phil Benn, who had run for McLellan, scored easily to put the Aces one up in series.

Up until the fatal eighth the millmen played heads up ball and with King facing a minimum number of batters it appeared that the Forest Products were in.

Kilshaw scored the first run of the game in the first inning when he walked, moved up to second on an outfield fly and completed the run around on a ground single to left by Furmston.

Forest Products moved ahead 3 to 1 in the second on two singles, an error and a walk, but the Aces got one back in the fourth when Ronnie Benn doubled and moved around to third and home on two infield outs.

League officials announced last night that Coach Stan Tenning of the Chinese Students has been suspended indefinitely, for the part he took in the fiasco at Central Park during the game on Tuesday night between the Douglas Tire and Students. These same two teams will play the second game of their series tonight at 6.30 and a win for the Tiremen will eliminate the Students from further play this season.

Short score:	R	H	E
Forest Products	3	3	2
Brentwood Aces	4	3	1

King, Ross (8) and Wilson; Furmston and J. Turner, R. Benn (4).

BAREFOOTED SOCCER ENDS

BOMBAY, India (BUP) — The West India Football Association has banned bare-footed competitive soccer in an effort to find teams good enough to tackle Europe's best.

Barefoot soccer has been a feature of Indian play for several decades. Association officials said that their players were handicapped when they played in the west minus socks and boots.

Firemen Blow Early Lead To Suffer Defeat

Down Two Games To Toronto Club In Softball Final

TORONTO (CP)—Vancouver Firemen blew a three-run lead Wednesday night to fall two games behind Toronto Peoples in the best-of-five series for the Canadian senior men's softball championship. Toronto won 4 to 3.

The victory made the eastern champions overwhelming favorites in the series, first east-west softball final staged in Canada.

The third game will be played at the Canadian National Exhibition ball park tonight.

Firemen, who eliminated Winnipeg to reach the finals, appeared headed for an easy victory in the opening minutes. They rolled up a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning on Laurie Shuttleworth's homer. Then they fell apart in the second to yield four easy runs and the game was over.

Neither club was able to score in the last seven innings.

Short score:	R.	H.	E.

SKATERS MEET

Annual general meeting of the Victoria Figure Skating Club will be held at the Sirocco Club tonight, commencing at 8. All last season's senior members are invited to attend.

Because it is fed by four of the Great Lakes, Niagara has the steadiest flow of all the great waterfalls.

Stengel Fails To Beat Boston Jinx

Casey Stengel defied the Fenway Park southpaw jinx and lost. As a result his New York Yankees are fidgeting atop the American League pennant scramble by only a half-game today.

The Yankees invaded the lair of the torrid third-place Boston Red Sox last night for the opener of a two-game series. Old Case sent lefty Ed Lopat to face the murderous Red Sox completely aware that only one visiting lefthander, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, had pitched and won a complete game in the Fens this year.

Casey didn't have long to wait to rue his decision. The Sox bombed Lopat for four runs in the second inning and went on to slaughter the Yanks 11 to 2.

While the Yanks were being smeared, the runner-up Detroit Tigers, behind Newhouser, turned back the fourth-place Cleveland Indians 5 to 3 in the opener of a two-game series in Detroit to move within a half game of the lead.

For today's final game, Stengel has named righthander Allie Reynolds (13-11) to oppose righthander Ellis Kinder (13-12). Kinder hasn't started a game since Aug. 17 but has performed brilliantly in relief to earn another chance.

At Detroit, the Tigers came up with four runs in the seventh inning to erase a 2 to 1 deficit.

Brooklyn Dodgers supplied the biggest surprise in the National League by defeating the league-leading Philadelphia Phils 2 to 0 and 3 to 2 in a twi-night doubleheader. The victories moved the second-place Brooks to within five and a half games of the Phils.

Big Don Newcombe attempted to perform the iron-man stunt. He blanked the Phils on three hits in the opener but was forced to bow out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning of the second game, trailing 2 to 0.

Newcombe is the first pitcher to try the feat since Buck Newsome attempted it and failed for Detroit in 1940. The last big league pitcher to pitch and win two complete games in one day was Emil Levson of Cleveland in 1926.

WIN IN NINTH

The Dodgers, blanked on one hit by Curt Simmons, came to life in the ninth inning and scored three runs to pull the nightcap out.

The Dodger triumph was costly, however, as they lost the services of their brilliant catcher, Roy Campanella, who broke his right thumb on a foul tip. Campanella probably will be out for the season.

The surging New York Giants turned back Boston Braves 3 to 1 to advance to within a half game of the third-place Braves. Larry Jansen pitched a strong nine-hitter to gain his 15th victory. The Giants collected only six hits, including Wes Westrum's 20th homer.

Shamrocks Assured Of Change In Referees For Game With Indians

Manager Ralph Baker of the Shamrocks said today he had been assured by the Intercity Lacrosse League commission that neither Sid Greenwood nor Pete Meehan would be the officials for Friday night's fourth playoff game here between the Indians and the Rocks.

He added that he did not know who the officials for the game would be.

Baker said the decision was made by the commission following Tuesday night's game at Kerrisdale which the Indians won, 11 to 3. The referees came in for much criticism for their handling of that game.

Baker would make no statement as to what the Shamrocks stand would be if Greenwood or Meehan happened to show up at the game as an official except to say: "It will be a ticklish situation if we win this game and then find that Greenwood and, or, Mehan have been appointed for the deciding game in Vancouver on Tuesday."

Meanwhile, the long lines of customers outside the Memorial Arena ticket office this morning has assured officials of another sellout.

Indians lead the series two games to one and can advance into the final with a victory over the Irish. The tribe won the first game at Kerrisdale, 7 to 5, with the Shamrocks taking the second, 13 to 5.

ADANACS WIN

Over on the mainland New Westminster Adanacs moved to within one game of a final berth by whipping Burrards, 21 to 8, in the third game of their best-of-five series last night.

The A's used a new strategy in thumping the Canadian champions, substituting players singly rather than in units.

The daring gamble by coach Bob Lee paid dividends for the Adanacs as they completely outplayed Burrards. Only in the third period when the clubs split goals were Burrards able to stay on even terms with the Adanacs.

A'S FAVORED

Off last night's game the A's are now favored to end the series Friday night at the Forum. They won the first game, 13 to 12, and lost the second 14 to 12.

Bobby Bremner was the big gun for the A's with seven goals and three assists. Jack Northup had three goals and two assists and Johnny Douglas and Mike Munro four goals each.

Seattle Ball Club Signs Third Davis

SEATTLE (AP)—The Seattle Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League made another "initial" investment Wednesday.

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

How do the ball players spend the winter months? That's a question that puzzles a lot of fans. All summer the faithful watch their favorites in action then come September the boys drop completely out of sight. Some come back next season but a good few fade into complete oblivion as far as the fans are concerned. Chatting to members of the Athletics it was surprising to learn what some of the fellows plan for the off season. Take Junior Krug, for instance. He's going back to Salem, Ore., to work for the second successive winter as a guard at the state penitentiary. "They told me if I came back for another stretch there was a good chance I would get my parole," Junior wisecracked. Krug is still going to find enough spare time to get in some steelhead fishing jaunts with pitcher Aldon Wilkie. Both are keen anglers and Wilkie will be in close contact at his home in Newberg, Ore.

Many California-Bound

Like the birds and some fortunate humans, goodly number of the players will migrate south to the sunny climate of California. Outfielders Gene Thompson and Lou Novikoff are toying with the idea of playing winter ball in the Pacific Coast division of the Mexican League. Thompson was down there last winter with the Hermosillo club.

Novikoff is not just sure of his plans. "Maybe I'll stick around home and work with my brothers in the auto body building business at Bell, a suburb of Los Angeles."

Outfielder Bob McGuire has his winter work all mapped out. He will return to Washington State College at Pullman to finish up on his fifth year degree. "I need the credits to qualify as a teacher," he said. "I've also lined up a job as backfield coach of the freshman football squad. I can't play any more conference football as I've used up all my eligibility."

Pair Will Tend Bar

Pitcher John Marshall and shortstop Bill Dunn have similar plans. Both are going to take jobs tending bar. Said Marshall: "I'm going to own my own bar some day. Can't say just where but it will be located in the Pacific Northwest." Dunn will also play some winter ball for the Bar Tenders' Union Club around San Francisco.

Couple of the players have long trips ahead of them. Catcher Hal Danielson will trek back to Chicago to work for his father who is in the contracting business. "He hopes to make an office manager out of me." Pitcher Jimmy Propst will get back to his home at Kansas City as quickly as possible to await the arrival of the first-born. Pitchers Ron Smith and Jim Hedgecock and infielders Johnny Hack and Jim Moore are all California-bound with back-to-work ideas.

Manager Marty Krug plans a winter of relaxation at his Glendale, Calif., home. "I know there will be plenty of work around the house to keep me busy for a long time. Just before coming north in March I finished converting a big house into apartments but there are still plenty of odd jobs to complete."

More News On Anderson

More news from Edmonton about the diamond doings of young Bernie Anderson finds the Victoria flychaser stealing all the headlines.

All Anderson did in the first game of the Big Four playoffs between the Dodgers and Eskimos was to get four for six and drive in six of the Dodgers' runs as they swamped their rivals, 15 to 4.

Included in the four blows were two home runs and a double.

Furmston Captures League Bat Title

Big John Furmston, outfielder-pitcher for Brentwood Aces, ended the Senior A Softball League season with an average of .351 to gain possession of the Victoria Roofing and Insulation Company Trophy as the league batting champion.

Furmston was hard pressed up until the final game by Cliff McKay, Bluebird Cab's first baseman, the versatile infielder of the Cabbies ending up with a respectable .343.

At least 60 times at bat was required before a batter could be eligible for the cup, and the ruling cost Jimmy Morrison of finished with a .368 average in Douglas Tire the title. Morrison 57 times at bat. He missed the last league game.

In addition to having the high average, Furmiston was tops in the extra base hits, and total bases. He had 39 hits, including 13 doubles, one triple and a home run for a total of 58 bases.

Toad Garnet of Douglas Tire finished second behind Furmston in total bases. He had 30 hits, including two doubles, two triples and five home runs. Garnet led in home runs, with Tommy Derr of Chinese Students second with four.

Rowe Comes Out Of Retirement For Second Time

CALGARY (CP)—"Plunging" Paul Rowe is back with the Calgary Stampeders. The veteran fullback has come out of retire-year, signing an active playing contract with the football club.

Rowe, who has starred with the Stamps for the past 12 years, was out for a practice session Wednesday night, and will be in the line-up when the Cowboys meet Saskatchewan Roughriders here Saturday night, Coach Les Lear announced.

The great line plunger announced his first retirement in 1948, following Calgary's Grey Cup win over Ottawa Roughriders. He was lured out of retirement last year, hoping for one more Grey Cup win, but announced definitely at the end of last season that he was through for good.

Lear said Rowe will be listed on the Stamps' line-up for the remainder of the 1950 grid season.

Nanaimo To Seek Boxla Franchise Next Season

There is every possibility that Nanaimo will apply for a franchise in the Intercity Lacrosse League next year, Ross Brebber, manager of the up-island Senior B team, said here last night.

Brebber made the announcement in an interview at the Memorial Arena where Nanaimo Native Sons and Victoria Jokers were playing the first game of the provincial Senior B semifinal series.

"You can say that at the moment it is our intention to apply for an intercity franchise," Brebber said. "Of course there are still a few obstacles that must be ironed out before such a move is made."

Brebber pointed out that the prime need was for a sponsor or financial backing. "That and transportation appear to be the biggest problem," he said.

NEED PLAYERS

Brebber figures that the present Nanaimo team which last night defeated Jokers, 14 to 7, in the opener of a three-game series would need to be sthengthened by the addition of four or five seasoned players or outstanding juniors in order to meet the calibre of play in the Intercity League. "We know our club is not up to intercity standards at the present time," he said.

When questioned as to the rumor of an amalgamation between New Westminster Adanacs and Nanaimo with Nanaimo as the home floor, Brebber replied: "As far as I am concerned it still is in the rumor stage but it is quite possible that we may hook up with one of the mainland clubs if such action is deemed advisable."

Brebber said the Nanaimo team had been averaging crowds of 1,000 for Pacific Coast League games this season. However, he pointed out that in 1949 the average attendance had been 1,400. "If we were in the Intercity League I believe we could play to capacity houses of 2,700," he added.

COAST HOME

Meanwhile, the Nanaimo club showed their Intercity League possibilities by soundly whipping the Jokers on the arena floor. There was no doubt as to their superiority as they took a 6 to 1 lead in the first period and coasted home from there.

Jim Rice paced the snipers with three goals while Bill Bamford was the best of the locals with two markers. Fred Fulla, Nanaimo goalkeeper, was always sound and until the final period when Jokers scored four goals was the complete master of the situation.

The second game will be played at Nanaimo Saturday with the third game, if necessary, here on Monday.

Kelowna Takes Lacrosse Title

VERNON (CP) — Kelowna Bruins, trailing throughout most of the series, Tuesday night won the interior senior B lacrosse championship with an 8 to 6 win over Vernon Tigers. The series went seven games.

Bruins trailed 3 to 2 at the quarter, moved into a 4 to 4 tie at halftime, went ahead 7 to 6 at the three-quarter mark and held the Tigers scoreless in the hectic final quarter, scoring once themselves.

The lone upset was the elimination of Jack Starkey of Edmonton, holder of the men's championship in 1933 and 1936. He lost to Eddie Oana of Vancouver when he blew a 20-inch putt on the 18th green.

One former champion still is in the running. He is Ed Green of Seattle who defeated J. E. Baldwin of Vancouver 6 and 5.

In the women's championship flight, Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria, the 1947-48 titlist, defeated Mrs. Max Bell of Calgary 3 and 1. Mrs. S. Thompson of Vancouver eliminated Mrs. J. Streit of Toronto 2 up in the other top-half game.

Uniform Building Code Urged For Oak Bay By Inspector

P. K. Cunningham, Oak Bay building inspector, recommended to municipal council at its meeting Wednesday night that consideration be given to adopting the Uniform Building Code for the district.

Mr. Cunningham recently returned from a meeting of Pacific Coast building officials where the question of the uniform code was explored fully and then unanimously endorsed by all building inspectors present.

The code now is used in 38 states in America, in the territories of Alaska and Hawaii and in some cities of Canada.

Mr. Cunningham said the building inspectors intended to bring the matter to the attention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities for consideration. He suggested Oak Bay support the idea in the best interests of the municipality, general home builders and building contractors.

Oak Bay Council decided to consider the matter at a closed committee session.

SAFE NEXT CHRISTMAS

No Serious Floods In Oak Bay This Winter

J. V. Johnson, veteran Oak Bay councillor and chairman of that municipality's public works committee, had his Christmas holidays disrupted last year when a heavy downpour of rain flooded a number of Oak Bay basements.

Some of the citizens whose cellars were so affected telephoned Mr. Johnson as early as 8 o'clock Boxing Day morning, demanding that he, as public works chairman, come and see the mess.

Councillor Johnson recalled the incident at a council meeting Wednesday night and happily declared, "It won't happen this year."

Improvements made to the municipal drainage system during recent months, he said, will assure that no serious flooding will take place this winter, no matter how much it rains.

Houses on Lansdowne Road, Foul Bay Road, Carnarvon Street and Townley Street, which suffered most during last year's flood period, now are protected by a new concrete drain running through the old Willows fair grounds.

Drainage improvements have been made in the south end of the municipality also, Councillor Johnson said.

Oak Bay Scouts Ask Free Land

A campaign is to be launched to raise funds for a new Oak Bay scout hall.

The group committee of Oak Bay Scouts and Cubs has written the municipal council, explaining its intentions and asking the municipality grant a land lease free if sufficient money for the building is collected by the scouts themselves.

The matter was put before the council at its meeting Wednesday night.

Although the subject was not discussed fully, the plan was given a good reception and there was even some suggestion the council might be willing to turn over certain property near the Oak Bay fire hall for such an undertaking.

Council decided to turn the matter over to the joint care of the works and parks committees.

A letter from the scout committee explained present accommodation for scouts in the municipality was inadequate. The present centre is a municipal-owned building on Granite Street.

There are two scout troops and four cub packs now operating in Oak Bay, aggregating about 170 boys and leaders.

Strength of the group has doubled in the past three years and indications are further substantial growth will be shown if proper quarters are found.

Hit-Run Driver Fined $90 Total

Driver of the truck which did not stop after a collision with a car at Johnson and Alston Streets Aug. 28, Edward Rainaldi, 1168 North Park Street, was fined a total of $90 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court Wednesday.

Rainaldi pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $50, entered the same plea to a charge of dangerous driving and received a $40 penalty. Magistrate Hall suspended his license for one month.

CASUALTIES OF U.S. 9,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defence Department states 8,863 U.S. casualties in the Korean war had been reported to the next-of-kin through Sept. 1.

This was an increase of nearly 2,000 since Aug. 25.

Listed were 599 killed, 5,366 wounded, of whom 83 have since died, and 2,898 missing.

Approves Permit For $25,000 Uplands Home

Oak Bay Council Wednesday night approved issuance of a building permit to Logan Mayhew, owner of National Motors Limited, for the erection of a $25,000 home at 3515 Beach Drive.

The home is to be a rambling one-story structure. George H. Wheaton is to be the contractor.

Foreign Office For West Germany

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Robert Schuman believes West Germany soon may be allowed its own foreign affairs ministry.

Schuman told a press conference there are no juridical obstacles to giving West Germany such greater control over foreign relations.

"It is well understood, however, that as long as the (Allied) High Commission exists, it will have the right to intervene," he added.

BRITISH UNIONS VOTE DOWN 'BAN-THE-ATOM-BOMB' MOVE

BRIGHTON (Reuter)—The British Trades Union Congress Wednesday overwhelmingly quashed a "ban-the-atom-bomb" demand after its annual conference here had been plunged into pandemonium for 10 minutes.

Delegates representing 5,600,000 unionists voted against a resolution calling on Britain to reopen the question of international control of atomic production, the banning of atomic weapons and the destruction of all atom bomb stocks.

Representatives of 1,972,000 members voted in favor.

By an even larger majority, the conference pledged its support for United Nations action in Korea and for the decisions made by the government to meet the new situation.

By the same margin it condemned as a sham the Communist-sponsored "Stockholm peace campaign."

Another Water By-Law Loan At Next Oak Bay Elections

Ratepayers of Oak Bay will have another water loan by-law to vote on when they go to the polls in December.

This year, they will be asked to approve the borrowing of $115,000 to cover cost of installing a new, large, water main to connect with Victoria's main and enough connecting pipes to do away with the need for summer-time watering restrictions.

Oak Bay Council authorized the preparation of such a by-law at its meeting Wednesday night.

According to Arthur Musgrave, municipal engineer, the $115,000 will provide for the laying of 4,200 feet of 20-inch steel pipe and 4,900 feet of 12-inch cast-iron pipe.

If the ratepayers give their approval to the scheme the work can be undertaken and the municipality assured of an adequate supply of water all year round for some years to come, Mr. Musgrave stated.

He indicated one further water loan by-law might be necessary in about four or five years' time to bring the municipal system up to recommendations of the Stewart Report of 1945.

Oak Bay electors have authorized two loans for water purposes since the report. In 1946, they sanctioned an $80,000 by-law and in 1948, a $90,000 by-law.

Considerable improvement was made to the Oak Bay water system as a result of passage of the two votes, Mr. Musgrave said.

Arterial Highway Proposal Approved

Saanich Council Tuesday night approved a provincial Department of Public Works recommendation that Verdier Avenue, from West Saanich Road to Todd Avenue, be classified as an arterial highway. Councillor Sydney Pickles, chief figure in the secession move for the area, said "I'll endorse that with pleasure."

ANSWERS TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

M.P.'s Examine Canada's Defence Preparedness

OTTAWA (CP)—The frightening picture of a Canada brought under devastating atomic attack, her people maimed and driven into inadequate shelter, was placed before the Commons Wednesday night by an eminent medical doctor.

It came from Dr. W. G. Blair (P.C.-Lanark, Ont.) as he urged the government to move swiftly in the formation of a civil defence program to meet the possibilities of a third world war—high explosive and atomic bombing and germ and gas warfare.

That program, he suggested, should include the setting up of life-saving blood banks and depots of medical and surgical supplies, the training of first-aid crews to succor the wounded and plans to evacuate cities shattered by enemy bombing.

Dr. Blair injected the down-to-earth phase of a possible war-stricken Canada into a defence debate which had grown heavy with continued opposition charges that the government had failed to bring this country to an adequate state of preparedness and was failing to give information.

He was joined in the call for civil defence preparedness by Owen Jones (C.C.F.-Yale, B.C.) and Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (P.C.-Calgary East), both of who agreed with him that it was time the government got moving in that field.

CO-OPERATION PLANS

In reply, Defence Minister Claxton said the federal government already has discussed the matter with the provinces most concerned with the problem. However, if war came, the federal government would take responsibility for planning and organization "at a higher level." Meantime, there were plans for co-operation in civil defence with the United States.

As the debate proceeded in the Commons, word of civil defence steps came from Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator.

He said in an interview that he hopes next week to end some of the confusion existing now in civil defence planning by the distribution to the provinces of an organizational manual detailing how the country should organize itself to meet the threat of attack.

The defence debate proper rambled over a broad field and External Affairs Minister Pearson, stepping into it briefly, said the nature and scope of Canada's military obligations both under the United Nations' Charter and the Atlantic Pact will be known shortly. At the moment, they are political.

He said this country hopes to see her own example of forming a special army brigade for U.N. service followed by other U.N. members to give that body its first military strength in the world-wide fight against aggression.

Both he and Trade Minister Howe, who also joined the debate briefly, made it clear that Canada's activities in wartime would include the dispatch overseas of both men and materials.

OUTLOOK SCANNED

Mr. Claxton said a major amphibious attack on this country is considered highly unlikely at this stage. The time is not yet believed here to bring the army's regular airborne brigade together for the one or two months' training needed to fit it to fight as a formation.

Meantime, he said the raising of the special force will give the army roughly the equivalent of three-quarters of a division of 20,000 men in actual but separate fighting units.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., P.C., Nanaimo, charged Canada has not a single land fighting force ready for action at a moment's notice, while George Hees, P.C., Toronto-Broadview, attacked the government for planning to have another period of six to eight months to build up once war strikes.

European Outlays Bring New Inflation Dangers

PARIS (AP)—Directors of the International Monetary Fund warned western Europe today that it faces dangerous inflation unless reconstruction spending is reduced.

The international money experts also said that continued wage increases will push export prices up to a point where vital North American markets will be lost.

The statements were contained in a 160-page report made public at the current meeting of the board of governors. The governors, representing 49 member countries, rule both the fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Those parties maintain wages must be raised to meet increased living costs, and tremendous reconstruction jobs still must be done. By contrast, the fund directors said the danger of inflation would persist "as long as government expenditure and private investment continue on the present scale."

Last year's devaluation of European currencies, the fund experts said, had been an important aid toward helping Europe pay its imports from North America. Devaluation cut the price of European goods and made them more attractive to the American market.

But wage increases would make export prices creep up, the report declared, "and if this attitude is carried to the extreme where every rise in prices must be compensated by a correponding rise in incomes, the effect of devaluation in reducing dollar export prices must be completely lost."

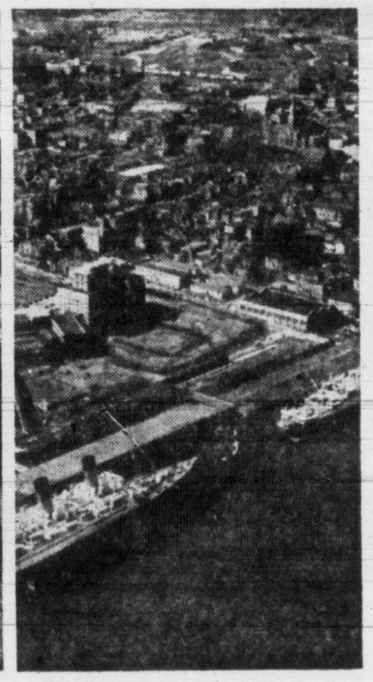
IN THE ROCKIES . . .

In British Columbia, an independent research organization asked city motorists "If you replaced tires, what brand did you buy last?" They found that more people stated Goodyear tires than the next 6 leading brands combined!

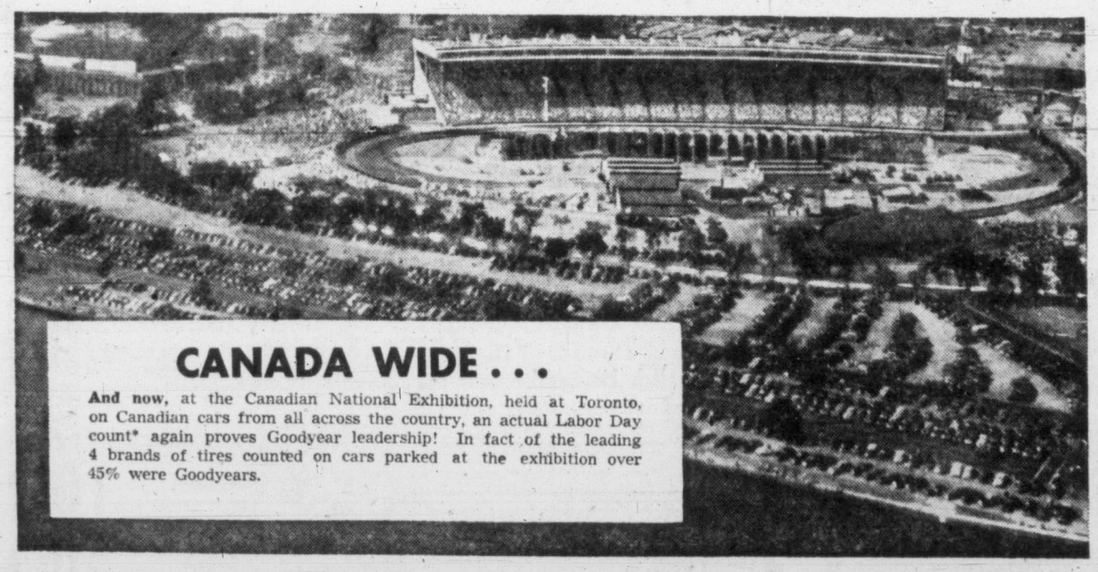
ACROSS THE PRAIRIES . . .

In leading towns and cities all over the prairie provinces, where a tire is judged on mileage, most motorists said "The tires I bought last are Goodyears." In fact Goodyears were preferred by more prairie drivers than the next 5 leading brands combined.



IN THE MARITIMES . . .

In the land of seaports and scenery . . . tops again! More urban folks preferred Goodyear than the next 6 leading brands together! Evidently, Canadian motorists agree with carmakers, who put more Goodyear tires on new cars than any other brand.



CANADA WIDE . . .

And now, at the Canadian National Exhibition, held at Toronto, on Canadian cars from all across the country, an actual Labor Day count* again proves Goodyear leadership! In fact of the leading 4 brands of tires counted on cars parked at the exhibition over 45% were Goodyears.

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

Super-Cushion . . . made only by GOODYEAR. Preferred by carmakers and the Canadian public over all other low-pressure tires.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1950

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

If you'd dropped in at the Fire Chiefs' Convention session Wednesday morning, you'd have realized there wasn't any place there for Ed. Wynn. Remember the old Texaco Fire Chief who sold noisy nonsense to NBC when Spike Jones was barely a whisper?

Yesterday morning the fire chiefs were getting a little scientific information on the routine to follow in case of atomic bombing. It wasn't an inspiration for a hilarious party. A small note of comfort was raised, though. Atom bombs are so expensive, they cost too much to use on anything but vital targets. There's some consolation in being a non-essential — provided you keep away from important places.

Stott

THE SCIENTIST speaking to the chiefs provided a neat plug for our profession. He said that in Hiroshima, people who were reading newspapers received some protection from the first burning heat of the bomb. The thin sheets held up before their faces furnished a shield against the flash. That's one of the services we offer subscribers: Play safe, read the Times.

Victorians have a choice of attractions this week if they want a peek at conventions. If they're interested in protection against fire, the chiefs' claim the spotlight. If it's economic protection they want, the Manufacturers' Life is having a regional meeting here.

The insurance men were listening yesterday to a talk on a "Buy Cycle Built for Two." It purported to assist the agents in finding the type of policy best suited for prospective clients. We have a "Buy Cycle Built for Two" in our house. Number one cashes the cheque on payday and number two takes the proceeds to the grocer. What a buy cycle! It's faster than a Langford hot-rod.

HAPPY AS THE hotel is to have them, two conventions at a time give the Empress about all it can handle. There are small problems of accommodation and provision of facilities for dining.

Neither of the gatherings now in progress suffered a great deal in attendance from the recent strikes. But some of the fire-fighting equipment that should be on display in the Crystal Garden lower ballroom is still resting in freight cars east of the Rockies.

As far as the Empress is concerned, the convention season has to fall into split shifts. July and August, heavy tourist months, are out for group gatherings. When the last of present bookings for different organizations is reached in November, the hotel will have been headquarters for 31 conventions this year. The first was held in March. They vary in size from a modest membership of 30 to the 350 delegates due for the Canadian Education Association meetings here from Oct. 1 to 5.

IN THE OFF seasons, conventions are pretty important business. Even if they cause some extra work, they're not nearly the headaches that big public dances are. The "visiting firemen"— and you can make that literal or metaphorical — aren't hard to get along with. Invasions like that long-remembered potlach of logging equipment men don't happen every year. Even that, in retrospect, is recalled by hotelmen as just a little boisterous.

THOUGH IT'S still summer, the Empress has already started an energetic winter publicity campaign. It won't have to worry about the Christmas festival. The main dining-room was booked up by the end of last January for the ceremonial dinner, and places are in short supply in the Crystal Room for that event.

Still, the late fall, winter and early spring seasons need a little advertising. Prospective guests are still being invited to bring their golf clubs. There isn't any mention of skis. Last winter, the hotelmen hope, was just a freak.

A COUPLE OF sentences in the digest of a recent Court of Appeal case, published in "The Advocate," remind you of the unfortunate golfer. The comment notes that throughout the judgment of one member of the court reasons are given for allowing the appeal, but the document concludes, "I would dismiss the appeal."

There you have it: the precise stance, the careful swing, and—oops, missed the ball.

Drivers Creep And Pedestrians Curse

This three-ring circus scene in the 700 block of Fort Street takes place in many parts of town every day. It has its clowns, too, as drivers jockey for few and far between parking spots while pedestrians dance a jig to duck the dodging motorists.

MARY METER WANTS YOU ONLY FOR AN HOUR

Beat It Bub—Let The Little Lady Take Someone Else's Nickel Next

By LLOYD G. BAKER

Those curb-stone cuties vamping the motorist out of his nickels and pennies are serving a useful purpose in the car parking problem.

The parking meters have eliminated the creepers who'd inch their cars backwards or forward every hour or two and thereby beat the law.

But they haven't accomplished all they were intended to do when the city first put them to work in August, 1947.

NOT ENOUGH POLICEMEN

Many businessmen are making on-the-hour, every-hour dashes to their cars to slip the meter another coin, and John Law isn't large enough in numbers to come to Mary Meter's rescue and shoo off the staller.

Result is curb space famine for the casual parker—the person wanting to do 10 or 15 minutes' shopping.

Saturdays, the shortage of parking space reaches a hair-tearing peak, mainly because of increased numbers of shoppers as well as the sit-tight types who work a half-day. More of them seem to drive into town and gamble on being nicked for parking over an hour in one spot during the morning hours. During the week many of them leave their cars away from the restricted areas and walk the rest of the way.

More meters are to be installed in the near future in an effort to keep parkers moving. Don't be surprised if you see meter zones extended eastward on Fort Street to Cook, eastward on Pandora and Yates, too. Douglas Street, north of the busier sections, may get meters as well.

METERS PAID FOR

There are 977 meters in operation now, and they have more than paid for themselves. Last bill on their purchase was cleaned up in July.

Meters last year collected $47,241. City received $23,620 of this amount, the remainder going to the manufacturer. Cost to the city in maintenance was $11,710.

Up to June 30 this year the meters swallowed $21,160. City kept $10,580. After end of July the city keeps all money collected, which averages $4,000 a month before expenses paid.

The money goes into general funds and is not earmarked for any particular work. Police are hoping to get a slice each year for traffic control work.

The boys in blue have a strong argument to offer—an argument which points to more parking pains.

The car population in the Greater Victoria area increased from 14,545 in 1945 to approximately 25,000 this year to the end of July. And commercial vehicles, trucks and buses, added to their numbers, too—3,879 in 1945 to about 8,000 this year.

B.C. Motor Vehicle Branch records indicate continuing increases in the years to come.

Number of cars rose from 14,545 in 1945 to 15,753 in 1946, 18,062 the following year, 19,249 in 1948, last year and 25,000 so far this year. A similar increase in commercial four-wheelers can be shown.

MORE RESTRICTED AREAS

The area of downtown Victoria not covered by parking meters but with restricted parking is bound to grow.

In fact officials already are talking about pushing the restricted zone boundaries out to Hillside Avenue in the north, Quadra and Cook Streets in the east, and Superior Street in the south. The Inner Harbor eliminates westward expansion.

Police Chief John Blackstock is opposed to inflicting further restrictions on motorists but he's not going to have much choice in the matter of extending restricted parking areas, and reducing time limits in existing zones if the car population continues to grow at its present rate.

Shaw To Remain As Head Of Town Planning Group

In a brief letter received at City Hall he said he would accede to the city's request that he reconsider his resignation. Mayor Percy George expressed pleasure at the move.

Mr. Shaw who is chairman of the Town Planning Commission tendered his resignation following what he termed "slanderous" remarks by the two aldermen concerning the drawing up of a lease between the city and the Navy League of Canada over Prince Robert House, 10 years ago.

"I am very happy to learn that Mr. Shaw has seen fit to reconsider his decision," His Worship said.

"I am happy to know he will carry on the very important position which he has filled with courage and dignity."

Must Await Ottawa On Civil Defence

Cities of Canada must wait for a directive from Ottawa on any civil defence set-up, Mayor Percy George said today.

"No community in Canada can set out to do anything without such directive for it cannot be a parochial undertaking."

The mayor was commenting on a resolution received at City Hall today from the Windsor Board of Control asking that the Department of National Defence be urged to establish immediately a national scheme for adoption by cities throughout Canada.

"The mayors of all the cities went on record with a similar resolution at their convention recently and forwarded it to the federal and provincial governments," Mayor George said.

City Artist's Work Attraction At Centre

By AUDREY St.D. JOHNSON

An exhibition of oils, water colors and etchings by Arthur Checkley, well-known Victoria artist, is the major attraction at the Broughton Streets Arts Centre this week.

An artist of deep natural ability, Mr. Checkley has experimented with several techniques in handling his subjects which are exclusively land and seascapes, with particular emphasis on mountain and tree-forms and the sky patterns of cloud and light.

If this were not a one-man show, the viewer would be unlikely to suspect that "Throne Mountain," a water color, "Serenity" and "End of Lake" were the work of the same artist. "Serenity," probably one of the best canvases in the exhibition, simplifies the forms of mountains and trees with a resultant heightening of the effect of calm and majesty. "End of Lake" is one of several paintings in which Mr. Checkley makes use of the vibrant French impressionist technique.

UNUSUAL EXHIBIT

Also showing at the gallery this week is an unusual exhibition by Esme Davis, A.R.C.A. Mrs. Davis, an expert in the art of formal lettering and illumination, has arranged her exhibition to illustrate the history and development of writing and penmanship.

Samples of vellums and tools are shown and several examples of Mrs. Davis' own delightful illuminating and lettering. Also heraldry and reproductions of old and famous pieces. Mrs. Davis studied her art under the late Sir Edward Johnston, C.B.E., who was knighted for his services to the development of caligraphy. Mr. Davis will conduct a class in illumination and formal lettering in connection with the night school courses of the Greater Victoria School Board this fall.

Mainland Drop In Traffic Not Reflected Here

A heavy drop in passenger traffic which resulted in reduced service in the mainland city is not reflected in Victoria, where only a slight drop is reported.

Queried on a Vancouver report today E. W. Arnott, vice-president, Vancouver Island Branch B.C. Electric, said there was no such drop reflected here and no "reduction in service planned at the moment."

"There has been a slight drop in passenger traffic from week to week but no steady drop," said Mr. Arnott.

"The railway strike as well as other strikes had their effect in the past two weeks."

No major change in schedules is made by the company in Victoria without a request to the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, Mr. Arnott said.

The Vancouver report stated the company had cut its services there without first seeking city council approval.

R.C.M.P. Say Highway Not Crash Cause

R.C.M.P. officers, investigating last Saturday's fatal two-car collision on the Colwood stretch of the Island Highway, today said conditions were not such as to place the blame on the highway.

Two persons were killed. Seven others are still in hospital, one in critical condition.

Traffic was only moderate at the time, the policemen said. Three cars in line about 100 yards apart were going north. Two were coming in the opposite direction.

The police have names of many witnesses.

Time of crash was about 5.40.

At press time today, condition of Dennis Irvine, 15, of Chemainus, was slightly improved. He was still in a critical condition.

He was in the north-bound car driven by his father, Stuart Irvine. Mrs. Irvine was killed and other members of the family still in hospital are Mr. Irvine, David, Donna and Margaret.

In the Victoria-bound car were Donald James Gordon, Parksville, who was killed, and Gordon Stanley Field and Roy Gallop, both of Victoria. Field is slightly improved and in fair condition. Gallop's condition is good. Police have not announced which of the men was driving the car.

Injured are at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Funeral services will be held in Vancouver Friday for Dr. J. Ellis Griffiths who died Wednesday at his Victoria home, 3175 Beach Drive. He was 74.

He served with the Canadian Medical Corps in the First World War and was a member of the Cambrain Society for many years.

Surviving Dr. Griffiths are two daughters, Mrs. H. A. Wallace, Victoria, and Mrs. R. T. Jackson, Vancouver, and a sister in Wales.

Removal Of Overhead Wires In Congested Areas Urged

Fire Chiefs Say Shifting To Back Lanes Not Proper Answer

Removal of overhead wiring from congested business, commercial and industrial districts was urged by the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs in convention at the Empress Hotel today.

A resolution passed by the fire chiefs said that substitution of overhead installation in back lanes for front street construction was not a solution, and that the problem could be solved only by gradually placing the wiring underground.

In an address leading up to the resolution, James Arnott, a director of the association, asserted that Canada's fire chiefs were "not asking for the moon" in seeking a long-term solution to the problem.

"We are not asking for some wholesale costly overnight transformation," he said. "We are asking only that a start be made so that 10, 20, 30 or 50 years hence our streets will be relatively free of this hazard and unsightliness."

DANGER TO FIREMEN

Overhead wiring was a handicap and a danger to firemen, he said, but in the past year there had been suggestions that the effect of eliminating it could be brought about by moving poles to back lanes. This, he said, would not lessen the danger of electrocution to firemen.

Reference was made to the Rimouski fire, which began when power lines fell into a lumberyard during a windstorm.

Following a discussion on the subject, delegates agreed that the solution lay not "in half-hearted substituted measures" but in "getting started on a workable plan for gradually placing wiring where it belongs —underground."

Pyromaniacs Blamed For Many Fires

Majority of fires of incendiary origins today were started by pyromaniacs, W. A. Walker, B.C. fire marshal, told delegates attending the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs at the Empress Hotel today.

While there were some people who started fires with definite motives in mind, the majority of arsonists were pyromaniacs who could give no reasons for wilfully damaging property, he said.

He added that some of the most serious fires in B.C. were caused by pyromaniacs.

Another speaker was J. H. DeGraves, ex-chief, B.C. Coast Woods Trade Extension Bureau, Vancouver. He spoke on B.C. plywood and its use in the construction industry today.

Ask Curb Removal

Twelve residents of Vining Street petitioned City Council Wednesday to remove "the barrier" at the intersection of Begbie and Vancouver Streets.

They stated in the petition that the newly-built curb jutted out into Vining and was an obstacle to motorists and an eyesore to pedestrians.

Don Sweater And Skirt For That Teen-Age Look

By PENNY SAVER

Jump into a pair of saddle shoes, a Peter Pan collar, sweater and skirt, and perch a "cord" hat on your noggin and presto, bingo, you're a teen-ager! Although David Brock, in a recent column, seemed a bit upset about teen-agers and the range of ages it includes, you'll find the youngster of 13 to the young miss of 19 in the classic sweater-skirt combinations.

For many years, the all-round or box pleat skirt lead the way as an all-time favorite, but for the past year or two the pencil-slim skirt has edged in to take its place as a close second. Looking over a stock of straight skirts this morning, I found them selling . . . all wool in colors of grey, cinnamon, navy and wine . . . for $6.95, featuring fly fronts and backs.

All wool too, were the box-pleated skirts . . . two pleats in front and one in the back . . . in powder and navy blue, black and brown for $6.75. Authentic clan tartan kilts for the lass with the delicate air, $8.95 and up.

It takes a teen-ager to think up a use for dad's seldom-used sleeveless sweater. Over a white long-sleeved blouse the sleeveless sweaters are trim and neat. In a mixture of Australian wool, cashmere and French angora the sweaters are prepared to take on hard school wear, if you'll pay the $4.95 to own one.

Blouses, with their beloved Peter Pan or pointed collars are yours for the asking at $3.95 and up. Saw a little short-sleeved Peter Pan blouse with pearl buttons to dress it up, for the sum of $4.95.

Under the heading of accessories go processed water repellent head scarfs to keep the bonny brown locks tucked in and dry on stormy days. The sum of 75 pennies is the price and colors include yellow, green, red, blue, acqua and white . . . jaunty cord hats (you can wear them with brims turned up, sailor boy style, or down, the cloche way) to smarten your every day togs in colors of red, wine, green, and brown, $2.98 . . . sweater collars, Peter Pan or pointed, are a must in a young woman's wardrobe. Easily washed and ironed the sharkskin Peter Pan collar is $1.49; pointed, $1.95; pique collars in pink, blue, yellow, $1.49, and in white, $1.29. Some clever person has even thought to put the two collars together. For $1.29 you have both a Peter Pan and pointed collars reversible at your will.

A purse just made to fit into an armload of books are the plastic zippered type. With bright tartan linings the purse complete with comb, mirror, bill fold and pocket . . . $1.69.

See you in the corridors, kids.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One of the privileges a parent possesses is to name her baby. It is a privilege which we feel is often mis-used. For very obvious reasons some names are more preferable than others.

If there is a family given name of long and honorable association, it is fine to pass this on to the first born son. This child then becomes a junior, if his father bears the name, or a second or third if his uncle or grandfather carries it. This is one of those nice evidences of family continuity which can grace anybody's family not just that of royalty.

If there is no such name to add to the family roll the parents should exert some caution about the name they choose. A boy's name can be ludicrous if it is clearly incompatible with a grown man however suitable to a dimpling, rosy baby.

There is a great temptation for the mother to endow her baby girl with some fictional name. Perhaps at an impressionable and romantic age the heroine who has borne it has appealed to the mother. She resuscitates this romantic association by saddling her child with some fanciful made-up name, good enough for a book heroine but out of place in real life.

Authors often cudgel their brains for names which will not duplicate real ones and the mother should not be tempted to imitate them. They seldom add lustre to the poor urchin who must wear them.

Names have rhythm and beauty in themselves according to the number of their syllables. Given names should be harmonious with the surname. Run a name over on the tongue. If both last and first name are too short it may sound abrupt unless leavened by a longer middle name.

Too extremely long names may make such a mouthful as to defy easy speaking. Two names beginning with the same letter are always a good choice and names with the same vowel and with rhythmical syllables (John Yonder, Bill Bison, as illustration) have a certain charm and harmony.

Our leaflet No. 3, "List of Names," offers good names for boys and girls. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

After 15 Years Couple So Miserable Wife Would Leave; Fears Independence, Asks Advice

Dear Mary Haworth: My problem is an unhappy marriage. We have stuck it out for 15 years, and we both are so miserable and nervous now that I feel it is time to give up. I have honestly tried to make a go of it but a labyrinth of faults has developed on both sides.

I never dreamed a time would come when I would write to a stranger about a problem; but I have no family, nor any friends so close that I could trust them. You often tell disturbed persons to get help from a psychiatrist, but it is hard to select a specialist, when you don't know any by repute.

Mary Haworth

I hesitate to leave Carl only because it would put me completely on my own, and I have responsibility for a lovely 13-year-old daughter. Jane knows nothing of the basic trouble, is very happy here, has many friends, a nice home and security.

Carl has said he will give me 50 dollars monthly for support, and if I contest that offer he will quit everything, including his job, and we will lose everything that we have worked for. That illustrates one of his traits that I've had to fight most—an unreasonable attitude of always "getting even" with people, and never any offer to help solve a problem mutually. I can't stand the present set-up any longer; but if we separate, am I wrongly sacrificing my daughter's happiness and maybe even preventing her proper growth? A.P.

DEPENDENT BIAS IS WIFE'S CROSS

Dear A. P.: It seems to me that your letter personifies an overwhelming degree of dependency, and perhaps this is the real source of your deadly exasperation with Carl, and his commensurate irritation with you.

A completely helpless air is implicit in one aspect of your letter, your bland assumption that somehow I shall be able to do your thinking for you in this crisis, and provide for you a constructive decision, even without any data to go on.

It's a very old proverb that "The Lord helps those who help themselves." Inasmuch as you are calling for earnest co-operation in easing personal difficulties, you ought to be willing to work hard at the task of establishing communications. But it seems you are conditioned to "let John do it," as the saying goes; to vaguely proclaim discomfort and need, and then wait limply for heaven—or a husband—or somebody—to take charge.

HEAL THYSELF THEN MOVE ON

I am speaking, of course, of your unconscious emotional constitution; because in surface affairs, say in cooking, cleaning, marketing, you may be aggressively active much of the time. You have an urgent inclination to leave Carl, who is willing to subsidize separation on a modest scale, you say. And yet you hold back because you don't want to be "completely on your own" with Jane; that is, without a partner to be held responsible both for your miseries and your total upkeep.

All things considered, I think you ought to recognize yourself as your major problem; or at least your most immediate problem—and not leave Carl until you've put yourself to rights. Just as you suspect, and try to dodge, you'll need psychiatric help in this endeavor. And it's up to you to discover a choice of reputable specialists in your territory. By checking the telephone book for your local medical society, or asking a leading clergyman for a reliable reference list of psychiatric clinics or doctors, you can get on the right track.

For your social salvation, you need to work towards emotional maturity and psychological insight. Then you'll be able to chart the course that is best for your child. If it means staying with Carl, you will then stay with basic peace of mind, enduring the surface fret philosophically. And if it means parting from him as a therapeutic move, to let wounds heal on both sides, you will go forth with good heart to explore a new field of self reliant experience.

M. H.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

Follow Rules In Choosing Fall Suit

When September rolls around, its suit time.

And there is more to buying a suit than just finding something you like, and something that you think is high fashion.

A suit is the basic part of your wardrobe, around which other additions, accessories of all types and even coats revolve.

There are many different things you must watch.

He points out that there are certain details that spell the difference between a really good suit and one that will be a disappointment. And adds that every woman can learn to watch for and check these fashion guideposts.

He lists first, the style itself of a suit. If it is extreme or too burdened with trimming, it will quickly become dated and will not afford the period of wear that it should. The woman who buys wisely will choose a suit on classic, uncluttered lines that will be smart and attractive as long as the fabric lasts.

The fabric itself is another point to watch. Today all suits are tagged as to fabric content and that very fact is often misleading, he warns. For the enduring style and wearability of a suit depends as much upon the finish of the fabric—how it was treated before the suit was cut—as upon the fabric content itself.

All suit fabrics should be preshrunk before being cut in order to assure the sizing and fit of the suit. Careless or uneven shrinking can result in a suit that looks beautiful until it goes to the cleaner. On return it bears little resemblance to its original size.

Correct size is another point to watch. Many times a suit will look as if it fits, but because it really fails to do so, will soon lose its shape and with it, its smartness.

A suit should fit closely at the neckline and its collar should lie flat against the neck in back. Shoulders should ride comfortably on the wearers' shoulders and should be just wide enough for the sleeves to start directly at the top of the arm.

If a suit requires costly alterations, it is a very definite sign that it is basically not for you, and should not be purchased.

Attention should be focused on the way in which buttonholes are made, the manner in which the lining was put in, and the size of seams in the skirt.

EWELL, Eng. (Reuter) — Modeling the Kings and Queens of England is the fascinating but intricate hobby of 19-year-old Vivienne Price.

Vivienne, with painstaking care, makes her dolls correct to the smallest details. She spends hours in the public libraries looking at old books from which to copy details of dresses and regalia worn by British monarchs and their queens in past times.

She began with Henrietta Anne, sister of Charles II, and continued at the rate of one a month with such historical figures as Queen Elizabeth, Margaret of Anjou, Queen Anne, Henrietta Maria, Elizabeth of York and Queen Charlotte.

"Henry VIII was more trying than his six wives put together," she said. "The trouble was his legs, which unenclosed by female skirts, required a special form of wiring."

KNITTING IN OFFICE HELPS MORALE

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (Reuter) — Office girls will do their jobs better if they are are permitted to knit and chat openly in the office, F. N. Haden, a British businessman, said recently.

Addressing the British (Scientific) Association, he said he was shocked at first when he entered a large office in Canada and found girls knitting and gossiping.

"I was told that they could not provide work for every girl at every minute of the day," he said. "If the girls were repressed, they only took their knitting off to the ladies' room."

Haden said he thought the method was the right one.

Combine chilled cantaloupe balls with canned fruit cocktail, cover with cold ginger ale and serve either as appetizer or dessert. Use a measuring spoon to cut the melon if you don't have a French ball cutter.

Well-Known American Pair Married In Christ Church

Graduates of universities in California and in Washington were married in a ceremony of far-reaching interest Saturday afternoon in Christ Church Cathedral.

Sorority sisters and fraternity brothers attended the bride, Patricia Eileen Rineheart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Verne Rineheart, Pasadena, and Richard Matthews Oswald, son of Mrs. Hugo Edmund Oswald and the late Judge Hugo E. Oswald, Seattle.

A graduate of U.C.L.A., and affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Kappa Theta (social service honorary) trolls, (activity honorary), the bride was attended by a sextette of attendants.

Sorority sisters and roommates of the bride, Patricia Sharman, Los Angeles and Rula Ellenor Wright, Seattle, were senior attendants with Mrs. Hugo E. Oswald Jr., and Miss Helen Oswald, sister-in-law and sister of the groom, both of Seattle.

Little Carolyn Barbara Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Webster, Pasadena, was a dainty miniature of the senior attendants in her role as flower girl.

Their identical full-skirted gowns of ice blue taffeta, touched with American Beauty tones, and arm bouquets of gladioli in American Beauty, were an attractive foil for the lovely bride in white.

French illusion veiling rippled to finger-length over her satin gown mounted with filmy French illusion over the very full skirt.

Musical Arts Society Gives Recital For Miss Irene Byatt

Announcement was made at an executive meeting of the Victoria Musical Arts Society, held at the home of the president, Dr. Roger Manning, that arrangements had been made for a recital by Miss Irene Byatt, contralto, in Victoria High School auditorium on Sept. 27.

Miss Byatt, who has an unusually lovely voice has been encouraged by teachers in Toronto to go to London, Eng., for further training. To assist in her plans the society is sponsoring a fund which proceeds of the recital will augment.

A bursary of $25 was granted to John Beckwith, former member and past president of the intermediate group of the society who recently won a scholarship which will take him to Paris to continue musical studies.

Mrs. Harry Bigsby and Mrs. Brand were welcomed as new members and Miss Anne Adamson and Mrs. William Ellis were greeted as former members again holding office.

It was announced that tickets for the Irene Byatt concert and for season memberships are ready and may be obtained from any member of the executive, and in a short time at Fletcher Bros. store.

Monthly recitals will again be held in Windermere Hotel.

ORANGES, LEMONS GROW IN MANITOBA

Mrs. Morris Lavery is a gardener—but not the usual kind. She grows citrus fruits.

Mrs. Lavery's tropical garden consists of a four-foot orange tree which has so far produced two ripe, rich oranges, and a lemon tree which last year bore a gigantic lemon 11 inches in circumference.

She also had a grapefruit tree which grew so vigorously that she planted it outside. Fall frost destroyed it.

FLORENCE WANTS TO MEET YOU

Florence talks . . . she's full of gas & gab . . . so stuck on herself that she won't shut up for 15 minutes at a time . . . you can't get a word in edgeways . . . over & over again I've heard her say "I'm beautiful . . . I'm streamlined . . . I've a skin U love to touch . . . men love me at first sight . . . I'm not only pretty . . . but practical, too . . . I like to party . . . but I like it in a kitchen better . . . brother . . . AM I EQUIPPED??? I've really got what it takes . . . Hi-lo controls & non-slip open disc tops. And my beauty isn't just skin-deep either . . . I've got a great big tummy lined with porcelain . . . and if I get burnt up inside you can take my glasses off, and wipe away the mist." Yes . . . over & over I've heard "Flo" rave about herself, until I feel like a disc jockey must feel about "Good Nite Irene." I want to gently take Irene . . . I mean Flossie, in my arms, fondle her gently for a moment or so, & then smash her to a million little pieces all over the floor. I would, too, only there isn't time now to "cut another platter," and besides I want you to hear this stuck up dame down at the Bay St. Armories this afternoon or evening, and see some of her other points, like her aeration trays to catch "boil-overs," her nickel-plated oven racks . . . her oven light & her roomy drawers. The thousands of people who met "Flo" yesterday all agreed they wouldn't for a "minute-minder" being around the house all the time. Incidentally Floss has 3 sisters, & they're in the act, too, 'cept that they don't brag at all. Her newest sister nearly didn't get here in time, and if it weren't for the co-operation of the purser on the Vancouver Barge, this latest addition to the family might still be nailed up in her crate down on that jammed packed wharf. Those B.C. Electric fellows, like "Al" & Bob & Herb & Bill & Archie got busy, too . . . and so did Bill Heaney & his careful drivers, and at the last second this gorgeous 5-burner job got her tape pulled off, dusted, & was lovingly set down beside her loud-mouthed sister in the green & yellow room we had reserved at the Bay St. Armories.

P.S.—The door prizes—the best ever . . . This may be your lucky day. C'mon down and say hello to Florence. Say hello, that is, if you can shut her up long enuff.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Benny To Try Television May Abandon Radio Field

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Benny announced today he is going to take the big jump into television.

The fiddle-murdering comedian will make his regular television debut Oct. 29. The show will be for his radio sponsor and he will do three others this season, at intervals of eight weeks. I asked him how he had picked his timing.

"I have to go to New York for the television shows," he explained. "That means I will have to tape-record my airshow a week in advance so I can get away. If I tried to do this every four weeks it would be too much. So my sponsor and I agreed on every eight weeks."

DEBUT LAST YEAR

Last year Benny made his TV debut on a program to dedicate a local station. He views his new program with this philosophy:

"I don't say that I'm going to be any better than anyone else on television, but, on the other hand, I see no reason why I should be any worse, either."

What about the format?

"I'll do an hour-long show. It will be variety entertainment with perhaps a scene from my radio program. . . .

"People tell me that television is a completely new medium. I don't think so. I'm going to give them the same kind of entertainment I do on stage appearances. It's the same type of show I used to do at the Orpheum in vaudeville days."

TV FUTURE

Benny foresees the day when he will give up radio entirely.

"It would be hard to do both radio and TV and make both of them good," he said. "And perhaps radio will not be able to afford a show like mine. After all, the others on my show are stars in their own right and have their own shows."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Generous George doesn't always make a speech when he is playing a hand. He can be just as quiet as the next player, even when he is up to his usual tricks.

In the hand shown today, for example, George kept very quiet. West led the queen of diamonds and George played low from the dummy. It occurred to him that West might be underleading the ace, but he dismissed the possibility as practically absurd.

Opening lead—♦ Q

George relaxed a trifle when East played the nine of diamonds on the first trick. One reason he hadn't made any speeches about letting the opponents win the first trick was that he was afraid of giving the defenders ideas.

West continued diamonds and George ruffed. George drew trumps, cashed dummy's top clubs and then ruffed dummy's last diamond.

When George next led a jack of clubs from his hand, West covered with the queen of clubs—a doubtful play. With the danger now past, George could afford to be his usual talkative self.

"You may have this trick, sir," he said to West with a slight bow, "as a small token of my very great esteem." So saying, he discarded a low heart from the dummy.

West glared at George but could do nothing to defeat him. If he led spades, George would win a trick with the king. If West led anything else, George would ruff while dummy discarded another spade.

The reason George made no speeches at the first trick was that East could have defeated the contract by overtaking his partner's queen of diamonds and shifting to spades at once. East had no way of knowing that this remarkable play was needed to defeat the contract, but he might have seen the light if George had done any talking.

It was very unwise of West to play the queen of clubs on the third round of that suit. If West had played the 10 of clubs, George would probably assume that East had the queen of clubs. George would then ruff the jack of clubs in dummy and return a spade, intending to play low spades from both hands in the hope that West would win the spade trick.

Actually, of course, no such plan would have succeeded. If George had ruffed the third round of clubs in dummy, the opponents would have won three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Canada's Fruit Crops Below Totals Of 1949

OTTAWA (CP)—Though prospects have improved slightly during the last month, Canada's fruit crops this year will be down from a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday in its third estimate of fruit production in Canada.

All tree-fruit and grape crops showed improvement, with the exception of apples and pears. The apple and pear crops are estimated to be 3 per cent lighter than that anticipated in July.

The apple crop, currently set at 15,209,000 bushels, will be 16 per cent below the 1949 harvest of 18,151,000. The drop is expected to result from poorer prospects in Nova Scotia, where high winds and severe scab infestation have reduced both the size and quality of the fruit.

The crops in Ontario and British Columbia showed some improvement during the month. Prospects in New Brunswick and Quebec remained unchanged.

Oak Bay Council Wednesday night authorized purchase of a new compressor for rock blasting and decided to offer their old one for sale.

TRICK OF RED KOREANS ENDS WITH 50 SLAIN BY U.S. FORCE

ON THE MASAN FRONT (AP)—Fifty North Koreans in a pocket behind the U.S. lines put up their hands as a sign of surrender Wednesday.

American infantrymen had an interpreter shout for them to come in.

The others ran forward.

When the smoke cleared the attempt had failed.

All 50 North Koreans were killed. There were no American casualties.

Food, Food Everywhere But Not A Bite To Eat At Cobble Hill Fair

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

That seems heresy but it's true . . . there is food all round you. Tables are laden with the apples, the firmest tomatoes, the most mouth-watering pies and cakes you ever laid eyes on but—only the judges get a bite of it.

The 41st annual fall fair at Cobble Hill Wednesday afternoon, staged by the Shawnigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society, was no exception.

Men, women and children brought the best their fields, orchards and country kitchens could produce, from the giant marrows and cabbage to the home-made bread, jams and jellies. But if you arrived hungry, you left the same way.

Dr. Wallace Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner, officially declared the fair open and told the folk nature had been good to Cobble Hill.

"I am favorably disposed to small country fairs for you get a true picture of the local community," he said. "You are given the privilege of taking a peep into the homelife of the community."

NO ZOOT SUITERS

He told the gathering, 'Busy hands make for clean minds" and added: "You don't see zoot suiters in this area."

He praised the dairying industry of the district, referred to the fine horses and said the quality and quantity of exhibits were excellent this year. There were some 700 entries in all classes, according to Miss M. Melrose, secretary.

In the big community hall, women flocked to touch gingerly a cut loaf of bread, eye the lush lemon pie of their next-farm neighbor, and compare notes on the preserved fruit, fish and vegetables.

When they do up scarlet runner beans for exhibit, they are arranged in the jars in a neat row. Cucumbers and pickle are alternately placed in the pickle jars. Little is left to chance when these show pieces are prepared. Mrs. Frank Reed of Saltair had a tough assignment selecting firsts and seconds from the domestic science entries.

GROOMED FOR SHOW

"She's just in the middle of growing—they caught her with long legs," grinned 15-year-old Carolyn Pearson ruefully as she petted the Jersey calf which did not quite come off with a prize.

Over in another corner of the field Dorylee Standring, 12, was whipping her two sows into shape.

"Oh, the're not much trouble, except you have to feed and clean and brush them," the only girl member of the Cobble Hill Junior Swine Club remarked. "No, I don't mind the smell."

YOUTHFUL EXPERT

"Don't bother me, either," chimed in bright-eyed Bobby Calderwood, 11, who showed his first pigs in a fair when he was eight years old.

Speaking as a veteran, he told of the two pigs he had in the show and the fun it was to go around from fair to fair. Duncan is next on his list.

Banking on her two grade Jerseys, Maidie and Judy, to bring home a prize was 17-year-old Thelma Wade, who with her mother, Mrs. D. Wade, operates a farm on the Mill Bay-Shawnigan Road. She had already taken a first with her general-purpose horse "Bershie."

Harold Brooks judged the registered jerseys while J. B. Edwards handled the swine, sheep and cattle. Bert Young looked after the field crops and Miss B. Palmer assisted in the domestic science judging. E. W. White, superviser horticulturist with the Department of Agriculture, judged the vegetables.

Mrs. H. Sibbald took a first prize with her dark fruit cake while Mrs. H. R. Cavin of Cobble Hill, won hers for a delicious-looking apple pie. Scott potatoes won a first for E. W. Blake of Cowichan Station. Miss B. Cavin of Duncan took a first for many entries, including a selection of more than a dozen vegetables.

W. J. Jennings was first for a fall apple and R. Moulton, first for his winter apples.

Committee members in charge of fair were: R. R. Boulton, president; S. Wallace, vice-president; Miss M. Melrose, secretary-treasurer, and T. Standring, J. Askham, A. F. Motherwell, R. Bewell and C. B. Meredith, directors.

In the American Civil War the union suffered 110,070 dead compared with the Confederacy's losses of 74,524.

There have been 26 bank failures in Canada since Confederation, the last in 1923.

Sale Delayed For Secession Settlement

Saanich Council Tuesday night agreed to hold up sale of surplus municipal yard equipment until settlement was reached on the setting up of the new Ward Six municipality's officials may wish Pickles asked for this as the new municipality officials may wish to purchase the articles.

Simplicity Itself

Jumping on the "circle" bandwagon is R. Curtis of 231 Niagara who wrote the mayor today that when asked by tourists or friends the direction, he always refers to it as "the circle."

"Cream" Your Coffee at ½ Price!

Yes — Carnation Evaporated Milk costs only half as much as light cream — yet millions prefer it in their coffee! Carnation undiluted has the consistency of good thick cream — is rich enough to whip. No wonder it gives coffee such wonderful color and flavor.

This Double-Rich Milk is Double-Useful

CARNATION is good, whole milk evaporated to double-richness — nothing but water taken out, nothing added but vitamin D. Smooth and rich-flavored because it is homogenized and heat-refined. Safe because it is sterilized.

FOR CREAM USES undiluted Carnation meets all your requirements — creamy-smoothness, creamy color, rich flavor.

FOR ALL MILK PURPOSES dilute Carnation with an equal amount of water for a smoother, richer-flavored whole milk for cooking and drinking. Your grocer has Carnation.

FREE RECIPES: "Velvet Blend Book" of inspiring recipes is free. Write to Carnation Co. Limited, Toronto or Vancouver.

Petition from G. H. Davis, 1935 Bowker Place, and 16 other persons, complaining about a recent route change for Willows buses, was turned over to the transportation committee for investigation by Oak Bay Council Wednesday night.

The petition charged, "as things are today we have never had such an unsatisfactory and utterly unreliable service."

MARKET REVIEW

Stocks Start Comeback At Toronto

TORONTO — Mild buying support pushed market leaders slightly higher in active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Signs of recovery from Wednesday's setback appeared in mid-session as a few key stocks rolled up fractional gains to reduce heavy losses.

Industrials appeared to be making the best comeback of any group.

MONTREAL—Most securities lined up behind minus signs on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market, following Wednesday's heavy drop.

An early wave of selling drove prices fractions to a point lower. However, trading slowed down near the final hour as selling pressure eased and many issues shortened their losses or turned them into small gains.

Interest in the carriers perked up and for a while it seemed likely a decisive advance was shaping up. There was little follow-through to the buying, however, and most gains were below $1 a share.

Oak Bay Council took time out from serious municipal business Wednesday night to talk of golf.

Council members were well pleased that Oak Bay player Jim Squires took the B.C. amateur golf championship early in the week and voted to send him a message of congratulations.

Three-Alarmer In Montreal

Firemen poured water on smouldering structure for 24 hours. Streetcar was caught in the maze of hoses.—(CP Photo)

ALBERTA OIL REPORT

Big Valley May Be Top Producing Area

By C. V. MYERS

CALGARY—The Big Valley district, 18 miles south of the Stettler oil field obtained prospects of becoming another top producing area in Alberta this week as Canadian Gulf Oil Company got a Devonian oil flow at its Big Valley No. 7 wildcat.

The new discovery, located four miles southwest of Big Valley town, flowed oil from what is believed to be the D2 zone during a test from 5,237 to 5,252 feet. A natural gas flow made the surface four minutes after the tester was opened, followed 11 minutes later by the oil, which was allowed to run for 35 minutes before being cut off as storage facilities were filed.

Coring has been colntinued below 5,252 feet, and it is likely that further testing will be carried out to determine the D2 water line. On the way down, the Big Valley well hit natural gas flows of around a million cubic feet per day in Viking and Lower Cretaceous.

To the north in the Stettler field, Gulf now has a dozen mixed D2 and D3 zone producers, with another currently drilling.

Canadian Superior Oil of California has made its second Alberta gas strike within a few weeks. The new discovery at Youngstown, 120 miles east and slightly north of Calgary, is Canadian Superior Crown No. 1-5.

After drilling to the Devonian and failing to find production, the well was plugged back to the Viking and Lower Cretaceous, where gas had been hit on the way down. During a half-hour test of the interval 2,883 to 2,892 feet, a natural gas flow of maximum 3,108,000 cubic feet daily hit the surface in a minute. Casing has now been run to 3,510 feet and further testing is under way.

Canadian Superior's other recent natural gas discovery was Liebing No. 1, located 15 miles east of the Stettler field.

The latest test conducted at the well, at 5,090 feet, was misrun, but it is believed that the water line has not yet been reached.

HERE'S HOW TO KEEP 'EM HOME IN THE EVENING

Under the Community Chest's scheme to blanket the city with canvassers on the evening of Oct. 2, it is expected almost all citizens will be in their homes at the 7 p.m. "zero hour."

When the plan to make it a one-night drive this year was announced to a large group of businessmen Wednesday, one quipped:

"Here my wife has been trying to find a way to keep me at home at night for years and the Community Chest comes up with an idea which is far better than anything she ever thought of!"

EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR HALF A CENTURY

BUT ACT NOW . . .
Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.
Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.
All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.
It is not wise to be A MAN WITHOUT A WILL

IN MEMORIAMS

RAYMOND—In loving memory of our dear Phil, who passed away Sept. 7, 1946.

As we sit by your grave in the evening
When all is quiet and still,
The smooth soft roll, as the tide goes out,
And the sunset's o'er the hills.
The path we travel, many times,
That leads to our boy so dear
We seem to see, through a mist of tears
The boy we loved, and miss through the years.
Could we but hear, his loving voice
And see his smiling face.
The aching of our hearts would cease,
And sunshine take its place.
—Fondly remembered, Dad and Mum.

RAYMOND—In loving memory of Phil Raymond, who passed away Sept. 7, 1946.

Loved in life,
Remembered in death.
Treasured in memory,

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE
FREEMAN OF LONDON
In last week's papers, you, the general public, were informed that, due to increased selling and advertising costs, the rates of Auctioneers' commissions must be increased to 15% . . . this actually means that, with the added 2½% to the regular 12½%, you are told that the cost of selling your goods by auction, will actually cost you 20% MORE.

I, the above-named Qualified Auctioneer and Appraiser, with over 40 years of selling experience in Great Britain and the American Continent and deny being a party to this unwarranted and unnecessary increase in a service which even at the ordinary rates, is, in my opinion, a profitable profession, tho' the cost of advertising has risen slightly.

THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN THAT
To you good people who contemplate disposing of your better things such as Jewelry, Autos, Real Estate, Power Boats, Household Effects, Pianos, Carpets, Machine Tools, etc., etc., it will definitely pay you to "LET FREEMAN HANDLE IT."

My selling methods are Clean, Intelligent, Straightforward and Honest, born of many years of practical experience in general merchandising, and it is the considered opinion of thousands of highly-satisfied clients, that "Freeman can do it for YOU, too."

Please watch for the announcement in the near future, of the
VERY IMPORTANT ANTIQUE SALE
of Merchandise, NOW being unloaded from the R.M. Loch Garth.

There will be a certain amount of space for YOUR ANTIQUES to be included in this most Interesting Sale of FINE CHINA, SILVERWARE, Etc.
Much of it from the great Castles and Homes of England.
